

Summer 2008 Study Abroad

Study Abroad Office • University of Missouri-St. Louis

The summer is a great time to study abroad. With programs all over the world ranging in length from two weeks to 3 months, there is something for everyone's taste and budget.

For complete details on each program, visit the Study Abroad Website at: www.umsl.edu/studyabroad

Types of Programs

1. Faculty-Led Programs: UMSL professors take groups of students and community members to a foreign location. The professors create the schedules, organize excursions and lectures, and assign grades.
2. Other UMSL Programs: UMSL has partner universities in different countries which organize summer programs, most taught in English, for students from around the world. This is an opportunity to pay UMSL tuition and earn UMSL credit while interacting with other students from the US and from many other countries.
3. Non-UMSL Programs: You may attend most accredited summer programs organized by other universities. Contact the Study Abroad Office for program approval. Whether you choose to participate in a UM-St. Louis program or another approved program, you must apply through the Study Abroad Office before the deadline.

Cost

The cost varies for each program. Pay close attention to what is included in the fee: some include meals, airfare, or excursions, others do not. Keep in mind the program length, number of credits, and the additional cost of airfare, meals, insurance, and personal expenses, to accurately compare programs. Many costs listed in this brochure are estimates, the final price will depend on exchange rates and educational fees increases for Summer 2008. Summer 2008 educational fees will be announced by the University in April.

Scholarships

The Center for International Studies (CIS) awards scholarships to study abroad participants based on merit. A minimum 2.75 GPA is required. For summer programs, scholarships may range from $150 - $1,000. There are additional scholarship monies available for some UMSL faculty-led programs. There is one application form for all these scholarships. The deadline to apply for CIS scholarships is February 22, 2008.

Financial Aid

The financial aid package you are awarded each year must be distributed over the fall, winter, and summer terms. If you need aid for a summer program in addition to the financial aid you already receive, there are state and private loans that you may apply for. You must take a minimum of five credits to be eligible for summer aid. Make an appointment with Carol Banks in the Financial Aid Office, 327 MSC (516-6394) for more information.

Earning Credit

For all programs, with the exception of some faculty-led programs, you must earn academic credit to participate. The majority of programs will have a pre-approved UMSL course number for which you will earn credit. To earn language credit, you must bring the course description and meet with the appropriate advisor to have the course evaluated.

French: Anne-Sophie Blank

German: Kersten Horn

Spanish: Maite Nunez-Betelu

Application Deadline

-Japan Study Tour deadline: January 25, 2008.

-All other programs: February 22, 2008.

Space may be limited, so apply early.

Application Process

All application materials are available in the Study Abroad Office, 261 MSC or you may download them from www.umsl.edu/studyabroad. Return all forms to the Study Abroad Office by the deadline.

UM-St. Louis Faculty-Led Programs

Each summer, UM-St. Louis faculty lead a variety of programs around the world. This can be an affordable opportunity to earn UMSL credit abroad. Some programs include airfare in the program fee; others do not. If airfare is not included, students purchase their own airfare and travel on their own, or arrange with other students to travel together, to the host country. Each faculty-led program will be assigned UMSL course numbers.
