

NEWS AT NOON

CO-SPONSORED BY THE CURRENT AND THE NEW YORK TIMES

CAUGHT IN CONFLICTS: ART AND ANTIQUITIES IN TIMES OF POLITICAL UNREST

St. Louis Art Museum Takes Legal Action to Keep
Its Egyptian Mummy Mask

Mummy Mask of the Lady Ka-nefer-nefer, Egyptian, Dynasty 19 (1295-1186 BC),
St. Louis Art Museum

- ⇒ How do cultural objects and institutions fare in times of political turmoil and violent unrest?
- ⇒ What is the responsibility of museums, art dealers and individuals when they are offered objects that may have been stolen or looted?
- ⇒ How do museums adapt and respond to social and political change?

Come and discuss these and related issues on

Wednesday, April 27 in 315 MSC
Pizza and a Times article served at 12:15;
Discussion 12:30 – 1:30 PM!

Susan Waller, Associate Professor of Art History
Jay Rounds, Des Lee Professor of Museum
Studies and Community History.

