Reconsideration of ROTC Report Sought

By Cindy Smyrniotes, Current Staff Writer

At the last meeting of President Ed Farrell, the Central Council Sunday passed a motion that the Faculty Senate reconsider its recent recommendations on a Reserve Officers Training Corps report on the program.

The motion also included the Council's endorsement of a basically pro-ROTC Student-Faculty ad hoc committee report on the program.

The Senate April 9 voted that no further credit be awarded for ROTC coursework, that commissioning ceremonies be excluded from graduation exercises, and that the present transfer program with Washington University be continued.

If the ROTC program at Washington University, now under review, is discontinued the Senate voted to seek to provide some kind of program with the Department of Defense paying all costs. The report endorsed by the Council would permit the use of on-campus facilities with the university paying administrative costs and the federal government paying for facilities. The report recommends that up to 12 hours of credit be allowed for ROTC courses after being reviewed by accrediting committees. It also includes the provision that ROTC instructors be given some sort of faculty status, a section omitted by the Faculty Senate.

The joint agreement upon which both the Council and the Senate is that commissioning ceremonies be left out of graduation.

Three Federal representatives John Heithaus, the sponsor of the motion, told the Council that they felt that the recent report on ROTC had shown overwhelming student support for a program here. In the poll, 75 per cent of the students and 65 per cent of the faculty voted that the university should make ROTC available "in some form" to students.

"The Senate," Heithaus asserted, "decided the issue on ideological grounds completely, disregarding the opinions of the students as expressed in the referendum." In other business, president Barry Kaufman announced his intentions of tightening up the committee structure of the Council. He stressed that "this year it was too hazardous to the extent that an American" besides John Perry to discuss what he feels about the scheduling of the course, going to Columbia to see presidential candidates known to their respective deans no later than May 1. Election will be held no later than May 15. Student representation cannot begin this year, however, since the Board of Curators will receive the bylaws for approval no earlier than June.

The number of students serving on Senate committees would be expanded under the proposed bylaw revisions. Students would be included on five committees on which there are currently no student members.

The By-laws Committee on Appointments, Tenure, and Promotion would be restricted to seniors and graduate students. Other committees to have student members for the first time would be the Committee on Committees, the Committee on Faculty Research and Publication, the Committee on Welfare and Grievances.

The Committee on Welfare and Grievances would replace the present committee which handles faculty grievances only. The new committee would consist of six full professors holding tenure appointments and six students with the students and faculty members serving on separate subcommittees.

Each subcommittee would hear grievances from its own constituency unless one or more persons involved in the presentation of the grievance requests a hearing before the whole committee. Faculty removal cases and cases involving tenure rights would be heard only by the faculty subcommittee. Matters which pertain to several segments of the university community would be heard by the entire committee.

Student membership on four committees would be increased. The Committee on Curriculum and Instruction, the Committee on Admissions and Student Aid, the Committee on University Library, and the Committee on Student Affairs would each have two additional student members, bringing the number of students on these committees to four.

Student representation on the four remaining Senate committees would be unchanged. The only committee on which student membership would not be assured would be the Executive Committee, which would consist of the chancellor and a representative of each college, with the chairmen of the standing committees.

Student membership on the committees would vary from 15 per cent on the Committee on Faculty Research and Publication to 50 per cent on the Committee on Welfare and Grievances.

The proposed bylaws would allow any faculty or student to request reconsideration of Senate decisions.

General Waste-more-land Here

An anti-war activist toured the UML campus Monday, attempting to end the war in Vietnam "so that all the GIs can come home to visit Bob Hope."

Decorated with medals, ribbons, and plastic airplanes, General Waste-more-land appeared to announce the establishment of the Pentagon West "in competition as allowed under the free enterprise system."

Carrying newspapers with large, dark headlines proclaiming the end to war, the General from Berkeley, California, is campaigning for "love and peace and all the Armed Forces abroad."

Accompanied by his aide, General Hershey Bar, Waste-more-land commented that he thought the war effort had been dealt a setback by failing to win the Good Housekeeping Seal of approval.

Pursuing out "declassification" to students, the General appeared somewhat harried, but noted that this was typical of all Pentagon officials.

New ECC Constitution
Okayed by Large Margin

Evening College students approved a constitution for the Evening College Council by a 465-11 vote April 15.
The constitution, which provides for the election to the Evening College Council of one representative for every 500 evening students, was designed to increase evening students' influence on the budgeting of Student Activities funds.

ECC president Rita Swiener said that the ECC had been criticized for being unrepresentative under its old bylaws when it was open to all evening students.

Election of representatives will be some time in May.

Students to Aid in Making

Candidates for the committee must present a petition signed by at least ten students currently enrolled in the School of Business Administration. Petitions may be presented to the office of the Dean of the Evening College or to the Evening College president.

There will be gambling, prizes, and music. Games will include blackjack, roulette, craps and poker.

Friday

Central Council representatives Jean Heithaus (left) and Margie Kranzberg (right) have been appointed Council secretary and treasurer, respectively. President Barry Kaufman said that he had selected them for the positions because of their experience and because they received the highest number of votes in the recent day representative elections.

Other appointments and committee chairmanships approved were: Dan Sullivan, Rules; John Oleksi Curriculum; Peter Muckerman, Appointments and Elections; Mike O’Hearn, Grievance; Keith Kramer, Publicity and Publications; and John Heithaus, parliamentarian.

Lectures and discussion continued throughout the day. Persons present on the hill estimated that the turnout was one of the largest for any event held here.

Inside the checkered tent persons were able to view exhibits on pollutants and solutions to environmental congestion. Admission was a form of material that contributes to pollution.

The potential effects of continued air pollution from automobiles and industry is demonstrated by one participant in the Earth Day activities.

Immediately behind the speaking platform was located a model factory that pumped "industrial waste" into Bugg Lake. The factory was the center of interest for spectators during the day. Several news media photographers arrived to snap photographs of it.

Faulty Logic in Bid for Pro-ROTC Faculty Report

It is admirable that the Central Council this year appears more determined to influence campus life, by far for what is at stake is the wishes of the student body. But, in requesting that the Faculty Senate recommend a program on a Reserve Officers Training Corps program here, the Council has misconstrued the mission of a recent referendum on ROTC.

Proponents of ROTC claim that the fact that 75 per cent of the student body and 65 per cent of the faculty support the program means that the demand for a program is great. We suggest that the vote be subject to the first question on the referendum ballot. The question asked is whether the university should continue to make ROTC available “in some form,” to us, that says that the Faculty Senate’s recommendation that the present transfer program with Washington University be continued fulfills that demand. Nowhere is it said that a ROTC program should be offered from an on-campus facility.

The claim that the other four programs are being reviewed and that the overwhelming demand for ROTC is only partly legitimate. These questions are predicated on the supposition that a program would be offered here. Naturally the student body would vote to continue ROTC if in the poll, the faculty voted decisively against these two things and we have been told. Consequently, we feel that the whole question of credit, the size of the recommendation of student status should be settled when the university has definitely committed itself to a separate ROTC program for UMSL.

One claim made at the Council meeting especially bothers us, since it was an untrue statement. The Faculty Senate’s recommendations to Chancellor Glen Driscoll did not have the support of the faculty chairman, Dr. James N. Fimm. No doubt there was a misunderstanding, and the program was met with some votes in favor of the reconsideration of the vote, as reported earlier, was life. Earlier, Dr. Fimm had to break a tie vote on a section that was not voted on unanimously.

We feel that the Faculty Senate’s request, in grant for our own, is possible after all and are considering that the university is on an austerity budget this year and probably will be for the next few years. The university does not have the money to put up the funds required for a ROTC program which, contrary to the ideas of proponents, does cost money. The suggestion that the Department of Defense is literally beg­ging for students to accept ROTC programs is exaggerated, since the waiting list of schools asking for enrollment is still long and shuffled into some forgotten file drawer.

And so in the face of the point of ROTC care to notice, activities in the St. Louis area violently opposed to the Imperialism they believe in by ROTC programs are determined to physically hand­icap and inconvenience it where­ver and whenever possible.

Chancellor Driscoll soon will make his recommendations on ROTC to university president John C. Weaver and the Board of Cur­tors. We urge that he endorse the report approved by the Faculty Senate as the most feasible alter­native at this time, ROTC has a place in society, but it is not on this campus now.

Anti-Female Bias in Advertising

Debate on the amendments to the University Bylaws—amendments which make up the present and 75 percent of the faculty representatives on a University Senate—begins tomorrow, Monday. The criticism-Chancel­lors James L. Bugg, first pro­posed adding students to the Fac­ulty Senate. And although the members of the Senate seem to find any and all proposals debat­able, we anticipate that the amend­ments will be approved by the Senate with little difficulty, if not with little discussion. This ap­proval will be wise, and the sooner the faculty dispenses with the mat­ter, the sooner the amendments are welcomed by students.

The addition of students to the University Senate will, of course, provide some passers for UMSL governor­ship. It will probably have little impact for good or for ill. In two ways, however, the inclusion of students on the Senate will be valuable.

First, students can contribute a fresh and significant perspective on university affairs. The University Senate presently repre­sents the views of the administra­tion of the faculty. But student input comes through informal contact between students and faculty outside the context of the Senate. No matter how great, no matter how earnest the recommendations of the faculty, their perspective is that of teacher, not that of student. University government recognizes that the attitudes of the variety of the university community be represented.

There is a second way in which the inclusion of students can prove significant: They can encourage the faculty representatives to shape up. It is a truism, as any­one who bothers to attend Faculty Senate meetings soon learns, that many of the faculty view the Senate as a place for others. The quorum, when achieved, is seldom great and easily lost. Faculty Senate procedure has been designed to produce orderly meet­ings and to lessen confusion, en­tangles the faculty members who: a) do not understand the procedure, or b) do not care for the procedure and seek to establish their own rules. It is inevitable that we not even listen to the proceedings. Consequently, a great part of every meeting is spent in trying to figure out what the motion on the floor is, and whether or not as amendments are being offered.

In fact, we would recommend that anyone who believes in government by an intellectual elite attend the next Senate meeting: his faith will be severely shaken—assuming, of course, that members of the Faculty Senate are intellectual and/or an elite. What, for in­stance, does the first thing an in­structor says when he enters a classroom, particularly a lecture hall, and see his students clus­tered at the back of the room? He invariably says, in effect, move out. Yet the initiated reporter who reaches the room where the Senate is to meet before the faculty gathers, and see the students staring at the hall so that he may hear the discussion, sees himself inside a four walls in front of the nearest teacher, and the de­bate going on behind him.

For this reason, especially, we would like to see students seated on the University Senate: not because they can present any sweeping reforms, but because we hope that the faculty will behave like intelligent, responsible individuals in the presence of the power­ful students. After all, can the teacher expect his students to behave in the classroom when the student sees the teacher whispering, snickering, and joking with the freshmen at a meeting of the Faculty Senate?

Little Ladies Versus the Establishment

Everyone knows that a bureau­cracy moves slowly. Its members are unaccustomed to taking a stand and are unable to stride blade for any actions and direct the plaintiff to staff to institution. Let us hope the organizations and individuals will be willing to set aside their differences and join us in support of the Plan­ning Committee in their efforts to set forth ideas for survival. As Charles F. Kerling advised us, “We are on the beach, we are in the water, we are in the future, for we shall all have to spend the rest of our lives there.”

Dear Editor,

According to your staff the, Current claims to be the "official student publication of the Univer­sity of Missouri-St. Louis." Is discrimination against women part of the editorial policy of this official student publication? I am speaking of your practice of printing advertising copy which calls for ‘male’ applicants. In case you have not reviewed your advertising copy recently, I am enclosing two such ads from your most recent issues. (EDITOR'S NOTE: They have been received.)

We can only decry the pettiness of the editorial policy of this campus to one central idea: that "male" is great. We suggest that the large audience of the year for "Male" is great. Dear Editor,

At the last meeting of the Alliance for Peace, our membership voted unanimously to transfer the CENTURY III series to the direct sponsorship of the Activities Planning Committee, effective at the conclusion of this semester. On behalf of the Alliance, I would like to review the reasoning which prompted us to surrender this program which has been a tremendous source of pride for our organization.

CENTURY III has been a suc­cess. It has achieved our ob­jective of presenting on campus ideas for the development of the third Century American Life. And the primary response to this effort has been rewarding: our initial program with representa­tive Jim Symbitong attracted the largest audience of the year for Campus Century. Subsequent congressmen have been greeted by larger-than-average crowds.

One reason for the failure of CENTURY III has failed. We have failed to re­cognize the opposing viewpoints on campus. We are either 'one or all, that we shall all hang together or we shall all hang separately.' And this failure - the pettiness of politics and ego - has prevented CENTURY III from becoming a united effort in cooperation for the great problems which lie ahead. We can only decry the pettiness of the several organizations which have refused to work with others in preparing for our common fu­ture. We can only praise groups like the Student for Environ­mental Action who are not worried about their name or their politics - they are worried only about all of us surviving together.

In an effort to minimize these kinds of obstacles. Then, the Alli­ance for Peace has decided to surrender its sponsorship of CEN­TURY III. We place in the hands of a joint agency un­associated with political philoso­phy, our hope that the organizations and individuals will be willing to set aside their politics and join us in support of the Plan­ning Committee in their efforts to set forth ideas for survival. Good Editorial

Dear Editor:

The Current is to be commended for its recent editorial entitled "The Vocal Minority." The recent behavior of some individuals, on both sides of the political spectrum, during activities at UMSL is deplorable, particularly since many of these self-styled guardians of the public welfare are quick to raise the indignant cry of "fascialism" if their own point of view is not immediately acceptable to one and all. I would be most interested in learning how one acquires this moral superiority that allows him to arbitrarily shout down those who choose to disagree with him. Perhaps that is, in itself, the answer. After all, if one has "God" on one's side, what need is there to listen to mere mortals? What further justification is necessary? Mike Dunn

Reflections

Dear Editor,

I am assuming that Bill Church of "Step Down" fame is the same Bill Church who penned the "Garbage Can" that appeared on these pages. There is a saying among those who work with competitors that "if you put garbage in, you get garbage out"—and so it is with people. Church's writings are but a reflection of his life thus far, and so he is to be pitied.

Club Notes

A meeting of the New Democratic Coalition will be held April 29 at 11:40 in Room 100, Clark Hall.

Possible projects to be discussed include the language requirement, improvement of the pass-fail system, a teacher evaluation system, and the 18-year-old vote campaign.

Newly organized on campus, the NDC will involve itself in both campus and community action. The NDC is open to all students, faculty, and staff members, and welcomes suggestions for campus activities. Any interested persons should contact Judy Day, Room 438 Benton, 453-5681, 821-6034, 524-8572, or come to the April 29 meeting.

Dr. Randolph Edmonds, the first black elected to the Advisory Board of the American Educational Theater Association, will speak on "Black Theater in America" April 27 at 11:40 in room 100 Clark Hall. His lecture is being sponsored by the University Players.

Dr. Edmonds is a graduate of the Yale University School of Drama and is a recipient of a Rosenwald Fellowship to study the amateur theater of England, Scotland and Wales. He has had three volumes of plays published and these are among the most widely produced black plays in American educational theater.

Dr. Edmonds' visit is part of a grant from the university wide Undergraduate Education Improvement fund. This grant provided funds for Dr. Edmonds to spend a semester teaching at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. As part of this grant, Dr. Edmonds was made available for one lecture on each of the other campuses of the University of Missouri.

Dr. Nicholas Poloratzky, chairman of the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature at the University of Pittsburgh, will speak on April 27 at 12:40 in room 301, Benton Hall. His topic will be "The Pre-revolutionary Russian Intellectuals and the Veliky Controversy." The program, sponsored by the Russian section of the foreign language department along with the philosophy and history clubs, is open to the public.

Please help.

All of us hate to see empty cans and bottles lousing up what's left of a beautiful country.

It's too bad packaging technology today isn't as exotic and convenient as the gimmicks and gadgets on the TV thrill shows; like you, we'd like nothing better than for every empty can and bottle to self-destruct. Someday, soon, things will be different, though... because we and a lot of other concerned people are all working on the problem in earnest.

Meantime, there is a foolproof way to keep cans and bottles from cluttering up the countryside, and you can do your part:

Please don't throw them there in the first place.

Introduction
A major development of twentieth-century higher education has been the establishment of public institutions of higher education, publicly supported university. This trend is an educational benchmark common in the establishment of most of the larger Grant institutions of the nineteenth century. It rests upon the premise that the universities should be accessible to people rather than forcing the people to go to the university. The people of Missouri have come to expect with the creation of the University of Missouri-St. Louis — an institution located in the midst of the metropolitan area, readily accessible to those who desire its services, sensitive to its needs and problems, and willing to contribute to the intellectual environment which it is in its service, and eager for that kind of interaction which will mutually benefit the urban community and the University.

In keeping with this role, the University of Missouri-St. Louis needs to be governed in a manner which will ensure that responsibility for the direction of its programs and projects shall be clearly defined and accompanied by appropriate authority, that interdependence among the governing boards, administrative officers, faculty, and students of the University shall be recognized, that the unique freedom and critical exploration which is essential in a dynamic university community shall be promoted, and that the widest possible exchange of information shall be achieved. To this end, the various elements of the University shall be assured. In short, the governing of the University must be a cooperative endeavor, sustained in an atmosphere of open communication, mutual understanding, and shared commitment. The elements of the University are to avoid working at cross purposes, every effort must be made to establish and maintain these conditions of active cooperation.

What is it like to be the youngest fraternity on campus? The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon know what it's like. It's like being the new kid on the block, the new guy at school. To be noticed, you have to do something special. You have to have something on the ball.

The TEKEs have found that, with the established, strongly manned fraternities to contend with, they had to work to gain recognition, have had to work to establish themselves, and will have to work to get to the top.

Top spot, that's where the TEKEs are headed. And we will get there soon because we have something special, we have something on the ball.

For example, our miniskirt dance was a tremendous success, pulling in a larger crowd than at any previous mixer. The blood drive we co-sponsored received wide community recognition. Our new eight-week pledge period is a successful innovation. Our annual Huck Finn party is always out of sight!

We are backed by the largest national fraternity---290 other chapters, 80,000 TEKEs.

We know we aren't on top yet, but give us another year---we'll be there. By the way, if you think you're something special, look for a TEKE during Greek Week and tell him---he'll know what you're talking about.

TEKE IS TUFF
As the pictures show, spirit is high in Delta Zeta. Ever since 1969, DZ has been moving forward. During Greek Week '69 we received awards for first place in the Greek Sing, first place in pledge skills, first place in women's games, the Participation Award, and Tammie Layton was named Greek Woman of the Year. That was only the beginning. Since then we have worked hard to develop the sorority in all aspects.

We plan to make some of the social functions we sponsored annual. Our Fall Formal was held in November at the Colony Motor Inn, and will be held annually. Because of the success of our Awards Banquet, held at Chestre Inn, it will definitely be annual. Through social functions we have tried to promote good relations with other Greek organizations. We sponsored a social for Alpha Xi Delta and Beta Sigma Gamma in December, and also a fraternity round-table in which a Greek man's idea of a sorority girl was discussed. We have also participated in pledge trades with Sigma Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Tau Gamma.

We had bake sales to raise money to send to Gallaudet College for the Deaf, our National philanthropy. We also sent supplies and magazines to the Navajo Indians, and to a patient at Carville, a health center for victims of Hansen's disease. We went Christmas caroling, gave cookies to St. Vincent's Children's Home at Christmas, and gave blood to the Red Cross Blood Drive.

All DZ's try to be active members of the UMSL community. Kathy Hoge was recently elected secretary of the Steamer, Jan Arricar is vice-president of the Russian Club and newly elected representative to the Central Council. Who's Who on Campus includes Beverly Brickley and Linda Siesener. We were all proud and happy when Linda Siesener was crowned Miss UMSL in December.

After Greek Week the year is almost over, but we have already begun to plan for the fall, hoping for even more success next year.

We of Alpha Epsilon Pi feel that joining a fraternity and a commuter campus is very important. Although much of your time is spent in classrooms, still more is spent out. For this reason, we feel that being part of a fraternity can be one of your most rewarding experiences.

AEPI has combined the traditional fraternity system with the changes the American campus is facing. The result of this combination is a fraternity that enables you to belong to a prestige group, and still maintain your individuality.

This past year, AEPI led the campus organizations with a 3.0 active grade point average. AEPI also has been a leader at UMSL, with numerous members in student government, including Barry Kaufman, recently elected president of the Central Council.

We have also been active socially, among other things sponsoring two all-school mixers, including the "Great Pumpkin," a Halloween party with over 600 people in attendance.

The men of Alpha Epsilon Pi are looking forward to meeting you, and would like to wish you the best of luck in your college careers.
We use the symbol of the flower because we feel that we are the newest and the freshest sorority on campus. Since the time that Beta Sigma Gamma was first organized in September '69, we have incorporated the flower in our ideas and our activities.

During Homecoming this year, we were the first on campus to sell mum corsages.

In the Homecoming Parade, again using the theme of flowers, we won the trophy for our car decoration.

During Rush Week, we doubled our membership with the largest pledge class of any this year. In the activation ceremony, each pledge was presented with a flower, the symbol of our sisterhood.

We have participated in the normal round of sorority activities: bake sales, rush parties, kidnap parties, Christmas caroling, intramural volleyball, car washes, slave auctions, a toll road, dinners, and teas.

Other activities include a soccer game with Sigma Tau Gamma, a branch with Sigma Sigma Sigma, a mixer with Sigma Pi, and an Easter-egg hunt with Sigma Tau Gamma for Bel-Ridge school children.

Plans for the future include a mother-daughter tea, as well as a fashion show in May, with clothes from the "Gazebo" in Mansion House. Next year we will hold our first all-school mixer on the twenty-fifth of September. We'd like to have you with us!

FANTASTIC! That's the word for the men of Sigma Pi. In the fall intramural season, our football team wound up with a 7-1 record and set the school scoring record with a 62-0 win. For the last three seasons we have won our league championship, twice winning the school championship, with an overall record for four years of 29-2. We have also won the co-ed volleyball championship. Having all but swept the fall sports scene, the brothers are eager to make this Sigma Pi's best year yet.

The float "Whip the Panthers" that we entered in the competition at Homecoming came out with first place and brought the traveling trophy into our collection.

In addition to these achievements, we were recently named the Outstanding chapter in our Province. Other chapters in the Province are from Columbia, Rolla, St. Louis U., Warrensburg and Springfield.

We are looking forward to Greek Week with anticipation and desire. We feel we have the potential to win this, the last big competitive event of the year, and make '69-'70 a clean sweep for Sigma Pi.

Yes, FANTASTIC is the word for the men of Sigma Pi, but our many accomplishments in the past year have been due entirely to the feeling of brotherhood and unity which has been ever present in our fraternity, and which is even more FANTASTIC than any competitive victory we might win. Our "Winning Tradition" is just an external expression of fraternalism and our pride in Sigma Pi.
Alpha Xi Delta

The sisters of Alpha Xi Delta believe that teamwork is an important part of their social and service life. Alpha Xi’s worked at the Skinker-DeBaliviere Community Center. Recently, the organization from St. Vincent’s were AZ guests for an Easter-egg hunt. At Christmas time, besides a formal dance, Alpha Xi raises funds for charity. Family life isn’t left out either. We plan on holding our annual mother-daughter tea in May, and a father-daughter picnic in June, including a barbecue (QOGG) and a baseball game (QUGH). Our fall pledge class is busy with their own kind of teamwork while they are planning their own projects. Pledge trainer, Jeri Hangerford, along with pledge president, Ellen Brimer, are sure to be planning exciting events for the future.

The girls showed their athletic ability in the 1-M volleyball games. At homecoming, the Alpha Xi’s worked hard to build the steamboat which we launched in the annual homecoming parade. We were instrumental in starting many new traditions on campus—the Sadie Hawkins mixer has been successful every year. Our newest annual event is the faculty children’s Christmas party. Many of the young children of our faculty members attended the party which we sponsored with APG.

Alpha Xi’s have promoted many intergreek activities also. We led the fraternities and sororities in a Greek Sing in the fall, and had football games and pledge exchanges with the fraternities. We went Christmas caroling with Pi Kappa Alpha and had an interfraternity party with Delta Zeta and Delta Sigma Gamma.

We’ve had many activities for our sisters throughout the year. Our hayrides, Christmas Formal, spring dances, Showboat party, swim splash-ins, weekend retreats are just a few examples of Alpha Xi fun!

Several Alpha Xis have won various honors. Sue Moutrie was crowned Princess Athena during Greek Week of 1969. She also was a maid in this year’s Homecoming Court. Beth Frith and Sherry Gaton were members of the 69-70 Miss UMSL Court. Donna Frizelle, Sue Mootrie, Kathy O’Hearn and Joan Prokopchuk were selected as members of Pi Kappa Alpha’s Dream Girl Court for 1970. Connie Eilebrecht has been an active member of Central Council and ran as an elected representative this semester. Sherry Gaton and Joan Prokopchuk have been honored with the title of “Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities.”

Scholastically, Alpha Xi Delta’s are encouraged to make top grades. A scholarship dinner is held at the end of each semester, awarding those girls with 3.0 or better with a steak dinner. Those girls with grades below 3.0 are awarded with “beans.” It turns out that about one-third of the Alpha Xi’s make the Dean’s List and enjoy steak!

Why Fraternities?

Many people ask why fraternities should exist? What purpose can they serve in the complex environment of an urban university? We feel the answers were best given by our founders over a century ago...

Reunite

For the establishment of friends, help in a family, and men’s lasting ties. For the preservation of brotherly love, and strong fellowship for the mutual growth and improvement of the interests of those with whom we sympathize and esteem each other, we band together—under the auspice of a fraternity. Joining the Alpha Xi Delta is just another way of accomplishing our objectives.

Bust Out!

This year, Pi Kappa Alpha will present the 19th annual June Bust-Out. Two thousand people are expected to invade Chuck Berry’s Country Club near Wentzville on Thursday, June 4th. The Bust-Out is traditionally held on the last day of finals, beginning at noon and lasting until all is over.

The Country Club features a dance hall, swimming pool, tennis and basketball courts, a refreshment stand and even a fishing lake; all spread out over acres of land with plenty of room for everyone. Music will be provided by “Free Enterprise” and “T. J. & the Illusions”.

This year to make the Bust-Out even better, Falstaff will sponsor a Mini-500 Tricycle Race with contestants from UMSL, St. Louis U., and Washington U. The prizes will be $125.00 for first place, $75 for second place, and $25.00 for third place. Also there will be $25.00 for the girl’s team that places highest without being in the first three. Trophies, jerseys, and other prizes will also be awarded. Tickets can be purchased from any member of Pi Kappa Alpha for $3.00 per person, or at the gate for $5.00. REMEMBER, June 4th only comes once a year, so BUST OUT!

Golfers Break Even in Rugged Week
by Marty Hendin

Following perhaps the toughest week of competition any UMSL team has ever faced, the UMSL golf team is looking ahead to the 1970 NITCA district playoffs. The Rivermen took their 6-5-1 record into matches against a four-way tie Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Coach Larry Berres has received word that the District Sixteen Independent Playoffs will be held May 13 and 14 at Columbia. It will be an open playoff with all independent teams invited to enter the 50 hole event with 18 holes played each day. Teams who will enter are UMSL, Rockhurst, Missouri Southern, and Western. Rockhurst has won the independent playoff the past two years over UMSL, and then lost to Drury. The winner of the independent playoff will face the MCAA winner, probably Drury, May 18 at Columbia for the right to compete in the national tournament June 9-12 at Liberty, Missouri.

The Rivermen golfers won, lost and tied in their three matches last week. Thursday they faced St. Louis University and William & Mary. The Bears and Bears played this afternoon at 3:30 at the Preacher's home field.

NCAA Admission Key to Progress

by Marty Hendin Associate Sports Editor

Following is the first of a two part series outlining UMSL’s immediate athletic prospects.

In a Current interview last week, UMSL Athletic Director Chuck Smith announced that the Athletic Committee has voted that UMSL drop its NAIA membership in favor of the NCAA. UMSL’s next step is to have a vote on the idea by the Faculty Senate, a vote by the Board of Directors and application for membership before May 15. If the Senate and Board approve the organizational switch, the 47 schools within the conference will vote on the UMSL application. If 60% approve, the Rivermen will be eligible for NCAA national competition in all sports beginning September 1, 1970.

The NCAA membership will also be added by the Newman’s eighth inning against Principia in which the Rivermen scored a record eleven runs. Mulch was sacrificed; Haberberger singled scoring Mulch; Przada ran for Haberberger; Hibbeler singled; Flanke batted for Krull and walked loading the bases; Zweifel walked forcing in a run; Chik singled scoring Hibbeler and Flanke; Skinner walked; Naucke; Hibbeler doubled scoring Chik; Mulch walked; Naucke was hit by a pitch; scoring Skinner; Przada doubled scoring Chik, Mulch and Naucke; Hibbeler doubled scoring Przada; Flanke hit into a double play.

ELEVEN RUNS, SIX HITS, NO ONE LEFT.

Spurred on by an 11 run single winning outburst against Principia, the Rivermen last week rewrite their own record book. Going into the bottom of the eighth at Forestwood Field, UMSL was tied with the Indians from Elsah, Illinois, 4-4. Six hits, eight walks and two Principles errors later the Rivermen owned a 15-4 lead, and their ninth win of the year. Starter Tim Krull earned his third win of the year with the help of Dale Welterholt who finished off the Indians in the ninth. Krull had been lifted for a pinch hitter in that explosive eighth. Tim’s record now stands at 3-0 for the season.

The ninth win matched the entire 1959 Rivermen total and started Coach Arnold Copeland dreaming about a possible post-season NAIA playoff berth.

The Coach’s dreams were brought one step closer to realization on Thursday, when the Rivermen topped Washington U. in a game played at W. O. U.’s Ute Field. Bill Biehnecker pitched the UMSLians to a 6-1 triumph with the help of reliever Doug Huber.

Humphreys’ season record now stands at 3-1 while Copeland’s second season promises new an impressive 10-2-1 slate.

The game was highlighted by a two run home run in the sixth inning by UMSL first baseman Joe Mulch. The first year Riverman parked a Ron Barnes inside, belt high, fastball on the far side of the 220 foot right field fence. Barnes had come on in the fourth in relief of starter Fred Falkor, the Bear right hander who took the loss. Falkor’s record at game’s end stood at 6-1 while his hilltop teammates slumped to 5-9.
