Faculty Senate Delays Action on Student Representation

by Ron Brown, News Editor

The Faculty Senate in its April 10 meeting delayed consideration of a committee recommendation to seat student representatives, but approved another recommendation that establishes University policy on questionnaires of students and faculty.

On the former issue the Executive Committee recommended that the faculty endorse "its principle" student representation, that the Senate elect a committee of five students and five faculty members to consider the proposal and that the committee formed should prepare an amendment to the Faculty By-laws.

Two weeks ago Chancellor Bugg submitted a four-point proposal to the Senate Executive Committee that suggested students rather than faculty should fill the 30 seats added to the Faculty Senate for next year.

A motion that discussion be limited only to the "principle" of student representation was followed by a motion by Dr. Steve Kagan, professor of international business, to table the issue. His motion was seconded and then passed 21 to 16.

As a result further Senate action will be delayed until the next regular faculty meeting May 8.

The Executive Committee also recommended that the Senate adopt the policy of allowing only questionnaires to be voluntary and confidential, and that each questionnaire must have the specific permission of the Chancellor.

Dr. James Neal Friedman, chairman of the committee, said "private" questionnaires by student organizations and students who are completing courses requirements would not be affected.

Dr. Roy Gaea Burns, associate professor of history, moved that the word "anonymous" be added. The amendment failed.

In other action Chancellor James L. Bugg Jr. read several statements regarding "controversial" speakers that have been sent to the dean of each division and faculty members. Chancellor Bugg said the Board of Curators has asked each campus to inform them of any "controversial" speakers two weeks before the scheduled talk.

In a letter to the dean of each division the Chancellor wrote that he has requested, but has not received a clarification of "controversial" from the board. Consequently, the Chancellor in a recent letter to the faculty said that "it is my intention to inform the President (John C. Weaver) of all speakers.""We have an open speakers policy with the only exception that the speaker cannot violate state or federal law in his exercise of free speech," he said.

"A student group has to be recognized to ask for a speaker, but a non-recognized group may get a speaker, too, if it gets the written permission of the Chancellor. This is not a hindrance as I see it," he said.

Quorum Call Ends Constitution Debate in Council

by Matt Mattingly

The constitution was low on the Central Council's list of priorities last semester when the rules were amended by the faculty and students. The constitution's opponents, and a quorum call put an end to further maneuvering.

Vince Schoemehl, the faculty's constitutional committee, failed to procure the necessary three-fifths of the membership. After a debate as to whether the Council had the power to suspend Robert's Rules of Order, the members affirmed their right to change the by-laws as they saw fit, but opposed lowering the quorum.

A majority of the Council then approved a motion by Gall Goldstein to continue the meeting past the two-hour time limit, until four o'clock or until a quorum no longer present, whichever came first. Immediately the Council's tenacious quorum was removed by the departure of two of the constitution's opponents, and a quorum call put an end to further maneuvering.

The Missouri, Council, parliamentarian and a member of the constitutional committee, failed to procure the necessary three-fifths of the membership to remain. He then declared that they are opposing the constitution which provides for only three divisions: Day, Evening and Graduate Schools.

Though he mentioned no specific names, he criticized certain other Council members whom he characterized as attempting to "scuttle" the constitution because they dislike a particular proposal.

One of the departing opponents, Ken Krarr, said a current reporter, "Because of his position as representative, as the sole elected representative of Business, I feel it is my duty to oppose the constitution in toto."

The article on representation was approved at the March 25 Council meeting.

In other business, the Council endorsed the Executive Committee's nominee for the University's faculty representative to the Student Affairs Committee. Only real opposition was to the nomination of Cristian Anne Stanley, a second-semester freshman, to the Student Affairs Committee.

The opponent, Cindy Synnottles, engaged in a heated exchange with Barry Kaufmann, who was declared out of order by chairman Sam Bommarito; Kaufmann in effect accused Miss Synnottles of opposing Miss Stanley's nomination solely out of self-interest. The appointment was confirmed.

Mike Quinnan and Patrick Sehan were selected to the Urban Affairs Committee; Sam Hack, Michael L. Jones, John Paul Wolfe and Cristian Anne Stanley to the Student Affairs Committee; Randy Kohn and Neil Friedman to the Athletics

Poll Shows Varying Faculty Views

A recent Current poll among faculty members indicates a wide divergence of opinion concerning the seating of students on the faculty Senate. Fifty faculty members returned questionnaires; twenty-two Senate members and twenty-one non-members.

Twenty-two per cent favored seating 30 students with full voting powers, 58 per cent were opposed.

The next largest group, 18%, favored some other plan to seat students, which was not listed on the questionnaire.

The percentage breakdown was the following:

1) Opposed to the seating of students - 45% Senate Members: 4/22
2) In favor of the seating of 30 students with full voting powers - 22% Senate: 4/22
3) Against seating of 30 students without voting powers - 22% Senate: 1/22
4) For voting 30 students without voting powers - 4% Senate: 1/22
5) For sitting 30 students without full voting powers - 4% Senate: 1/22
6) For seating 30 students without voting powers - 0% Senate: 3/22
7) Fewer than 20 students with voting powers - 4% Senate: 2/22
8) Pass-Fail Plan

by Adrienne Beaudoin

Active debate among the faculty in recent weeks centered around the acceptance of a pass-fail grading system in a meeting last Friday.

The pass-fail system originated with the members of the Central Council Articulation Committee, a student-faculty committee in the College of Arts and Sciences. A large amount of discussion in the committee preceded the submission of the proposal to the faculty.

The majority of the faculty members agreed with the pass-fail system in principle; however, the applicable details generated much discussion. In a two-hour debate, the following guidelines were established.

The dividing line between the pass and the fail will be the D-F line. A pass will be given for an A, B, C, and D and a fail will be given for an F. Argument preceding the vote centered around the dividing line at C-D. It was decided that because a D is a passing grade, if the grade was reduced to C-, there should be no change in the present system but merely a substitution of a pass or fail for the letter grade.

The pass will carry no numerical value toward the grade point but it will count as hours credit. A fail will count toward the grade point and the course will have to be repeated with credit.

The faculty expanded the proposal by the Articulation Committee by allowing the pass-fail to be used in fulfilling general education requirements with the exception of the language requirement. Due to the serial nature of the languages, a minimum grade of C is required to enter the following semester and the faculty felt that a pass would not suffice.

Pass-fail may be taken in all areas except a student's major discipline and in courses stipulated by the department. A total of 24 hours may be taken on the pass-fail system out of the 120 required for graduation. There is no limit on the number of pass-fail elective students a student may take in a semester.

A student will register in the normal fashion and must declare his intention to take a course on the pass-fail system during the first four weeks of the semester. Likewise, a student may also return to the A, B, C, D, F grading system during this time.

Much discussion followed the reading of the guideline that the professor not be told which students will be on the pass-fail option. The faculty decided that, to avoid a double standard for the professor, he will not be informed of the student's standing. He will submit his letter grade to the admissions office and the computer will automatically convert the grade to the admissions office and grade to the pass-fail system.

History Club Vice-Regent Glaydon Wm presents Chancellor James L. Bugg, after the former's acceptance of the pass-fail system at a meeting last Friday, with an endowment for the history department. The endowment was presented by the club, Vincent Schoemehl (left) and club faculty advisor Dr. Arthur Shaffer look on. The presentation was made at a buffet dinner in the Chancellor's honor last Saturday evening.

photo by M. J. Omds
Editorials

No Time for Silence

It is up to the students at UMSL whether or not they want to be represented in a significant manner on the Faculty Senate next year. Not that their backing will be the deciding factor in determining whether or not students will be seated on the Senate, but students must realize that without their support, any plan submitted without their support would be only a token measure. The current system that token representation is barely better than no representation at all; therefore, the seating of students should be a significant plan from the start.

As yet, there is no indication that the faculty favors only token representation; indeed, if a recent poll is accurate, 36% of the faculty respondents would favor the seating of students, 34% would neither favor nor oppose, and another 30% at least favor the seating of students. We believe that this is a reasonably accurate reflection of the general sentiment among faculty members, and that the Senate's decision to table discussion of the Chancellor's proposal until the next meeting is not an expression of antipathy to the ideas of student representation as it is a desire to gain more time in which to study and probably modify the Chancellor's plan.

But it must also be pointed out that a sizable group (16%, according to the current survey) including five Senate members, do not favor the seating of students at all. This means that when the proposal is taken under consideration at the next Senate meeting, there will be some significant opposition to any plan for seating students, with or without privileges.

We feel that while this opposition could be harmful, even more damaging would certainly be the silence of students, in the debates that will take place in the Senate meetings. It is not unreasonable to assume that student opinion will be considered. What could better strengthen the hand of those who are against student representation and hurt the position of those faculty members favoring the seating of students than silence on the part of students? If the students here do not take an active part in the proposal, the Faculty Senate is in three weeks.

The Current urges all students, individually or in groups, to talk to their teachers concerning this important matter. We urge that the organizations draft proposals or position policy in support of representation of students on the Senate, and send these to the various academic departments. Nothing could be more detrimental right now than an ominous silence on the part of the students.

The Pass-Fail System

The recent decision by the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences to institute an optional Pass-Fail grading system for its students is another small step towards widening the scope of a liberal arts education at UMSL.

Under the system, a student may choose up to 24 hours (or 8 courses) in the liberal arts or natural sciences (excluding languages) or other courses. A student may not select a Pass-Fail course in his major or core curriculum. The student must pass his courses but must not give back to the proposal, then it is entirely possible that only a token measure, or even no measure at all, would be implemented.

While the Senate proposal, if finally approved, may even be a token measure, it is a step towards the realization of a broader and more comprehensive education system. The Senate proposal, if finally approved, may even be a token measure, or even no measure at all, would be implemented.

But even if the proposal is not adopted, it is still a step towards a broader and more comprehensive education system. The Senate proposal, if finally approved, may even be a token measure, or even no measure at all, would be implemented.

Dear Editor,

In a recent letter to the Current (April 10) Gwendolyn Moore, citing the need for separateness on the UMSL Campus, I wish to state that I have no objection to an Institute for Black Studies on this or any other campus, but I am opposed to my tax money being used to create a symbol of White vs. Black Separatism, for a black man's segregation is no better than a white man's. And, in an attempt to salvage his wounded ego, isn't the black student using the tools of the white racist to desegregate One Civil War in this country was devastating enough. We do not need another. The end, we are all neither white, nor black, nor brown, nor yellow, but fellow-Americans whose goal should be to create a better land for everyone.

As I view the records of the negroes, I am deeply shocked by the conditions that have existed and that continue to exist, but the negroes are not the only victims of the system. Our nation has always been an example of "have-nots" who have had to overcome black poverty, ignorance, oppression, and discrimination; and we Americans did not arrive at our present status automatically, but only as the result of hard work, self-sacrifice, and interest in our fellow-sufferers. I have numerous colored friends who have the advantage of a better education, a better social background, even a more complimentary economic level than I, but I feel no rancor or bitterness towards them, but only admiration for what they have accomplished, and my goal is to emulate, not discredit them. Shouldn't the black student feel similarly about the white man? Yes, we are in the midst of a social revolution and the necessary improvements will not take place easily or overnight, but the atmosphere is changing; and, in the past, the Negro was rid of the social status imposed by his efforts alone.

If the black student has a desire for an Institute for Black Studies, well and good, I have no wish to challenge this desire, but let the Institute be created as a symbol of good-will, not bigotry, and let it be accessible to anyone who may wish to attend or listen. To quote the motto of the Society of St. Christopher: "It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness."

Finally, I have one personal request to make to each of my colored friends and that is: "Get the chip off your shoulder." I can forget the fact that I am black and you are black, but can you?

Matthew Hale Night-School Student

Letters: Black Studies and the "All-Purpose" Building

In reference to the April 10 letter by Gwendolyn Moore, citing the need for separateness on the UMSL Campus, I wish to state that I have no objection to an Institute for Black Studies on this or any other campus, but I am opposed to my tax money being used to create a symbol of White vs. Black Separatism, for a black man's segregation is no better than a white man's. And, in an attempt to salvage his wounded ego, isn't the black student using the tools of the white racist to desegregate One Civil War in this country was devastating enough. We do not need another. The end, we are all neither white, nor black, nor brown, nor yellow, but fellow-Americans whose goal should be to create a better land for everyone.

As I view the records of the negroes, I am deeply shocked by the conditions that have existed and that continue to exist, but the negroes are not the only victims of the system. Our nation has always been an example of "have-nots" who have had to overcome black poverty, ignorance, oppression, and discrimination; and we Americans did not arrive at our present status automatically, but only as the result of hard work, self-sacrifice, and interest in our fellow-sufferers. I have numerous colored friends who have the advantage of a better education, a better social background, even a more complimentary economic level than I, but I feel no rancor or bitterness towards them, but only admiration for what they have accomplished, and my goal is to emulate, not discredit them. Shouldn't the black student feel similarly about the white man? Yes, we are in the midst of a social revolution and the necessary improvements will not take place easily or overnight, but the atmosphere is changing; and, in the past, the Negro was rid of the social status imposed by his efforts alone.

If the black student has a desire for an Institute for Black Studies, well and good, I have no wish to challenge this desire, but let the Institute be created as a symbol of good-will, not bigotry, and let it be accessible to anyone who may wish to attend or listen. To quote the motto of the Society of St. Christopher: "It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness."

Finally, I have one personal request to make to each of my colored friends and that is: "Get the chip off your shoulder." I can forget the fact that I am black and you are black, but can you?

Matthew Hale Night-School Student

Dear Editor,

In a recent letter to the Current (April 10) Gwendolyn Moore makes a fine case for studies of African and Afro-American culture, but I have to disagree that such a school should be for blacks only.

Each program of study could be made to give blacks a sense of cultural identity, but identity is half the problem-the other half is communication. Cultural separazation can only lead to a continuation of our two separate societies, each ignorant of the other and bound by the narrow circle of itself. The channels of interracial communication are bad enough now. Why cut them entirely?

If a strong case could be made for requiring all of us to know at least something about Marcus Garvey and Malcolm X. This would not produce 200,000,000 instant soul brokers, but it might make us more appreciative of the values of others, before we really do have an Al Jolson Memorial Cafeteria.

Sincerely,

Michael Krueger

Dear Editor,

As you know, I have been working for the budgeting of deserving organizations, and for academic change in particular. By deserving, I mean those organizations which can prove by presentation of an itemized budget, report of past and next year's activities, and measure of self-sufficiency that they are entitled to university support.

I have been cheered by a letter from Dean Davenport to student organization heads in which he called on all organizations which wanted to be funded, to submit budget requests by March 10. I was further cheered by a talk with Dean Davenport in which he urged me that if I desired to be budgeted, to achieve this end by means of a strong, well-prepared budget request. I compiled with this -- my budget was in Dean Davenport's office on March 10. However, my hearing with the budget committee, namely Chancellor Berg, Dean Eckeloff, and Sam Bommarito, was never realized. In a talk with Sam Bommarito, he intimated that only those organizations which had been budgeted in the past would be budgeted in the future. In other words, CIBUN and all other organizations which previously funded were to have no hope in being funded. I met, also, with Dean Eckeloff and he promised me a hearing within a week, but this too never became a reality.

In view of these events, I cannot help but believe that my efforts and resources have been futile. At this point, explanation of background is forthcoming, and as President of the Council on International Relations and United Nations Affairs (CIRUNA), I have been directly faced with the acute awareness of the dilemmas presented in the U.S. Model United Nations (MMUN) was to be in February, so I began working for funds in September.

(Continued on page 3)

In the Midwest, I was able to raise the $500 we needed for the MMUN last year, so I did not expect to encounter any difficulties. I sought help from Dean Eickhoff, while the CIRUNA representative to Central Council sought help from Dean Brockhaus, who was then able to raise the necessary money for us, so that we should have to raise the $50 ourselves this year. In Central Council, there was no authority to make any expenditures as a student body governmental government had been elected in June, 1966. (It is curious, however, that the following expenditures of student government monies were authorized by Dean Eickhoff):

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11/7/64</td>
<td>7 cheerleader sweaters</td>
<td>$36.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/20/68</td>
<td>1 USSSL club letters</td>
<td>$24.32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/7/68</td>
<td>21 yd. wine floral skirt</td>
<td>$16.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12/5/68</td>
<td>4 chbr. pompoms</td>
<td>$16.57</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The letting of this money is especially interesting in the light that the Athletic Department, which had full authority of the cheerleaders (and rightly so) had been given 38.5% (or $25,220) of the total 1968-69 student activities budget (a surprisingly small amount for student government out of student money), there remaining enough capital to help us.

I believe that, in all true justice to those who may disagree with me, that I bring up opposing viewpoints. The major disagreements that the university should not have made the 1968-69 MMUN, but has. It is maintained that in keeping an independent treasury, that an organization acquires "true" organization status and also receiving organization unity. To answer, it is pre-emptory to consider, firstly, if such that it can host donut and bake sales, beer blasts and "chubies". (Or, it is which hosts panels on "an inquiry about China", research projects on the Middle East, or mock U.N.?...). Do different organizations have different personalities? (Should the School of Arts and Sciences hold can and charge half again as much or the prices you are asking? Personally, while we ate we couldn't help but feel that we were paying for the salaries of all the students you have hired.

Frankly, a McDonald's size hamburger for $0.35 is rather ridiculous when we can walk one more block and buy two ham­

2. We let you put all of the things on your Raft Burger which are not part of our menu. Our Raft Burger and soft drink costs are half again as big. Therefore, it would not be possible to afford the prices you are asking.

3. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

4. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

5. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

6. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

7. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

8. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

9. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

10. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

11. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

12. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

13. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

14. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

15. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

16. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

17. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

18. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

19. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

20. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

21. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

22. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

23. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

24. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

25. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

26. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

27. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

28. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

29. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

30. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

31. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

32. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

33. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

34. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

35. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

36. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

37. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

38. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

39. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

40. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

41. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

42. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

43. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

44. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

45. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

46. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

47. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

48. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

49. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.

50. We're almost 1/4 mile closer than McDonald's.
Weaver Predicts Building Needs

University of Missouri President John C. Weaver told the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday, April 9, that projected building needs for all four campuses in the system over the next five years would be $536 million. Weaver defended both the capital improvements and operating budget requests for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

At least $114.4 million is needed simply to keep existing facilities on the Columbia, St. Louis, Kansas City and Rolla campuses in operation, Weaver said.

In second priority, he said, is $206 million asked for new buildings to provide "critically needed classrooms, library, research, offices and medical facilities."

Central Council

(Continued from page 1)

Committee; Bob Brickley and Dr. Charles Smyrniotis to the International Student Affairs Committee; Bev Horgen and Sue Susler to the Curriculum Committee; Bev Brickley and Brady Smyrniotis to the International Student Affairs Committee; Dr. Charles Smyrniotis to the Curriculum Committee; and Don Stank and Herb Graceland to the University Library Committee.

The representative of the Kappa Delta, Karl Van Mill, petitioned for readmission to the Central Council; he had been previously dropped from the roll due to three unexcused absences. He explained that he had missed two meetings in a row, but the third time, his alternate couldn't fill the meeting.

A motion by Gail Goldstein to restore Van Mill was seconded by Sue Antalick and unanimously approved by the Council.

You keep flunking your best subject?

Think it over, over coffee.
The Think Drink.

APC Conducts Blood Drive Monday

The Missouri Chapter of the American Red Crossthrough the efforts of Alpha Phi Omega, will once again hold its annual blood drive on campus Monday, April 21, from 8:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., at Benton Hall Lounge, Room 107.

During the past three years, APO has had success in the program and the blood contributions made have been instrumental in filling part of the needs of the St. Louis area.

Club Meeting

A. J. Wilson, Director of the Human Resources in University City will speak to the Urban Affairs Club, April 18, at 12:30 in room 107, Benton Hall. Those interested in joining the Urban Affairs Club are urged to attend.

College Students, Preferably married Two Evenings and Sat. Earn $50-$100 per week Apply 8600 Delmar, Suite 11, 10 a.m. Sat.

“Joan…this is kind of personal but do you use tampax tampoons?”

“Wouldn’t use anything else…they’re convenient, easier to use, comfortable, and they don’t show.”

“I guess that’s why you can wear all those fantastic clothes all the time. Wish I could.”

“If that means you don’t use tampax tampoons, you ought to give them a try. But don’t just take my word for it…ask Ann and Jane and well, millions of girls all over the U.S. would tell you the same thing.”

“That many, huh?”

“Probably more.”
Inconsistent Performance of Roses

by Robert Wright Miller

The Subject Was Roses, Frank Gilroy's award-winning drama of family strife during the post-World War II era is a play that leaves something to be desired. It opened in 1964 with a slow start on Broadway, and has since reached the American public through touring companies, community theatres, and film.

Gilroy's play explores the psychological behavior patterns and personality clashes of the three members of the Cleary family, a Catholic middle class, New York couple and their twenty-one-year old son who has just returned from overseas. It is a difficult play to perform, and consequently, represented many challenging problems for the University Players this past weekend.

Roses is set in the Bronx apartment of John Cleary, an aging coffee buyer who is caught up in the droned of a boring, meaningless life. He lives with his wife Nettie, a delicate, very feminine woman who remains strong as a constant and although he sometimes played with less emotion than Miss Lacey, he handled the comedy of the play fairly well, she was prettier; a birthday which Sam Hack was wooden as John Cleary (Michael Jones) "plays the Palace" in the recent UP production of The Subject Was Roses.

Lerner and Loewe's Brigadoon Here

This year's second major musical production on the UMSL campus will be Lerner and Loewe's tremendously successful fantasy, Brigadoon. It will be presented April 25, 26 and 27 in room 105 Benton Hall at 8:00 p.m. The story of Brigadoon is as beautiful and enchanting as it is fantastic. It tells of two Americans, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, who make a strange discovery while in Scotland on a hunting trip. They stumble on the town of Brigadoon which has had a spell cast on it which enables it to appear only once every hundred years. The town's people end in an exciting choreographed chase. Among the popular Lerner and Loewe songs which were inspired by this story are "Almost Like Being in Love," "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "Heather on the Hill," "From This Day On," and "There, But For You, Go I."

The plot is complicated by Tommy's falling in a resident of the town, Fiona, and by a triangle of unrequited love among the townspeople which ends in an exciting chase through the story scenes, if he would have used it more often.

Moonlight Cruise

Tan Kappa Delta will sponsor a 2 1/2 hour cruise on the steamboat Huck Finn April 26. Music will be provided by "The End of the Night," songs and set-ups will be free. The riverboat is scheduled to leave at 9:00 p.m. The charge is $6 per couple.

April 20-26

IS

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

Want to expand your personal library at great savings? Beginning Thursday, April 17, the Campus Bookstore is having a sale on a variety of hardback books covering a wide range of interesting topics. Books that were regularly priced as high as $15.00 are now marked anywhere from $9.99 to $7.95. Come in and see what you can find.

Campus Bookstore

SAVE AT CHECKER OIL

9150 Focesant Rd.

between the two north entrances JA 2-8199

MAJOR BRAND GAS

269

31

CARS WAXED WITH SIMONIZ PASTE WAX

5.95

WIN A SIMONIZ WAX

and wash with this ad and 10 gal. min.

Drawing held weekly

name:

stu. #

April 17, 1969

UMSL CURRENT

Page 5
Students, Faculty Observe Marine Biology Firsthand in Florida

by David Crain

Marine and tropical biology is a whole different world from what is found in the Midwest, and during semester break, seven UMSL students and faculty went to observe this world for themselves. The opportunity to visit the Florida Keys was one of the more southerly of the UMSL facilities available.

The trip was organized through the Biology Club, and was the result of extensive preparation. In addition to the trip, all the participants underwent a treatment called the groundwork for later observation. Then, at the start of the trip, they assembled in Florida with tents and supplies according to plan.

The first stop was a campsite just south of Miami. During their stay, they made trips to workboats from the University of Miami to observe collection of marine specimens. From Miami, they moved to the Everglades, where for two days they occupied themselves with extensive hiking, bird and plant study. The last three days of the trip were spent on Bahia Honda, where they studied the community of plants which develop in turtle grass, the relatively shallow water, and then rented boats to investigate a coral reef five miles off shore. During the trip out to the reef, which took place in heavy seas, the group was provided with an unexpected new experience: seasickness.

Some specimens were brought back, but there are problems in this area of salt-water environment. Difficult to maintain, and specimens of many types are difficult to preserve. (In other cases, such as that of the six-foot barracuda and the twelve-foot alligator encountered, size and temperament of the specimen can be a limiting factor.) This difficulty in collecting and keeping specimens is not as unfortunate as it might seem, though, said Dr. Muriel Babcock, since even if they could be brought back, they would not be able, alone, to convey the interworkings of the ecological community. This important part of the field of biology can only be properly appreciated through first-hand observation. This does not mean, however, that on-the-spot investigation is always appropriate. A case in point is Dr. George Babcock's near-miss encounter with a Portuguese man-of-war, Dr. Moyer, who had experienced the creature's venom on a previous trip, described it as similar to being electrocuted and beat on with sledgehammers at the same time, and everyone considered this information more than sufficient.

In a modified form of specimen-collecting, one of the students in the group spent some time catching and cleaning a number of fish, only to have them stolen during the night by some of the rascoons, which seemed to be everywhere and get into everything. Blue crabs, which proved too delicious to bring back, were also "collected."

Another experiment in seafood, a large sea-conch, did not work out as well. When properly prepared and served, conch is a tasty dish, but the limited facilities available to the campers produced a result with a taste and consistency similar to that of rubber bands. A delicacy which requires less careful preparation, raw sea-urchin over- was available, and comes highly recommended by some members of the group. Others, however, were not so enthusiastic.

Michelle Gelbert, a biology major and first-semester junior, judged the overall trip as an extremely well-spent week. She described the atmosphere of the trip as very relaxed, contributing to, rather than detracting from, the study that was the objective of the trip, and ascribed this to the alteration of the student-teacher relationship from one of superior-subordinate to one of equality between the members of the group.

Plans for another trip, which will be open to all interested persons, are existent, but still unformed. Finances are a major consideration, since expenses are met entirely by the participants, but viewing the enthusiasm generated by the trip two weeks ago, it seems unlikely that even this barrier will prove insurmountable.

An Evening With

MARVIN GAYE

At

The Washington University Field House
Located On Big Bend At Forsyth

Saturday, April 26, 1969
8:00 p.m.

Tickets Are Now On Sale
At: The Woman's Building and Wohl Center on the WV Campus
At $5, $4 and $3

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY STUDENT UNION
Presents

Go to ANOTHER PLACE

Tired of Gobbled Dinners before class? Sick of hamburgers you can barely see?
Go to ANOTHER PLACE and get a Big Barge Burger. (Better bring a friend if you don't have a big appetite, so he can finish it. If you don't have a friend come to 8406 Natural Bridge and meet one!)

Go To ANOTHER PLACE

Tm. Reg.

The First Stalker

also second surprise feature at LOLO ART THEATRE
DeBalivere at Waterman
Students $1.25 VO 3-1840

CONTACT WITH THIS NEW EXPERIMENTAL WORLD MAY SHOCK YOU OUT IN TIME MAGAZINE, OCT. 25, 1967
SUFFICIENTLY PERMISSIVE JUST TO SIT BACK AND INHALE, IT IS A GAS!

STOLEN! You Are What You Eat

FOR ADULTS

SLAKE-EM RIVERMEN

NIGHT STUDENTS

St. Louis, Mo.
Last Thursday at Forestwood Field, the Rivermen came within a hair of upsetting a very solid St. Louis University team. In the fourth inning Tom Bader stepped to the plate with Gary Skinner on third and nobody out. In the scoreless game, Bader proceeded to send Billikin pitcher Pete Anderson's first pitch to deep right center where only a great catch by St. Louis center fielder Ron Diedkmann prevented Tom from recording the second UMSL home run. The only damage inflicted by the Rivermen in the fourth. By contrast, when their chance came, the Bills succeeded in opening the gate as they cashed in on two errors and a passed ball to tie the game in the seventh inning on only two hits. They added another three in the ninth to finish off the Rivermen 8-3. Tim Krull was the hard luck loser for UMSL and Billikin John McElhinney, who worked the last three innings, allowing only one hit, was credited with the win.

The previous Tuesday at Greenville, Illinois, was a day of firsts for the Rivermen. Gary Leindemacher became the first batter to tap the Red and Gold at the plate. Bill Coats threw the first Rivermen pitch, Gary Skinner contributed the first hit and crossed the plate with the first UMSL run while John Cova came through with the first Rivermen RBI and home run. The Rivermen jumped to a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning only to be blunted by the free-swinging Panthers 18-9. Bill Coats went five innings for UMSL and shouldered the loss while Tom McCall went six innings for Greenville to take the win.

Of course, in keeping with the spirit of the day, it was also the first UMSL loss.
Golfers Win First Four

Off to a swinging start, the UMSL golf squad recorded victories for their first four matches on April 6 and 7. The six-man squad defeated Principia, Wheaton, Westminster and Greenville on their home course at Creve Coeur Golf Club. The tournament used a three-point system where a point is awarded for the lowest score on the first nine holes, the lowest on the second nine, and lowest total score. The points of each golfer are totaled and result as a team score. Ties are awarded 1 1/2 each.

In the second home match April 11, UMSL posted two victories in a trimmer as Greenville fell 18-0 and Westminster 12-6. Tom O'Hare and Doug Solloy of UMSL shot 76 to share medalist honors on the par 70 course.

The tennis Rivermen absorbed their third straight loss April 12 at the hands of Parsons College 8-1. In the three matches UMSL has won only two sets while losing 24. The doubles team of Bob Piggott and Mike Lehman won UMSL's only set against Parsons while Dan Brindley won his singles set in the 8-1 loss to St. Louis U. The other losses were 8-0 to Washington U.

As of now the tennis team consists of lettermen Don Brindley, Kevin Daugherty and Mike Lehman, transfers Bob Piggott (from Forest Park JC) and Nick Buxton (from the University of Miami), sophomore Lou Mudrovic and freshman Ken Rentz.

Tennis coach Dr. Carl Brummett has three new boys coming out but they will have to heat up one of the first seven. Dr. Brummett feels that the Rivermen have too many tough opponents in their schedule. He believes, "We're stronger than last year but we don't know if we're strong enough." Brummett said that Parsons, St. Louis University and Washington University would be UMSL's toughest opponents.

Their part of the season is over except for a rematch with St. Louis U. April 30. The coach feels that the Rivermen have a good chance against Millikin and Concordia, both of whom they will play twice.

UMSL's next tennis match will be tomorrow at Westminster. After playing at Concordia Tuesday, the Rivermen will travel to Springfield, Missouri for matches against Drury and Southwest Missouri State. They will return home to face St. Louis U. April 30 at Forest Park.

Netmen Lose Third Straight

The tennis Rivermen absorbed their third straight loss April 12 at the hands of Parsons College 8-1. In the three matches UMSL has won only two sets while losing 24. The doubles team of Bob Piggott and Mike Lehman won UMSL's only set against Parsons while Dan Brindley won his singles set in the 8-1 loss to St. Louis U. The other losses were 8-0 to Washington U.

As of now the tennis team consists of lettermen Don Brindley, Kevin Daugherty and Mike Lehman, transfers Bob Piggott (from Forest Park JC) and Nick Buxton (from the University of Miami), sophomore Lou Mudrovic and freshman Ken Rentz.

Tennis coach Dr. Carl Brummett has three new boys coming out but they will have to heat up one of the first seven. Dr. Brummett feels that the Rivermen have too many tough opponents in their schedule. He believes, "We're stronger than last year but we don't know if we're strong enough." Brummett said that Parsons, St. Louis University and Washington University would be UMSL's toughest opponents.

Their part of the season is over except for a rematch with St. Louis U. April 30. The coach feels that the Rivermen have a good chance against Millikin and Concordia, both of whom they will play twice.

UMSL's next tennis match will be tomorrow at Westminster. After playing at Concordia Tuesday, the Rivermen will travel to Springfield, Missouri for matches against Drury and Southwest Missouri State. They will return home to face St. Louis U. April 30 at Forest Park.

Baseballers Tie Harris; Game To Be Continued

Timely hitting by rightfielder John Cox and strong pitching by Bill Coats enabled the baseball Rivermen to gain a 6-4 tie with Harris Teacher's College April 11 in a game that was called after nine innings because of darkness. Cox had a perfect day at the plate with three hits, two walks, a stolen base and a run scored, while Coats turned in UMSL's first nine-inning pitching performance.

Harris jumped off to an early lead with four runs in the first inning. The Rivermen scored a run in the second and then tied the game with three runs in the third. After Gary Leander walked and Cox singled, Gary Skinner doubled home one run and Tim Easter followed with a single that scored two.

UMSL took the lead in the fourth when with two out Leander doubled and Cox singled. Harris caught up with the help of an error and passed ball in the fifth. The Rivermen took over the lead in the seventh when Bob Abeln tripled and Leo Kraberg singled home home.

Cox led off the ninth with a walk on four pitches, Skinner sacrificed and Randy Vest singled. The game was called due to darkness.

Sports Calendar

Thurs. April 17
Golf vs. Wash. U. & St. Louis U. Away

Thurs. April 17
Baseball vs. Concordia Home

Fri. April 18
Tennis vs. Westminster Away

Sat. April 19
Baseball vs. McKendree (2) Away

Mon. April 21
Baseball vs. Southeast Missouri Away

Tues. April 21
Tennis vs. Concordia Away

Tues. April 21
Baseball vs. Southeast Missouri Away

Tues. April 21
Golf vs. St. Louis U. Away

Fri. April 25
Baseball vs. Washington University Away

Fri. April 25
Golf vs. SIU-Edwardsville Away

Fri. April 25
Tennis vs. Drury Away

Sat. April 26
Tennis vs. Missouri S. W. Away

Sat. April 26
Tennis vs. Southeast Missouri Away

Tues. April 29
Baseball vs. Central Methodist (2) Home

Tues. April 29
Golf vs. Wash. U. & St. Louis U. Away

Wed. April 30
Tennis vs. St. Louis University Home

Baseballers Tie Harris; Game To Be Continued

Timely hitting by rightfielder John Cox and strong pitching by Bill Coats enabled the baseball Rivermen to gain a 6-4 tie with Harris Teacher's College April 11 in a game that was called after nine innings because of darkness. Cox had a perfect day at the plate with three hits, two walks, a stolen base and a run scored, while Coats turned in UMSL's first nine-inning pitching performance.

Harris jumped off to an early lead with four runs in the first inning. The Rivermen scored a run in the second and then tied the game with three runs in the third. After Gary Leander walked and Cox singled, Gary Skinner doubled home one run and Tim Easter followed with a single that scored two.

UMSL took the lead in the fourth when with two out Leander doubled and Cox singled. Harris caught up with the help of an error and passed ball in the fifth. The Rivermen took over the lead in the seventh when Bob Abeln tripled and Leo Kraberg singled home home.

Cox led off the ninth with a walk on four pitches, Skinner sacrificed and Randy Vest singled. The game was called due to darkness.

Free Doughnuts All Week

At ANOTHER PLACE Tm. Reg.

To show our appreciation for the warm welcome UMSL gave us the past two weeks, ANOTHER PLACE is giving away Big Fresh Doughnuts Monday thru Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. with each drink purchased.

It took guts to eat a Big Barge Burger prepared by Bill Coats and strong pitching by Bill Coats enabled the baseball Rivermen to gain a 6-4 tie with Harris Teacher's College April 11 in a game that was called after nine innings because of darkness. Cox had a perfect day at the plate with three hits, two walks, a stolen base and a run scored, while Coats turned in UMSL's first nine-inning pitching performance.

Harris jumped off to an early lead with four runs in the first inning. The Rivermen scored a run in the second and then tied the game with three runs in the third. After Gary Leander walked and Cox singled, Gary Skinner doubled home one run and Tim Easter followed with a single that scored two.

UMSL took the lead in the fourth when with two out Leander doubled and Cox singled. Harris caught up with the help of an error and passed ball in the fifth. The Rivermen took over the lead in the seventh when Bob Abeln tripled and Leo Kraberg singled home home.

Cox led off the ninth with a walk on four pitches, Skinner sacrificed and Randy Vest singled. The game was called due to darkness. The game will be continued at a future date.

"It really fills the bill."

"My kind of place? Of course McDonald's is. You see, I don't have too much time so a McDonald's hamburger is a convenient meal for me. Besides, on a secretary's salary it really fills the bill. So naturally, McDonald's is my kind of place."

It's a McDonald's kind of place.

To show our appreciation for the warm welcome UMSL gave us the past two weeks, ANOTHER PLACE is giving away Big Fresh Doughnuts Monday thru Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. with each drink purchased.

It took guts to eat a Big Barge Burger prepared by a classmate who had never cooked before. But you came in ever-increasing numbers and we became faster and sold fewer burnt Big Barge Burgers and fewer cold puddles. (If you don't know what a Paddle is, come to 8406 Natural Bridge and we'll show you).

Today we are proud of both our 100% student help and our food and grateful to UMSL.

Go To ANOTHER PLACE

Tm. Reg.

Free Doughnuts All Week

At ANOTHER PLACE Tm. Reg.

To show our appreciation for the warm welcome UMSL gave us the past two weeks, ANOTHER PLACE is giving away Big Fresh Doughnuts Monday thru Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. with each drink purchased.

It took guts to eat a Big Barge Burger prepared by a classmate who had never cooked before. But you came in ever-increasing numbers and we became faster and sold fewer burnt Big Barge Burgers and fewer cold puddles. (If you don't know what a Paddle is, come to 8406 Natural Bridge and we'll show you).

Today we are proud of both our 100% student help and our food and grateful to UMSL.

Go To ANOTHER PLACE

Tm. Reg.

Free Doughnuts All Week

At ANOTHER PLACE Tm. Reg.

To show our appreciation for the warm welcome UMSL gave us the past two weeks, ANOTHER PLACE is giving away Big Fresh Doughnuts Monday thru Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. with each drink purchased.

It took guts to eat a Big Barge Burger prepared by a classmate who had never cooked before. But you came in ever-increasing numbers and we became faster and sold fewer burnt Big Barge Burgers and fewer cold puddles. (If you don't know what a Paddle is, come to 8406 Natural Bridge and we'll show you).

Today we are proud of both our 100% student help and our food and grateful to UMSL.

Go To ANOTHER PLACE

Tm. Reg.