'Nigger' quote gives Dempster more trouble

University of Missouri Curator Robert Dempster generated outrage within the university system and in Jefferson City for the second time in two months Sept. 28, when he reportedly used the word 'nigger' to describe a black he employs.

In an interview published in the Columbia Tribune Oct. 2, Dempster was quoted as saying, "That nigger would have gone out and robbed a bank for me if I asked him to" to explain his relationship with Roosevelt Smith, a 65-year old caretaker who lives on his property.

The article, written by Tribune reporter Mary Ann King, also reports that Dempster referred to black employees as "my people" and that he said, "I look after those blacks like I would my own children."

Elsewhere in the story, Dempster is quoted as saying, "I sit here and chat with him, just as I would with you," in describing conversations he has held with James Wilder, a football player on the Columbia campus. Wilder is black.

The interview followed a now-familiar remark the Sikeston curator made at the board's July 27 meeting at the Lake of the Ozarks. In a discussion about control of the university extension budget, Dempster said, "It's like the woman who said she was raped—she didn't resist enough."

That remark brought forth calls for an apology and his resignation from several groups, among them the National Organization for Women and the Associated Students of the University of Missouri (ASUM).

Following the statement, Dempster met with Missouri Governor Joseph Teasdale, who appointed him to his six-year term in 1977. The governor is reportedly investigating the 68-year old curator's September comments.

At least one rally is slated to take place during the Board of Curators' meeting in Columbia tomorrow in response to his more recent faux pas.

"We have come out with a resolution asking for his resignation," said Garth Bare, president of the Missouri Student Association, the student government on the Columbia campus. "Anyone who's that biased, that much of a bigot—and I think that's obvious from his remarks—has no business being on the Board of Curators."

"It's like he's really building a case," said Steven Bledsoe, ASUM's executive director. "ASUM has come out clearly opposed to Dempster's continuing as a member of the board. ASUM has been pressuring Teasdale to remove him."

In an Oct. 9 telephone interview cut short when he hung up, Dempster told the Current, "I was misquoted, and I am making no further comment."

"I went down there and did an extensive interview with 'im," King said. "There was a Tribune photographer there with me during the entire interview, and he can verify what was said."

"Dempster says now that I misquoted him and that his wife was there when he said it, and that's not true."

King said that the interview took place in Dempster's home and at the Security State Bank in Sikeston, of which he is president and chairman of the Board. On Oct. 1, she said, she telephoned him to ask followup questions. At that time she told him that his use of a normally racist term disturbed her, and asked whether he realized he had used it.

According to King, Dempster said that his remark had been made during a social conversation. When she told him that it had not been, King said Dempster replied, "I think you're just trying to stir up trouble" and that she was looking for something negative to print.

King said that the curator then said, "I take care of that man (the caretaker). That's what he calls himself. That's a term we use to describe people down here. You know things are different down here."

"Either one, that's the case, and it's friendly terminology," said Mark Knollman, UMMSL student body president, "or two, the 'we' that he refers to are all bigots or three, he's a bigot and he was just using that as an excuse."

"The latter one seems to be true because it's consistent with [See "Dempster," page 8]

Central Council finishes work on drafting new constitution

Earl Swift

Central Council, UMMSL's student government, has completed work on the drafting of a constitutional working text. The organization's Committee on Student Governance ended eight months of discussion on that document and the group's by-laws at a meeting Oct. 9.

Revision of the two were made necessary a year ago next week, when Paul Free resigned as student body president and council representatives discovered that the documents provided no means for his replacement.

Students, faculty and other members of the UMMSL community have until Oct. 18 to suggest deletions, additions, or further revisions to the working texts. Suggestions should be delivered to Kevin Chrisler, Administrative Committee chairperson, at the council's offices, 253a University Center.

The group is expected to study and vote on approval of the revisions at its Oct. 21 meeting. They will be put into effect following a student referendum in November or December.

The texts contain several changes to the present documents, most notable the establishment of a determined, perennial number of elected student government representatives.

Presently, the group bases the number of such members on the size of the student body, each member representing 500 UMMSL students. The proposed constitution calls for the election of 30 representatives annually.

In addition to altering the council's articles of operation and organization, the revisions suggest that the group's name be changed: It is referred to as the Student Assembly throughout the documents.

Student organization offers alternatives

Jim Wallace

The Alternative Resources and Technologies group, formed on campus last year, offers self-education in a wide variety of resources and technologies not used by any sector or group in their particular field.

The group is now studying such diverse subjects as solar and nuclear energy, underground houses, alternate medicine, and aquaculture, under-sea farming.

The group had, during the organizational fair, built a geodesic dome in the third floor lobby of Lucas Hall. They plan to expand on this activity and build a variety of such models around UMMSL during the upcoming months.

Loren Paul, leader of the group and a physics major, stresses that his is "not a social organization."

"The group is established on a corporate framework," Paul said.

The group is composed of 15 active members. "I want people to be able to use the group as a reference when choosing a career," he said.

"Some of our members are looking for careers in an alternate field but some are just looking for decisions."

A good deal of the group's time is spent compiling a file of product information and literature pertaining to their fields of interest.

"Through us, anyone can use the information we've gathered," Paul said.

They also take tours to points of interest: a geodesic dome home or a methane gas-powered sewage plant in North County.

The group is also interested, said Paul, in building more working projects like the dome in Lucas.

Eventually the group wants to tie in all the small working projects being planned and fabricate a self-sufficient dwelling.

"The dwelling," Paul said, "whether we build it on a lot or on campus, will be totally energy independent. It will serve as an engineering project and a display of what we've done. Also it will provide a much larger office and meeting place."

"Most of our working projects will be incorporated into the dwelling. It will be solar-heated with a wind mill generator and water-storage and water-saving features. No sewer hookups will be needed. So as far as basic functions are concerned, the

Safety seminar offered

A one-day seminar designed to acquaint industry practitioners with regulations on the handling and shipping of hazardous materials will be held here Oct. 25 from 8am-4pm. The seminar is co-sponsored by the Gateway Hazardous Materials and Safety Seminar Committee and UMSL Continuing Education.

The "Gateway Hazardous Materials and Safety Seminar" will cover preparation of shipping papers, handling of hazardous materials in the event of spills or accidents, working with damaged containers, and the disposal of hazardous materials. The registration fee for the seminar, including parking, lunch and materials, is $15. To receive a free brochure on the program or to register, call Clark Hickman of UMSL Continuing Education at 453-5961.

Management seminar here

A seminar designed to help women manage more effectively and achieve career advancement will be offered at UMSL Downtown, 522 Olive, November 6 to 8 from 9am - 4pm. The course will concentrate on developing an effective management style and making and implementing decisions. Time management, work priority, and organizational structure will also be covered in the three-day program.

"Women Managers: Now That You Have the Job, Focus on Your Career" is the title for the new seminar, which has been developed by UMSL's School of Business Administration. The six-person faculty team includes Rose Jonas, manager of results management at the Monsanto Company; Deborah Bornholdt, a management consultant; and Patricia Jakubowski, associate professor of behavioral studies; Larry Baker and Nicholas DiMarco, UMSL associate professors of management and organizational behavior, and Douglas E. Durand, associate dean of the School of Business Administration, complete the faculty team.

For more information or to register, contact Dorothy Bacon at 621-2102.

Math Lab offers help

The CAD Math Lab, located at 424 SSB, offers individual or small group assistance to any student having difficulty in math or related courses.

The Lab also provides remedial instruction for students who need either a review of basic arithmetic or instruction in the basic algebra concepts necessary for success in Math 02. The lab is open Monday through Friday from 8am-3pm, and Monday through Thursday from 5-9pm. No appointments are necessary.

For further information, stop in or call Anita McDonald at 453-5194.

Committee members named

Assignments have been made for UMSL Senate and chancellor's committees. Some of the vacancies and chairperson selections still have to be filled.

Not all of the Senate committee members are necessarily senators. Students are not allowed to serve on several of the committees.

The following is an update of a list that had been distributed earlier. A completed list will come out next week and will be available as inserts in the Faculty and Staff directory.

Pre-registration here

Advance registration and advisement for all currently-enrolled students (including arts & sciences, business, education, evening and graduate schools) will be held from Nov. 5 to 16.

Registration packets will be available at the second floor lobby of Woods Hall from 8:30am-4:30pm, Monday through Friday from 4:30pm through 8:30pm Monday through Thursday.

Packets may be obtained at the admissions office, 101 Woods Hall, Monday through Thursday from 4:30-8:30pm.

Registration packets will be automatically prepared for all students qualified for registration. Those students who wish to change divisions must submit Division Change Forms at the Admissions Office. Detailed registration instructions will be distributed with the packets.

Students who do not take advantage of this pre-registration will enroll during regular registration in January, 1980.

Business workshop here

"Advertising and Sales Promotion for Small Businesses" is the subject of a workshop scheduled for Oct. 17 from 7-10pm at the St. Charles City-County Library's Merrill Branch, 1900 Merrill Drive. The workshop is sponsored by University of Missouri-Extension, the St. Charles City-County Library, and UMSL's Business Development Center (UBDC).

The program will focus on developing an effective advertising and promotion strategy, including determining advertising budgets, media evaluation, ad make-up, layout and copy writing. Post-analysis of advertising and promotion expenditures will also be discussed.

Workshop participants include Can Borgmeyer, president of Borgmeyer and Associates, and Joel Watkins, owner of Watkins Advertising. Carol Leriche, University of Missouri business extension specialist, and the UBDC's Bernie Weinrich will also be featured. There will be a charge of $5 for workshop materials.

To register, contact Larry DePiesse of the St. Charles City-County Library at 946-7988.

Investment course offered at UMSL Downtown

Money-making approaches for investors seeking capital gains for high current yields from investments will be the subject of a course offered at UMSL Downtown Thursdays, from 5:30-7:30pm, Oct. 25 through Dec. 6. "How to Make Sound Investment Decisions in Today's Economic Environment" will emphasize recognizing undervalued issues, and timing purchases to achieve above-average returns with minimum risks.

The instructor for the course is David R. Eidelman, a St. Louis-based investment advisor and a Chartered Financial Analyst. The registration fee for the six-session course is $90. For more information, contact Dorothy Bacon at 621-2102.

Dempster's remarks show more cause for removal

UM Curator Robert Dempster has stirred up trouble for himself again. Ironically, this time he was trying to clear up his past problems.

While his last comments produces outrage primarily from women groups, his most recent remarks -especially the use of the word 'nigger'- have caused an uproar in the black community. When the Curators meet this Friday both groups, and several student government groups, will be there to demand Dempster's resignation. It seems unlikely, under the weight of public opposition, that Dempster can continue on as a Curator.

And it is this public opposition that is important to understand just why his resignation is necessary. Those asking for Dempster's removal, which includes the Current, are not out to stifle his right to state his beliefs, as some have claimed. Rather, as a public figure and an important figure in determining the role of this University, Dempster must be clear of any sort of prejudice that might bias his decisions and adversely effect one portion of the UM community.

Dempster's remarks indicate that he views certain groups unequally. His statement of two years ago more than proved this point. "The women ought to attend to women's activities. They ought to be looking for a husband instead of playing volleyball."

In spite of his obvious indiscretions it should be remembered that Dempster has done much to help this university. By volunteering his time to take the monumental task of being a Curator he has done more than most. But it should be recognized that the Curator's post is not one that can be tarnished and remain effective. Once the public and the students lose faith in the people who run the University, the University itself is adversely effected. The Current reaffirms its call for Dempster's removal. The longer the wait, the more the University will suffer.

UMSL ignored one more time

While the protesters demonstrate outside, the UM Board of Curators will be holding their regular monthly meeting Friday.

The meeting is only noteworthy here because of its lack of importance to UMSL.

Typical of many Curators meetings, UMSL is not mentioned in any of the agenda items. In fact, only UMC is scheduled to be discussed in both Academic Affairs and Physical Facilities. All together 12 topics, ranging from a UMC law school building addition to a change in rules concerning UMC married student housing, will be discussed in those two meetings.

The Columbia dominance of the University programs and funds has been and continues to be, out of proportion with the students served. This has caused a major stumbling block for advancement of UMSL programs.

Administrators say that this is a single University and should not be thought of as separate entities. It is time to put some of these thoughts into constructive action and start dealing with the campuses equally.

Chappell praised

Dear Editor,

We, as participants in Intramural Sports, would like to voice our appreciation of Mary Choppel, Assistant Intramurals Director. Because of her efforts, the Intramurals Program is in full swing. For example on Monday and Wednesday nights, Super-serve Mary participates on one of the seven Intramural Volleyball teams who do battle in the gym. Tuesday afternoons, Mary oversees the antics of the Intramural Bowling Teams. She is also in the process of organizing the Budweiser sponsored Super Sports. Besides these and many other Intramurals, she has found the time to organize the men & women's Intercollegiate Bowling Teams. As busy as she is, Mary's door is always open to anyone. In essence, all we would like to say is, THANK YOU MARY CHOPPEL.

Writer says students care

Dear Editor:

I read an unusually offensive editorial in the September 27th edition of the Current. It stated that the usually poor turnout of student voters in the Central Council elections was even poorer this year with the excuse of "I didn't have time." I wish to correct this statement. The writer in this case is accusing the students of not caring in the administration of their rights on campus.

However, this is not the case. After speaking of a number of students, I found that many of them did not realize that an election had even taken place. Others say that they did not know any of the candidates. Most students at UMSL do care about what is happening. There just seems to be a lack of communication. I think that the students at UMSL would be more aware of their surroundings if there was more publicity to the goings-on on campus. Suggestions would be posters, more flyers, and a student assembly where Central Council candidates may make election speeches. In this way, everyone could meet the candidates, hear their opinions and views, and vote using an accurate choice.

Unfortunately, this campus doesn't seem organized enough to pull off such feats. I'm sure that it is way beyond its capabilities.
 signed,
 Sue Jansen
 A concerned student.

Constitution

Following are the proposed constitution and bylaws:

Constitution

Preamble

We, the students of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, in order to provide for greater student participation in the general administration and government of the institution and to promote the general welfare of the academic community, have formulated the following constitution is designed to work toward fuller student participation in all aspects of university life, affairs, and policy-making; and to carry out the philosophy that all students be encouraged to govern themselves and be responsible for their government. In addition the Assembly shall work with the faculty and the staff toward the objective of creating and maintaining an institution of increasing service to the students, the alumni, the metropolitan community, and the State.

Article 1.000 Assembly Membership

1.100 Elected Representatives

There shall be 30 elected representatives.

1.200 Organizational Representatives

Each organization recognized by the Office of Student Activities shall be allowed one representative on the Assembly.

1.300 The Assembly shall provide for the replacement of elected representatives upon their resignation, expulsion, or impeachment from the Assembly. Organizational representatives shall be replaced in a manner to be determined by the individual group.

1.400 Assembly Meetings

Meetings of the Assembly shall be held at least once per month during the fall and winter semesters. Special meetings may be called by the president, the Executive Committee, or by the petition of at least one-third of the representatives.

Article 2.000 Officers

2.100 The Student Body President

The student body president is head of the student government. He shall be elected at large and then shall be considered an ex-officio member of the Assembly. The duties and rights of the presidency are:

.05—serving as chairperson of the Executive Committee

.10—representing the students in such areas as shall require a true representative of the student body.

.15—to be responsible for the actions of the student government and be its executive officer.

.20—to be responsible for presenting the Assembly with a program of legislation for the Assembly's approval.

.25—to be the official spokesperson of the Assembly in terms of correspondence.

.30—to report to the Assembly on the activities of the Executive Committee and on actions involving his other duties.

.35—to appoint the secretary and treasurer with Assembly approval.

.40 to be able to, for his term only, appoint those aides and assistants that the president feels are needed for the smooth operation of the student government.

2.200 The Vice President

The vice president shall succeed the duties of the president in case of the president's absence or illness and shall succeed the office of the president in case of the president's death, resignation or impeachment. The vice president shall be elected at large and shall be considered an ex-officio member of the Assembly.

.05—The vice president shall be responsible for the operation of all Assembly departments.

.10—The vice president shall, for his term only, assume those authorities that the president has deemed needed.

.15—In case of the vice president's absence or prolonged illness the president shall appoint a temporary vice president with Assembly approval. The Assembly shall appoint a new vice president at large in case of the vice president's ascension to the presidency, resignation, or impeachment.

2.300 The Treasurer

The treasurer shall be appointed by the president with the approval of the Assembly. The treasurer shall administer Assembly funds in accordance with the Assembly's instructions and must keep accurate and available financial records.

2.400 The Secretary of the Assembly

3.400 No committee or board shall exist for more than one semester or for the length of time less than one semester as stated at the institution of the ad-hoc committee, sub-committee, board or commission.

3.500 Departments

There shall be four standing, permanent departments of the student government. These shall be:

A. The Administrative Department—to conduct such administrative duties as needed and as defined in the bylaws;

B. the Evaluation/Recommendation Department—to evaluate and recommend courses of action on such matters that should affect students;

C. the Publicity and Communications Department—to attempt to keep students informed and aware of all aspects of university life; and

D. the Operation Department—to conduct those operations as defined in the bylaws and decreed by the Assembly.

Article 4.000 The bylaws of the Assembly

The Assembly may set up such rules and guidelines for its operations as it deems needed. These rules shall be called the bylaws and shall be ratifiable and amendable by Assembly majority vote.

.05—No bylaws may be accepted if it in any way in method, theory, action, or otherwise is contrary to the Assembly Constitution.

.10—No bylaw may be accepted at the meeting at which it is first moved, read, and proposed.

Article 5.000 Elections

The Assembly Elections shall be held in accordance with the Constitution, the By-Laws and the procedures set up in the bylaws.

.05—Prior to the first day of May and no sooner than the first day of April, elections shall be held for the student body president, vice president and for 24 representatives of the students in Day, Evening and Graduate studies.

.10—Those elected shall assume office no later than one week after the April/May elections and shall be in office for one calendar year or until the next general of officers and representatives.

.15—No sooner than four weeks and no later than six weeks into the fall semester, the students enrolled for the first time may elect six representatives. This election shall not in any way be used to displace the general election in the spring.

5.100 Special Elections may be held for either of the following reasons:

.5 —If 25 percent or more of the Assembly membership has been expelled or has resigned, then a special election may be held under the direction of the Administrative Department.

.6 —Special Referendum votes may be held twice a year (once per semester), or at the behest of the Assembly with Executive Committee approval.

5.200 Each organization having recognition from the Office of Student Activities must register each year.

Article 6.000 Assembly Procedure

6.100 Majority and Quorum

.05—A majority for voting purposes shall be one-half plus one of the total membership present at a meeting.

.10—One-half plus one of the total membership of the Assembly shall constitute a quorum in any Assembly meeting.

6.200 Unless otherwise provided for in the constitution or the bylaws the official manual of parliamentary procedure shall be "Robert's Rules of Order" (newly revised).

6.300 Voting in Assembly

Voice count or a show of hands is acceptable for all votes except the following:

.05—constitutional amendment proposals (voting to put before the student body);

.10—bylaw adoption;

.15—legislation final vote; and

.20—impeachment proceedings (voting to present a case to the Student Court).

Article 7.000 The Student Court

There shall be a Student Court consisting of five justices, four associate justices and one chief justice, all chosen for one- or two- year terms as vacancies occur. The court shall operate on the guidelines set down in the bylaws.

7.100 The Duties of the court are as follows:

.05—to adjudicate traffic violations;

.10—to arbitrate in matters of conflict between individual students brought before the court;

.15—adjudication in matters of dispute between individual students and student organizations;

.20—adjudications in disputes between student organizations;

.25—ruling in questions of individual student conduct;

.30—the Student Court shall conduct impeachment proceedings in accordance with article 2.700 and the pertinent bylaws; and

.35—the court shall rule on questions of constitutionality concerning the Assembly constitution as brought before the court by the Assembly or interested parties. The court shall also rule on questions within the student government on procedure and protocol that the Assembly has difficulty resolving.

7.200 The Court shall conduct itself in accordance with the Board of Curators' "Rules of Procedure in Student Disciplinary Matters."

7.300 If any of the positions on the court become vacant then they shall be filled in accordance with the appropriate bylaws.

Article 8.000 Questions of conduct regarding Assembly members or officers may be brought before the Student Court by petition of at least 30 percent of the assembly.

Article 9.000 Amendment and Ratification of the Constitution

9.100 The constitution may be amended as follows:

.05—the amendment shall be proposed either by a petition bearing the signatures of five percent of the total student body and the signatures of one-third of the Assembly membership as defined in article 1.000; or by the signatures of two-thirds plus one of the Assembly membership; and

.10—the amendment shall be considered approved when it is voted for by a majority of the students voting in the referendum.

9.200 This constitution shall be ratified when it has received a simple majority of the Assembly members' signatures and then shall have been approved by a simple majority of the students voting in the referendum. After receiving the approval of the Assembly, this constitution shall go into effect pending student approval. It shall supercede any previous documents.

Article 4 Membership of the Assembly

Section I—All representatives of the Assembly must be students.

Section II—Definition of a student: A student shall be any person currently enrolled for credit at one or more courses. Those students who attended classes during the preceding winter semester be considered students for the summer.

Section III—No student may serve on the Student Court and the Assembly simultaneously.

Section IV—Organizational Representatives

A. Assembly recognition, with rights of representation, shall be granted to those groups having submitted the following to the director of the Administrative Department:

- Proof of university recognition;
  - the names, addresses, phone and student numbers, and signatures of the three members responsible for the organization;
  - the group's constitution or statement of purpose; and
  - the name of the group's representative.
- B. After recognition has been granted, the secretary off the Assembly shall announce the names of the groups and the names of their representatives to the Assembly.
- C. After receiving recognition, any group may change its representative by submitting to the administrative director a statement to that effect signed by one of three members responsible for the group.

Section V—Membership Requirements

- attendance of Assembly meetings;
- attendance of department meetings;
- working two hours or more on polls per election; and
- reading and emptying the contents of their own mailbox each week.

Section VI—Expulsion

If a representative misses two meetings per semester, the member is expelled.

Section VII—Appeal

- A representative who is expelled may appeal directly to the Assembly and a two-thirds vote will reinstate that person to full membership rights.
- Should a representative's appeal be rejected by the Assembly, the representative may make an appeal to be heard by the Student Court with the Assembly being represented by director of the Administrative Department or a representative of that department.
- Reversal of suspension or expulsion by the court shall restore the member to full membership rights within the Assembly.

Section VIII—Definitions

- Department and Committee Membership
  - Department membership shall be open to members of the Assembly.
  - Sub-committee membership shall be open to all.
  - Every Assembly member must be on at least one standing department.
- Standing department directors shall be elected at the first meeting after the general election or when a vacancy occurs.

The group is not only open to UMSL students but to any interested people from off campus as well.

"I want to set up a statewide network of interested bankers, building commissioners, and real-estate salespeople," Paul said.

The group tries to meet once every two weeks at which times they engage in book reviews and rap sessions and also plan and arrange tours. Paul cited his two lieutenants, Keith Wade and Walter Lobster, as great contributors to the group.

"We've been on campus for a year and during that time we have greatly expanded in scope and quality," Paul said. He also wants to "establish prestige in my position, as leader.

"I want it to be a qualification based position and not one of popular authority.

"This is not a social group," Paul repeated. "I let people have some things their way, but I went to a lot of trouble to establish this group. And I'm not about to hand it over to some popular leader."

In the near future, the group plans to attend an energy fair in Fulton on Oct. 20. They have also been looking into several fund-raising possibilities and the possibility of getting some relative courses started.

They have also been considering the prospect of building a large geodesic dome on campus, to be constructed of timber-shipment lumber and fiberglass.

Behavioral Studies conference scheduled here this month

The executive President's Committee on Mental Retardation will address the Second Behavioral Studies Conference scheduled Oct. 19 and 20 at UMSL.

Fred J. Krause will speak to program participants Saturday, Oct. 20 at 9am on the development of early intervention programs for high-risk infants and young children.

Mrs. Eleanor McGovern, the other keynote speaker for the conference, will speak on "Child Care—A Needed Heritage," Oct. 19 at 9am.

The two-day conference is designed for special education professionals, teachers, parents, administrators, and social workers. "More Than One Way to Care" is the theme for the meeting, which will include a variety of panel discussions, workshops, paper presentations, and theatre productions on subjects ranging from the needs of handicapped persons to care of the terminally ill. Child abuse, child care, and other topics will also be discussed.

Krause has been with the President's Committee since 1969. Prior to this current appointment, her served as executive director of the California Council for Retarded Children. He also assisted in legislative planning for California's mental retardation programs.

Originally from the Midwest, Krause also served as rehabilitation supervisor for the Illinois State Department of Mental Health.

The fee for the conference is $25. Registration for one day is $15. For more information contact Joe Williams at 453-5961.

other remarks he's made," he said.

"He's powerful, he's ignorant, and he's a friend of Governor Teasdale's. I think it would be really good if the board asked for his resignation.

"A man that's putting out that kind of impression about the State of Missouri definitely shouldn't be in the position he's in," Knollman said. "It's just common sense, really."

"He just had the bad sense to say what most of the Board of Curators thinks," said Sharon Angle, a Central Council representative and a member of ASUM's Board of Directors.

Also in King's story, Dempster is quoted as saying, while walking into his bank, "There are a lot of pretty girls in here. I don't hire 'em unless They're pretty." In reference to the performance of UMC Chancellor Barbara Uehling, he reportedly said, "She's worth two men put together."

In addition to his recent comments, Dempster stepped into hot water two years ago after another about his belief that most women enter college to find husbands.

The nine-member Board of Curators is composed of appointees selected from each of the state's congressional districts. Sikeston is located in southeast Missouri.

newsbriefs

Business School sponsors information service

The School of Business Administration, in conjunction with the School's Alumni Association, will continue to sponsor an on-going program called BASCIS - Business Alumni-Student Career Information Service.

The program involves approximately 80 business alumni who have volunteered to meet with business administration students, on a one-to-one basis, to provide them with some practical information about what is involved in various career paths.

It is available to business majors through the School of Business Administration's office of Academic Advising, 487 SSB.

Book fair here

The UMSL Faculty Women will hold their annual book fair Oct. 30 through Nov. 1, from 7:30am-10pm in the Blue Metal Office Building at the north end of the campus.

The fair, which benefits the UMSL library, will feature popular as well as special interest and scholarly publications. Last year, $2,200 was raised for special library purchases. Co-chairpersons for the fair are Christine West-Musca, Cecilia Riehl and Barbara Walker.

For more information, contact Christine West-Musca at 453-5221.

Garden club planned

The establishment of a student garden club here—the first of its kind in the nation—is the goal of several faculty members, students, and area garden club officials.

The club's formation would represent the first time a collegiate garden club has been recognized by the National Council of State Garden Clubs in the U.S.

As members, students might be eligible to apply for scholarships and would be exposed to horticulture, conservation and landscape design techniques.

For membership information, call Charles Granger at 453-5811 or Kaye Pelech at 453-5777.

Free beer for blood

Beta Alpha Psi is sponsoring a Blood Drive to be held on October 15 and 16, from 9:15am - 2:15pm in 126 J.C. Penney.

Every student organization on campus has been urged to get at least 50 per cent of their membership, and all of their friends to donate. The organization to get the most people to sign up and at least 50 percent of their membership will win a free keg of beer.

A sign-up list can be found through Professor Dave Ganz, 453-5411 or room 1202 of SSB Tower. The goal set for UMSL this year is 300 pints.

Video-production offered

A "hands-on" workshop designed to provide practical and applied experience in video production will be offered at UMSL, Monday nights from 6:30-9:30pm, October 15 through December 17.

The course has been developed for beginners who wish to develop TV production awareness and skills, as well as for the professional, who wished to improve his present skills.

All aspects of video-tape production will be covered in the course. The fee for the course, including the use of equipment and materials, is $125. For information contact Joe Williams of UMSL Continuing Education at 453-5961.

Large number of housewives return to school

This is part one of a two-part series on housewives returning to school. This article deals with the decision to return to school. The second part, which will be printed next week, will deal with adjustments once a woman is back in school and also with problems they face when they have their degrees.

John Pleimann

"I was sick of taking jobs with no future, jobs without a challenge. I knew this would be a step in the right direction."

"I got tired of being a housewife. I felt I had another role to play in society."

"I didn't know what I wanted to do after high school, so I worked for a couple of years, and then I started back."

These are just a few of the many reasons given by some UMSL students over 24 for deciding to begin or return to college.

UMSL offers ample proof that college is not just for kids. Approximately 35 percent of UMSL students are over 24.

Returning to college may not be as traumatic to an adult as is the first day of kindergarten for a child. Nonetheless, it can generate its share of apprehension, according to UMSL student Lana Steinman.

Steinman, a speech-communication major said, "It was scary stepping out of the safe, everyday world of home and kids, and stepping into the unfamiliar world of school."

After "paying her dues" in some unchallenging jobs, Steinman came to realize that college was apparently the key that would unlock her career potential.

So, with the support of her husband and sons (one of whom is in college) she returned to academia.

"I find learning very exciting," she said. "I started out taking a few courses at a time, and as my confidence grew so did my course load."

"I was so scared when I started," Steinman said. "I was taking notes of my notes."

"It was just a matter of time before I learned to take one day at a time."

Steinman is now preparing to take another big step in her life as she prepares to receive her degree in December and enter back into the working world.

Ann Thomas is another example of a housewife-turned student. Before her return to school as a speech-communication major, Thomas would have described herself as a "typical housewife."

After accumulating 93 hours at the University of South Carolina, she quit, and much to her mother's delight, got married.

After playing the role of a housewife and mother for 10 years, her desire for an education returned.

"I didn't want to end up playing the housewife role forever," she said. "I really love school. I find it very fulfilling. I could even see myself as a 'professional student.'"

Thomas feels, however, that life is definitely more than just going to school.

"I still have to find time to be a mother and a wife," she said, "and I also need time for leisure activities."

These two women consider themselves to be prime examples of a growing number of college students: women who have returned to school to prepare for a midlife career while keeping the home fires burning.

Hutto to play here

The vibrant sounds of South Chicago urban blues will burst out of the J.C. Penney Auditorium Friday, Oct. 12 when J. B. Hutto and "The New Hawks" dive onto the stage for a free concert. The concert will be from 12 - 1:30pm

The concert, not in the regularly scheduled program of concerts in the University Center, is presented by Student Activities through Ron Edwards of the University Center.

Following the tradition of Elmore James and Muddy Waters, Hutto plays an aggressive, electric style of slide guitar. He writes most of the material he performs, but still does a variety of other rhythm and blues numbers.

Hutto is currently touring with "The New Hawks," featuring Bob Case on bass, Leroy Pina on drums, and "Silverstone" Steve Coveny on guitar.

Coming to national attention relatively recently, Hutto has played the blues bars circuit in Chicago, such as Turner's Lounge, for well over a decade. It was during these years that Hutto developed his own style—tough and visceral.

"I think that if people hear Hutto, they'll like him, but they have to hear him first," Ron Edwards said of the last-minute concert.

Hutto is in St. Louis for several concerts at a bar named after him. These concerts will be on Friday and Saturday. The Bar, J. B. Hutto's, is in the Woodsmill shopping center.

Parsons, Gartside to perform

Two well-known performers will be at UMSL next weekend. Estelle Parsons will star in "Miss Margarida's Way" on Friday, Oct. 19, at 8:30pm. Acclaimed tenor Robert Gartside will present a recital Sunday Oct. 21 at 7:30pm.

Parsons drew rave reviews for the one-woman play during its New York run. Honors included a Tony Award nomination, the Drama Desk Award, and Cue Golden Apple Award.

Written by Brazilian playwright Roberto Athayde, the play is a challenge for the audience as well as for its star. Parsons plays a tyrannical, repressed, and vitriolically vocal schoolmarm, whose classroom histrionics fascinate, repel and convulse her eighth-grade class-played, in varying degrees of passive and active involvement, by the audience.

Parsons has appeared on stage in classical as well as modern plays since 1962, and has won two Obie Awards and numerous Tony Award nominations. She has recently turned to directing, as well, but is perhaps best known for her Oscar-winning role in the film "Bonnie and Clyde."

Tickets for the one-night performance, held in the J.C. Penney Auditorium, are $4 for UMSL students, $6 for UMSL faculty and staff, and $8 for general public.

Gartside will continue the weekend when he performs in the J.C. Penney Auditorium on Oct. 21. His recital will include works by John Dowland, Franz Schubert, Francis Poulenc, and a selection of songs by American composers Stephen Foster and Charles Ives. Gartside will be accompanied by Laurence Berman at the piano.

Gartside was born in St. Louis where he was graduated from John Burroughs School. After attending Harvard as a National Scholar, Gartside traveled to Europe to pursue voice studies with Pierre Bernac, Francis Poulenc, and, later, Ernst Reichert. He remained in Europe for ten years, performing in the major capitals of Europe. In addition to solo recitals, Gartside has worked with many American and European orchestras, including the Boston Symphony.

Tickets for the recital are $2 for UMSL students, $3 for UMSL faculty and staff, and $4 for general public.

Tickets for both shows can be purchased at the Information Desk or at the door. For more information, call 453-5148.

UMSL faculty, students to perform in 'Harvey'

Several UMSL faculty members and students will be performing in the Pasadena Players' production of "Harvey," Oct. 11, 12, 13, and 14.

Written by Mary Chase, the play is a comedy. Roy Bergman will star as Elwood P. Dowd and Helen Preston will play his sister.

Mary Rank, from the music department, Don DeNoon, UMSL campus Chaplain, and Ginni Bowie, from the Student Activities Office, are the faculty members in the show. Bowie is directing the play, as well as acting in it.

Two UMSL students will also be performing: Mike Kripp and Robert Poole.

The play will be performed on Oct. 11 at 8pm, on the Normandy Presbyterian Church Stage. Oct. 12, 13, and 14 the play will be put on at 8pm in the Marillac Auditorium.

General donations at the door are $2 for students and $2.50 for adults. For more information, call 385-0310.

Birth control.
 Now it's as simple as this.

At last, Encare.®
 Neat, compact, no bigger than your fingertip, Encare is fast becoming the most talked about contraceptive we have today.
 Free from hormonal side effects, Encare is available without a prescription. And it might well be the easiest method of birth control you will ever use.
Simply simple.
 You simply insert Encare with the tip of your finger. There's no iffy measuring, no tubes, no applicators. And no messy paraphernalia to clean up afterward. Each tiny insert contains an exact, premeasured amount of the clinically proven spermicide, nonoxynol 9.

Simply effective.
 Very simply, Encare works by neutralizing sperm. When used properly, Encare melts and gently effervesces, spreading within your vagina for protection against pregnancy.
 Even under very rigorous testing conditions, Encare's spermicide was found to be highly effective.

Simply safe.
 And if you ask your gynecologist about Encare, you'll be reassured to hear that Encare cannot harm your body the way the pill or IUD might. Which means, you simply won't be worried about those complications.

For maximum protection, it is essential that you read and follow directions carefully and, if indicated, consult your physician. No birth control method is guaranteed to prevent pregnancy.

Birth control, simplified.

U. of Dayton defends title; captures UMSL tourney

The University of Dayton swept five straight matches, winning 10 of 11 games, in successfully defending its championship in the University of Missouri-St. Louis women's volleyball tournament, last weekend at UMSL.

Dayton won the championship from Illinois State, defeating the Redbirds, 15-2, 15-5.

UMSL coach Gary Custer was very happy with his squad's showing as they picked up three wins in five matches. UMSL lost standout Myra Bailey to an ankle injury in the tourney's opening round.

"I was very pleased with our performance," Custer said, "and our ability to overcome our injuries and continue to play well." UMSL is also without one of its leading players, Sophomore Mimi Kohler, who has a foot injury.

On Friday, UMSL defeated Benedictine College in the opening round, 15-6, 14-16, 15-9. The women then dropped a match to Iowa state, 15-11, 15-7.

On Saturday, UMSL defeated Bellarmine, 15-7, 12-15, 15-3, to advance to the playoff round against St. Louis University.

UMSL defeated the Lady Billikens, 15-11, 15-7, before succumbing to Dayton in the semi-final round.

Twelve midwestern colleges and universities participated in the tourney and Custer was happy with the results. "This is perhaps the best volleyball tournament in Missouri," he said. "The attendance was good and the competition was excellent."

Lack of goal scoring plagues Riverwomen

Terri Moore

UMSL's field hockey record fell to 2-8 with losses last week to SIU-Edwardsville 2-0, Southeast Missouri State 1-0, and St. Louis University 4-1.

Even though the team lost all three games, coach Ken Hudson feels they're playing much better. "We've improved; we played well all week."

"We made some changes in our offense that opens things up a little more. We switched from five forwards to four, which gives our halfbacks a little more room to move around. It helped out today (Sunday against St. Louis U.), we had a few more chances than before."

Although they had more chances to score, they were not able to do so against SIU and SEMO. If they had been able to score one goal, Hudson felt it would have opened the game up a little more. "It's just getting that first one is what it amounts to," he added.

"We were kind of tight playing SIU and really couldn't get anything going, but we really played pretty well," said Hudson.

The women played the nation's second ranked team, SLU, on Sunday, and even though they were defeated, Hudson was very impressed with his team's play. "We usually play St. Louis U. a good game."

The team went into the game playing defensively because the Billikens has been scoring a lot of goals lately. It apparently helped because three of four goals were scored on corners.

UMSL's goal was scored by center halfback Patti Crowe and assisted by Milena Djikanovic.

Hudson hopes the team will continue to improve and start to jell in time for the state tournament, which will be hosted by UMSL in three weeks.

The women will go on the road this weekend to face the University of Missouri-Columbia Friday, and Northeast Missouri Saturday at Kirksville.

Rivermen gain another tie, 0-0

Greg Kavouras

The soccer Rivermen recorded their fourth tie of the season Saturday as they battled through two 10-minute overtime periods to a 0-0 standoff against Evansville University.

Evansville, a Division I school, beat the nation's number one ranked team last week, Alabama A & M, 1-0. The stunning upset gave UMSL an outstanding opportunity. The Rivermen were ranked sixth in Division II prior to the contest, and a good game against Evansville could vault them near the top.

UMSL completely dominated the game, holding a 21-8 bulge in shots on goal, but could not put one past the Evansville goalie. The Rivermen passed almost at will throughout the game, and the ball was in Evansville territory most of the afternoon.

The game was extremely physical and the referees kept busy by issuing six yellow cards. At 43:39 UMSL forward Dan Muesenfechter and Evansville back Bob Wasserman broke into a fight at midfield and players from both teams rushed to the scene. Both players remained in the game, however.

Not only did the teams have to oppose each other, they had to fight a stiff, blustery wind that lashed up to 35 mph and made ball handling very tricky.

With 6:25 remaining in the second overtime, UMSL back Dominic Barczewski passed back to his goalie, Ed Weis, to clear the ball out. Weis slipped and looked on helplessly as the ball bounded toward the UMSL net. The Rivermen breathed a sigh of relief when the ball barely slipped past the right goal post.

Harriers finish third in Rolla meet

Gary Esayan

On Saturday the UMSL Cross Country team competed in a four school, five mile meet in Rolla and struggled to achieve one victory against two losses.

"We ran rather flat," commented Coach Frank Neal as his harriers lost convincingly to the University of Missouri-Rolla and to a lesser extent to Lincoln University. The Rivermen avoided a complete shutout by defeating Central Methodist U. behind Steve Walters' 27:39; twelfth place performance in the field of thirty-five.

Walters was followed by Schwalje at 28:15, Mark

Young at 28:17, Jerry O'Brien at 28:39, Sam Farinella at 31:45 and Joe Halley at 33:54.

Mark Knapp, who had missed the squad's last two meets due to an ankle injury found only after a mile of running that the ankle had not healed sufficiently and was forced to withdraw.

"Steve ran very well and so did Mark Young considering he had no pre-race warm-up,"

Basketball tryouts held

Tryouts for UMSL's men's basketball squad will be held Tuesday and Thursday, October 16-18, at 7pm in the Mark Twain Building. Young, who did not travel with the team Friday night due to a prior commitment arrived a mere 45 seconds before the starting gun and did well to start with the rest of the field.

The harriers next assignment will be this Saturday in Fayette, Mo., as they will compete in the eight team Central Methodist University Invitational.

If it's sick to love a pen, then the world's going crazy.

It happened to secretaries first. Then lawyers, bookkeepers, waitresses, cabbies, housewives, and businessmen succumbed to the beauty of our Pilot Razor Point and Fineliner pens.

Some people felt it was sick to get so emotionally involved with our pens. But is it really so crazy to love a Pilot Razor Point pen that writes with a sharp smooth line and costs a mere 79¢? Is it nuts to flip over its unique little metal collar that smartly helps to keep its point from going squish?

If it is crazy, it's going to surprise a whole lot of people. In fact, we understand that Pilot Razor Point even has what it takes to score extra points with football players.

It also comes to our attention that many coaches are fans of the Pilot Fineliner.

Intramural Touch Football nears playoffs

Mike Hemen

The Fall intramural Touch Football League has reached a climax. The three-week regular season is over, and the playoffs are about to begin.

The league consists of eight teams and is broken down into two four team divisions. The are the independent division and the fraternity division. Students not in a fraternity are allowed to play for a team in the independent division only. However, faculty members and staff are allowed to play for any team, regardless of which division they are in.

Each team plays five regular season games. They play the other three teams in their division and two of the four teams from the other division. Therefore not everybody's schedule is the same.

The playoff system is set up so that only the first and second place teams in each division make it to the finals. The two first place teams play the second place team in the other division. Then the winners meet for the championship. If two teams have the same record and are tied for a certain position in the standings, the team that did better in head-to-head competition gets that position in the standings.

This year the playoffs will begin on Thursday, October 11 at 3pm, with two games. In one game, Tau Kappa Epsilon, the defending league champions, will play Studs and Suds. TKE won the fraternity division with a 5-0 record while Studs and Suds was second in the independent division with a 3-2 record.

TKE outscored its opponents 108-20, and feature an assortment of good players. They are quarterbacked by Dennis Carey, who has three excellent ends to throw to in Dan Henry, Joe Bennet, and John Harris. Henry caught five touchdown passes, while Bennet caught four and Harris three.

The offense line of Lance Cleveland, Grant Crawley, and Joe Campbell is a good one, with a rare combination of strength and quickness. The running attack is led by Tony Damigo, who at 5-foot-4 and 115 pounds, keeps the opposition honest.

Studs and Suds is an experienced team with a tough defense but often inconsistent offense. "At times our offense works and at times it doesn't," said captain Dan Kezanes. They will be out to avenge a 6-2 loss to the TKE's earlier in the season.

The other game will feature

Sigma Tau Gamma, last year's runner-up, against the Jets. Sigma Tau Gamma was second in the Fraternity Division with a 2-2-1 mark, while the Jets won the Independent Division in a close race with Studs and Suds and the U-Players. Their record was 2-1-2.

Sigma Tau Gammas strong point is defense, where Jim Neimann and Dave Fuchs anchor a line that registered many quarterback sacks during the season. The defense allowed an average of only six points a game and gave up only four touchdowns all year. They are especially tough on the run.

While the defense has done well, the offense has been sluggish at times. They are led here by Bob Mertz, who is the teams leading receiver and interceptor. Don Schaller is steady at center and doubles as middle linebacker on defense. Sigma Tau Gamma would like to get by the Jets and get a rematch with the TKE's in the final to avenge last year's 30-24 championship game loss.

Their opponents, the Jets, are a quick team. Their best players are Orlander Bardge, Kenneth Benton, and Joel Frieson.

Bardge is center on offense and tackle on defense, Benton is their captain and quarterback, and Frieson is a tight end and linebacker. What kind of game should this one be? "I see the game with the Jets being real close," said Sigma Tau Gamma co-captain Don Schaller.

The winners of these two games will play for the championship on Tuesday, October 16 at 3:00. That, too, should be a good game.

An UMSL reunion as Huskies nip Mehlville

It was a reunion of sorts last Saturday at UMSL as Frank Tusinski's Ritenour Huskies soccer team met Chris Werstein's Mehlville Panthers in a preliminary to the UMSL-Evansville games.

Tusinski and Werstein are both familiar figures in UMSL soccer circles. Tusinski was an All-American goalkeeper for the undefeated 1973 UMSL national championship team. Werstein was an UMSL assistant coach that year.

In a game that featured two goals scored on penalty kicks, Ritenour edged Mehlville, 2-1.

The Huskies got on the scoreboard first at 26:54 as Junior striker Dennis Behlmann blasted one past Panther goalie Scott Dunajek. Senior Dave Mayfield assisted on the goal, the only one in the first half.

In the second half, both teams were thwarted on several scoring opportunities until Mehlville was awarded a penalty shot at 74:17.

Senior Co-Captain Chris Stocker beat Ritenour goalie Ken Dowling on the shot to tie the score at 1-1.

One minute and 34 seconds later, though, Ritenour scored on a penalty shot of its own by Senior Joe Murray. The Huskies held on for the victory.

The win boosted Ritenour's record to 7-3-3, while Mehlville dropped to 3-7. The series record between the two schools is now 2-2-1.

Soccer

The series between the two schools now stands at 1-1-1. UMSL beat UE in 1977, 1-0, and dropped a 2-1 decision to them last year.

UMSL travels to Cincinnati Saturday to battle Xavier University. The Rivermen's record now stands at 3-1-4.

Mona, I've finally decided where I'd like to make my career: State Farm!

State Farm? Great Plowshares! You're going to be a soil tiller. Living an agrarian lifestyle!

Come on now! State Farm is an insurance company.

Virgil, you're going to be a salesman? How could you? Even if they'd have you...

Mona, there's more to insurance than selling policies. Insurance is opportunity. State Farm is looking for people interested in a data processing career. I don't have a computer science degree but I do have six hours of data processing courses. So I qualify!

No way, Mona. State Farm is looking for men and women with any degree and six to nine hours of data processing courses. Of course, you've got to be interested in a data processing career.

Good grief! They're omnivorous.

No, but they're also interested in people in mathematics, accounting, law and actuarial sciences.

Incidentally, the pay is great!

Uh, Virgil, wear a clean pair of jeans to the interview.

DeRousse causes UMSL to capitalize on 'breaks'

Jeff Kuchno

For Jerry DeRousse, a Junior midfielder on UMSL's soccer squad who broke his leg last August in a pre-season game against Harris Stowe, the road to recovery has been a long and painful one.

But after his September 30 performance against SIU-Edwardsville, there's no doubt that the pre-broken leg DeRousse is back. And no one is happier than DeRousse, himself.

"I feel good now, because my body is finally functioning right," he said, "and I'm so hungry, I just want to play."

DeRousse, who prepared at Mehlville High School in South St. Louis County, came to UMSL in 1976. He was also recruited by Quincy College, but opted to go with UMSL.

Jerry DeRousse...

"I wanted to stay in town and play with the big schools," he said. "It's not that expensive to go here and with the money they gave me, it was the best place to come."

DeRousse was further convinced of that after his freshmen year, in which the Rivermen advanced to the NCAA Division II finals before bowing to New Haven 2-1 and Chico St. 3-2. DeRousse worked extremely hard and became a starter by midseason.

In 1977, DeRousse again started at midfield for the Rivermen. The season was not quite up to par with the previous one as UMSL brought in several freshmen and began making plans for the future.

Entering the 1978 season, DeRousse was included in those plans, but a leg-tackle by a Harris Stowe player in pre-season action almost ended his college career.

"He tried to slide tackle me and instead of getting the ball, he got my leg," explained DeRousse. "His foot came up and cracked both bones in my lower left leg. I've never been in so much pain."

The injury was particularly crushing for DeRousse, since he felt that he was at the height of his collegiate career.

"I was really ready to play ball last year, because I played for Kutis that summer," he said. "I got a lot of experience and I felt good."

'I was determined to come back after I got that cast off'

- Jerry DeRousse

But it was not to be as DeRousse saw his optimistic season turn into one he'd like to forget.

"I didn't know what to do," he said. "I knew I wouldn't play the rest of the year."

What he did do, was withdraw from school and lie around for four months with a cast on his leg. He re-enrolled at UMSL in January, and it wasn't until late February before he could start rehabilitation on his leg.

During the summer, DeRousse joined Nautilus' weight training program to strengthen his leg, and ran an average of 15 to 20 miles a week.

"I was determined to come back after I got that cast off," he said. "I had to come back in order to keep my scholarship, and a lot of people expected me to come back."

DeRousse was still apprehensive about his chances though. "I had my doubts," he said. "I had a lot of pain and frustration because I couldn't run well."

"A lot of nerves and muscle had to be cut, and at first, I could only run about a quarter-mile, because of the pain in my leg."

"I kept telling myself I could do it (come back), but I was afraid of messing myself up."

Unfortunately, that's exactly what he did. DeRousse received permission to play from the doctor the day before the first practice. During that first session, though, DeRousse became a little over-exuberant and pulled a thigh muscle.

"From not playing for two years, I jumped right into it (practice), and my leg just couldn't take it," he said. "I guess I wasn't as ready as I thought."

Because of the injury, DeRousse sat on the sidelines for most of the pre-season. He saw a bit of action in the opener against St. Louis U., but then sat out the next few games.

Since then, though, he has seen increasingly more action for the Rivermen, who are on the verge of demanding national recognition.

"Our main objective is to get to Miami (site of the NCAA Division II championships)," he said. "We just want to take one game at a time. We are just starting to get confidence."

DeRousse's main concern right now is to stay injury-free and continue to be an asset to the team.

He won't have to worry about the latter, though, because as long as Jerry DeRousse is patrolling the midfield for UMSL, their chances of seeing post-season action are excellent.
