

Learn about Board Service

You can contribute to the common good by using your personal and professional skills for a worthy cause. Nonprofit agencies in St. Louis seek community-minded business and professional persons to serve on their boards of directors.

You are invited to a one-time information session to learn about the opportunities and responsibilities of board membership.

You will hear about the satisfaction to be gained from service to agencies helping those in need throughout the St. Louis area.

No information about you will be given to any person or organization without your consent.

We look forward to meeting you.
