Mission Statement

Our mission is to facilitate lifelong learning to help improve the quality of life of the residents of the St. Louis n area and beyond. We do this by offering noncredit programs, off-campus credit courses, contract programs, consultation, and action research, both on our own initiative and in response to expressed needs. We extend educational resources of the University of Missouri-St. Louis at times and locations, in formats, and through t that best meet the needs of the lifelong learner. We help form new linkages with the community by serving a not currently served by the university. In doing so, we strive to maintain a mix of public service activities and that meet the needs of individuals and organizations.
