About the College of Education

Welcome

The College of Education at UM-St. Louis is known for its innovative community partnerships and extensive undergraduate and graduate programs. We are proud that more education students choose the UM-St. Louis College of Education than any other educator preparation program in Missouri.

The College is one of only 600 education programs nationwide with accreditation by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), and is also fully accredited by the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. Our masters degree programs in School Counseling, Community Counseling, and Community Counseling with Career Counseling, are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP).

With an average class size of 15, our students learn from one of the finest faculties in the country. The College has more endowed professors (14) than any other public university education preparation program in the United States. Many on our faculty have received national and international recognition and have published texts that are used in other teacher preparation programs across the country.

Welcome to the 21st Century College of Education at UM-St. Louis!

DIVERSITY, COMMUNITY, EXCELLENCE
