JOHN PERRY; UMSL's business officer has been recommended for the position of vice chancellor for administrative services. [Photo courtesy OPI]

Abrupt cancellation of art class leaves 28 students 'out on a limb'

Debra Cunningham

After four confusing weeks of cancelled classes, the Twentieth Century Architecture class (art 243) convened only to find out that the class had been cancelled.

On Aug 18, Carol Kaufmann, the instructor of the course, was forced to take a leave of absence for the year. Her mother has terminal cancer, and Kaufmann departed for California to be with her.

Warren Bells, chairperson of the fine arts department, and his colleagues began an intensive search of the metropolitan area for someone qualified and willing to teach the course. In an attempt to locate a substitute, calls were made to the Art Museum, the American Institute of Architecture, and the Art History departments at SIU, Columbia, and Washington University. The faculty at UMSL had also been consulted. Bells and his colleagues contacted the leading architects in the city and also talked to retired art teachers.

Bells said, "Many of the people we talked to were interested in teaching the course and capable of doing so, but their schedules just weren't flexible enough. If the course had been offered in the evening there would have been no problem in finding someone. We asked other people for recommendations but after a while we started getting the same names. We were about to give up and cancel the course when we found Robert Reeves."
There was no trouble, but the six monitoring students and the three security guards on duty were kept busy dispersing those whose admittance was refused. Broadus, who was present at the time, stated, "We need everybody. It's important that these organizations cooperate." Attendance will be controlled by issuing only 500 tickets to the sponsoring organization. They will be available only at the door on the night of the dance on a first-come first-served basis.

The responsibility of the monitors at the dances is slowly expanding, according to Donham. He says that it simply "makes more sense" to handle problems without the involvement of the security guards. Discipline, when necessary, will first be the responsibility of the monitors. Then, according to Donham, "if the students can't achieve certain things, the police can achieve certain things." He added that at the present time, they are "doing a really terrific job."

Whereas Broadus would not go so far as to say the monitors are doing a terrific job he did say, "While some organizations are doing a good job, some are not." Broadus hopes that these new policies will effectively reduce the likelihood of the occurrence of problems like those that caused a moratorium to be called last winter. It must work now, he says, "because we don't get any second chances."

According to Broadus, "this weekend will be the determining weekend. It will be a good indication of what will happen in the future."
You can do it, too. So far over 550,000 other people have done it. People who have different jobs, different IQs, different interests, different educations have completed the course. Our graduates are people from all walks of life. These people have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. Practically all of them at least tripled their reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more.

Think for a moment what that means. All of them—even the slowest—now read an average novel in less than two hours. They read an entire issue of Time or Newsweek in 35 minutes. They don't skip or skim. They read every word. They use no machines. Instead, they let the material they're reading determine how fast they read.

And mark this well: they actually understand more, remember more, and enjoy more than when they read slowly. That's right! They understand more. They remember more. They enjoy more. You can do the same thing—the place to learn more about it is at a free speed reading lesson.

This is the same course President Kennedy had his Joint Chiefs of Staff take. The same one Senators and Congressmen have taken.

Come to a Mini-Lesson and find out. It is free to you and you will leave with a better understanding of why it works. Plan to attend a free Mini-Lesson and learn that it is possible to read 3-4-5 times faster, with comparable comprehension.

---

SCHEDULE OF FREE MINI-LESSONS

ATTEND A FREE SPEED READING LESSON

TODAY . . . OR ANYDAY THROUGH FRIDAY* OCTOBER 17

INCLUDING THIS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

6 P.M. OR 8:30 P.M.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SOUTH</th>
<th>HOWARD JOHNSON'S MOTOR LODGE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>I - 44 AND HAMPTON AVENUE</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>WEST COUNTY</th>
<th>RAMADA INN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>I - 270 AND PAGE BLVD.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NORTH COUNTY</th>
<th>RAMADA INN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>I - 270 AND BELLEFONTAINE ROAD</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ILLINOIS</th>
<th>HOWARD JOHNSON'S MOTOR LODGE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>I - 270 AND HIGHWAY 157</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

COLLINSVILLE* ILLINOIS

---

EVELYN WOOD READING DYNAMICS

---

UMSL CURRENT October 9, 1975 Page 3
Students react over commentary...

Dear Editor:

I am writing in reply to Greg Ahrens's article praising Patty Hearst as a revolutionary hero whose actions should "serve as an inspiration to all those who are serious about changing or abolishing the present government." What I question is the word "serious". If Patty Hearst was serious about changing the government, she certainly had the position and resources to make her views known in a more effective manner. She has, however, made few overt attempts to do so.

I believe the issues of social justice are important. But while this respect is extended, the "political idealists" who are serious about changing or abolishing the present government are being momentarily overlooked.

...and over Patty Hearst incident

Dear Editor:

In the first paragraph of your editorial subtitle, "Patty Hearst is an example," published in the Sept. 25 edition of the Current, Greg Ahrens implies that the American government has a confused policy of priorities for spending "over $33 billion to track down a bank robber (Patty Hearst)." Then in the last paragraph of the same article Ahrens poses the thought that "the public, 'a fugitive, her stored-up weapons, her daily jobs' should "serve as an inspiration to all those who are serious about changing or abolishing the present government."

Later in the commentary Ahrens implies that the public can "system" is a victim of its own ignorance since Judge Julius Hoffman's final prediction is that someday "there will be thousands of Patty Hearst's to take her place in the streets: modern day 'minute persons' who will flash the strobelights and bomb the government." Patty Hearst was an immature nineteen-year-old when she was"...in a very hardened criminal and a group of radical political idealists. She admittedly fell in love with one of the groups members and changed her political identity. She was used by the SLA because of her family name and fortune, and didn't accomplish anything to better the society which she called "her parents." It was a "pig's" like her parents. It would seem that Greg Ahrens, in his article, the existing social, political, and economic structure of the United States is corrupt and ineffective. Ahrens feels that it should be clear to everyone that America is being run by Nelson Rockfeller and oil companies and other "aristocratic" corporations — to the crippling detriment of the American people. He justifies the American government's oversight of the Government by comparing the modern day, radical left, to the American Revolution of 1776. Ahrens' final prediction is that someday "there will be thousands of Patty Hearst's to take her place in the streets: modern day 'minute persons' who will flash the strobelights and bomb the government."

...with our society, Patty's serious about changing or abolishing the present government.

Cites slight inaccuracies

Dear Editor:

The article in the Sept. 25 issue of the Current regarding Cindy Mohrlock contained several items which are a bit inaccurate. The Washington University ROTC program has 14 women enrolled this year. Cindy is one of three women from UMSL who are giving ROTC a look. While Cindy has made a commitment to see her nation in Armed Forces, the other two women are sampling the program to see if it's for them. Remember, Patty Hearst was mandatory until the junior year, or until the student accepts a scholarship. ROTC may decide if they want to make the commitment. The ROTC Camp Miss Mohrlock attended this past summer is conducted each year. This was the first year for women. All cadets need not attend this camp. The camp is specifically for the girls who, for whatever reason, did not take ROTC courses during their first two years of college. Thus the student becomes qualified to enter the Advanced ROTC program at the beginning of their junior year. An exception is usually made for women who voluntarily and actually view their prior military experience.

Incidently, of the 90 students enrolled in ROTC this year, 20 are from UMSL. Of the 43 students enrolled this year, the ROTC program: University tuition, fees, books, plus $100 per month — three are attending UMSL.

Dahl J. Cennte Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Army

Professor of Military Science
Duncan terminated for indefinite reasons

Mark Henderson

English instructor Larry Duncan has been given a terminal contract by the Faculty Committee on Promotion and Tenure. However, he has not been given the reason for his termination in writing.

"The methods of the English Department Promotion and Tenure Committee violate the basic rights of the teaching profession," said Duncan in an interview with the Current.

Duncan, a self-proclaimed socialist, is now in his sixth year as an instructor in the English department. He teaches English 10 and English 160, both composition courses, and he has taught Literature Types.

Duncan claims that because he teaches his English courses from a socialist perspective, the faculty committee "is conducting a witch-hunt against me because of my political opinions. I have waged an open campaign on campus against the layoffs of faculty and staff, the loaded-up classes, and the English Department. I have taught extremely intelligent and articulate people but should not be teaching English on this campus."

The student brought serious charges concerning Duncan in the middle of June to the English department chairperson at the time, Jane Williamson. The student claimed that Duncan does not teach an English course, but rather "a course of indoctrination. If Duncan wants to teach at UMSL he should be teaching philosophy, not English."

Duncan was asked if he was aware of formal complaints against him by students concerning his socialist practices, and he responded "through rumors yes, but I have not seen these complaints. If this is the reason for the terminal contract, I wish the committee would inform me in writing. I am perfectly confident that I can prove my point." Cohen said the current terminal contract complaints concerning faculty members by students are never shown to the members unless the student specifically requests it in writing. "We do this to protect the student." Cohen said.

While Duncan professes concern over his job, he also seems concerned about the rights of individual teachers. "The fundamental right of political freedom in the classroom is at stake. I believe the committee will not give me written reasons for the terminal contract because the reason is my political opinions. If they state they fired me for my political opinions, their claims will be accepted."

Duncan explained his position in a letter of Aug. 21, 1975, requesting letter of support from other members in the English department. The response to his letter was "about what I expected, since most faculty members on this campus are afraid for their jobs and feel they are not being treated fairly by the administration." Duncan said.

Among the letters was a letter from Norman B. Hudson, president of the Missouri Federation of Teachers. He wrote the English Department Promotion and Tenure Committee saying, "Individual rights are sacred and must be protected at all costs. I question whether Mr. Duncan's individual rights have been preserved in the setting he has described to me."

The student mentioned earlier claimed that the case is not a political one, but simply of a teacher not doing the job he was hired to do. "In many different years and departments, I walked out of Duncan's class because of our fighting over how he expressed his views in class. The context of the class was materialism, not composition, and materialism is out of place in a composition course," the student said.

Duncan revealed the fact that Eugene Murray, a member of the committee, had not seen the class evaluation forms before his hearing. A copy of a letter by Murray to that effect was shown to the Current.

"In passing over Murray's astonishing admission that he had not seen my spring evaluations forms, and in refusing to specify in writing why it made its earlier, procedurally improper decision, the committee merely reveals its utter contempt for the rights of faculty members and for the quality of education at UMSL," Duncan said.

Cohen, besides stating that Duncan had seen most of the critical remarks on the evaluation forms, would not talk to the Current. "Duncan has made no comments on the current situation, and I do not believe it would be good for the English department engaged in public debate over the Duncan issue," Cohen said.

$33,500,000 Unclaimed Scholarships

Over $33,500,000 unclaimed scholarships, grants, aids, and fellowships ranging from $50 to $10,000. Current list of these sources researched and compiled as of Sept. 15, 1975.

UNCLAIMED SCHOLARSHIPS
11715 Massachusetts Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90025

\begin{itemize}
  \item I am enclosing $9.99 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.
  \item Please rush your current list of unclaimed scholarships sources to:
\end{itemize}

Name________________________
Address_____________________
City________ State_____ Zip____

[California residents please add 6% sales tax.]

Reggae Presents QUICKSILVER MESSENGER SERVICE SPirit with their very special guest IRON BUTTERFLY
Sunday October 26, 1975 8pm
Kiel Auditorium $4.50 $5.50 $6.50
Tickets available at: Spectrum, Orange Julius (NW Plaza), KSHE and Ambassador Theatre Box Office

\textbf{class}sified \textbf{ad} (\textit{kl&ced ad}), \textbf{1}. a brief advertisement, as in a newspaper or magazine, typically one column wide, that offers or requests jobs, messages, items for sale, etc. Also called \textit{current classified}, as in 10 cents a word, (come to 256 U. Center)

\textbf{class}es\textit{less (kl&lis), adj.} \textbf{1}. wearing sneakers when you're the best man.
Bonnie Valle

Anyone has problems moving from one place to another. But the new director of the Thomas Jefferson Library had added complications; five children and another on the way. While getting his new home prepared for their arrival, Robert Miller and his family had to live in a motel.

But now he and his family are settled in their house, while Miller has settled into his new job. Appointed Sept. 1, Miller is responsible for the overall operation of the library. This responsibility includes planning of the budget. Miller also shares responsibilities with university-wide directors of the three other University of Missouri campuses. Presently they are looking at a computerized library system that would extend the library's resources.

As director, Miller must handle the problems that occur in a large library. "There are two major problems. The first is space; both in overall space available here and in the way the library's floor plan is laid out. The building has approximately 100,000 more volumes than it was built for. Finding a way to resolve this problem has to be made in the next few years, through expansion or additional facilities elsewhere on campus."

"The second problem is money. Money is not funded at a level we think it should be." Miller explained that the money problem is one faced by libraries all over the past few years as a matter-of-fact. "The University has been generous, but there is a shortage of money."

Prior to Miller's appointment here at UMSL, he was the associate director of general services. In this capacity he was in charge of various aspects of library service, one of which was seven departments in his care, varying in size from 12,000 to 20,000 volumes.

Before Miller worked with the University of Chicago library, Miller worked at Parsons College, Marquette University and the Library of Congress. According to Miller "All were enjoyable at the time."

"As for the smaller problems of the library Miller says, "We are always open to suggestion though we can't always respond affirmatively." For example, we get a fairly regular stream of complaints about noise. But due to the layout of the building and lack of space we really can't do much about it."

"However, we hope to develop a newsletter to make our services and problems more widely known. Also, there are student representatives on the Sesoric Library Committee. Problems can always be channeled to them."

New short courses offered for women

"Investments for Women," a six-session short course, will be offered beginning Oct. 16 at UMSL. The program will be held from 7 to 9 pm Thursdays in the J.C. Penney building.

Topics include understanding the business and financial world, bank accounts, life insurance, stocks and bonds, government and municipal securities, mutual funds, retirement income. The instructor is Mark I. Klein, an account executive for Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith Inc.

For more information on registration and fees, call the UMSL Extension Division at 453-5961.

The Royal Shakespeare Company Production

The HOLLOW CROWN

An entertainment by & about the Kings & Queens of England

Sat., Nov. 1st — 8:30pm Penney Auditorium

$2 UMSL Students $3 Faculty & Staff $4 Public Admission

Presented by University Program Board
The First Store in St. Louis Featuring

The NEW

JOHN DENVER
WINDSONG

All These Records $4.99

PINK FLOYD
WISH YOU WERE HERE
including:
Shine On You Crazy Diamond
Welcome To The Machine
Have A Cigar/Wish You Were Here

TINA TURNER
Acid Queen
Includes
Baby Get It On
Under My Thumb
Whole Lotta Love

JEFFERSON STARSHIP
RED OCTOPUS

ORIGINAL CAST SOUNDTRACK
NOW AVAILABLE IN THIS TWO RECORD SET

JAMES WHITMORE
GIVE EM HELL HARRY

Bruce Springsteen
Born To Run
including:
Tenth Avenue Freeze Out
Junglist
Backstreets/Thunder Road/Shes The One

Loggins & Messina
"So Fine"
including:
I Like It Like That
Stolen Sheep
Wake Up Little Susie
Hello Mary Ann
Lone Star Question

LOVE

SPECIAL OFFER

UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
Students experience skiing ups and downs

Betty Brlemaker

Imagine yourself speeding down a snow-covered mountain. Although the sun is shining brightly, you are surrounded by beautiful vistas of pines laden with snow. At times your heart is in your stomach as you travel at a much faster speed than you had anticipated.

This may seem like a frightening experience at first, but being down right dangerous. Many considered their trip to Winter Park, Colorado, last January, only one slight injury occurred: a chipped elbow. Your chances of getting struck by lightning are greater. When the five busses left UMSL, on that wintry day last January, the excitement of the trip covered up any fears that may have been present on the hearts and souls of these travelers.

The 24 hour long bus ride to Winter Park had its discomforts. Traveling through a blizzard in Kansas kept the windows of the bus frozen all night. All warm bodies on the bus, one would think the windows would have defrosted. Last at night the busses stopped at Howard Johnson's, a place we despised for breakfast at Denny's.

Many consider skiing but rule out for fear of breaking a leg. Out of the 200 UMSL students who invaded Winter Park, Colorado, last January, only one person made the mistake of putting both skis parallel with the slope and sped down the hill about 40 miles per hour. The rest arrived about five minutes later at a more conservatve speed. We were quite exhausted when lessons ended, trudging our way to the rental shop where our skis were stored.

The next morning with map in hand, a friend and I ascended the slopes on a daring adventure. We had become quite adept at skiing to the thought of attempting them. Trails are marked for easy identification so that a new skier does not find himself headed down Ambush unintentionally.

Each day from nine in the morning till four in the afternoon, we covered new and unexplored trails as well as familiar ones. Our nights were filled with partying and visiting old and new friends at neighboring condominiums.

After a final day of skiing, the UMSL buses somewhat regretfully traveled home. Many had become quite adept at slopes and lift. During the five days while others were just getting the hang of it, Almost everyone was exhausted when lessons ended, trudging our way to the rental shop where our skis were stored.

Johnny, a friend, and I ascended the slopes on a daring adventure. We had become quite adept at skiing to the thought of attempting them. Trails are marked for easy identification so that a new skier does not find himself headed down Ambush unintentionally.

During a refueling stop, a short distance from the destination, the UMSL travelers loaded up on Coors, a phenomenon which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

During a refueling stop, a short distance from the destination, the UMSL travelers loaded up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us experimented on our own.

Try to maneuver ski proved stretched as far as you could see. Already trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the busses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that to be quite difficult. With a great deal of effort, I climbed up on Coors, a phenomenom which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.
Students experience skiing ups and downs

Betty Beileinmater
Imagine yourself speeding down a snow-covered mountain. Although the sun is shining brightly, you are being carried up the mountain by a long line of pines laden with snow. At times your heart is in your stomach as you travel at a much faster speed than you had anticipated.

This may seem like a frightening experience, but it is not. Being being downright dangerous. Many commented that they were living out their dreams at the Beileinmater's Christmas party, which was held at the ski resort. The party was well attended, with many guests enjoying the snow and the beautiful scenery. The weather was perfect for skiing, with clear blue skies and plenty of snow on the mountains. The whole group was excited to be there, and the energy was infectious. It was a wonderful way to celebrate the holiday season.

The 24 hour long bide to Winter Park had its discomforts. Traveling through a blizzard in Kansas kept the windows of the bus frozen all night. The bus was so cold that we had to keep the doors open to stay warm. The nights were very cold, and the beds in the buses were not very comfortable. We slept on the floor, and the windows were so cold that we had to keep them closed. On the other hand, the mornings were beautiful, with the sun shining brightly and the mountains covered in snow. We woke up feeling refreshed and ready for the day ahead.

Despite a few minor hardships on the bus ride from St. Louis, we arrived in Denver in good spirits after a good breakfast at Denny's. New friendships were forming, and there was a general air of excitement as we drew closer to Winter Park. A slight delay caused by a broken fan belt stopped our progress through the mountains. As we climbed to higher altitudes, the snow covered peaks and pines stretched as far as you could see. Already that trying bus trip was paying off. Just being surrounded by such beauty made it all worthwhile. As the buses drew closer to Winter Park, we heard it reported that the slopes were open, and we were excited to begin our skiing.

During a refueling stop, a short distance from the destination, the UMSL travelers loaded up on Coors, a phenomenon which occurred quite frequently throughout the week. Celebrating began immediately. The arrival in Winter Park was both a relief and a celebration. The cozy condominiums complete with fireplaces and wood were a welcome sight. A good night's sleep was in order.

Dressed for below weather, the somewhat anxious group of UMSL beginners trekked toward the ski rental shop early in the morning. After being outfitted with boots, skis and poles, we struggled outside to try out this awkward equipment. Before skiing lessons were given, many of us learned that cost presents a heavy burden, a financial problem that can affect your concentration. Friends from that way, the Army's 47th Health Professions Scholarship Program was organized to free you from those worries. Some women who quality will help that the medical education you will also receive a substantial monthly allowance.

The program offers more than tuition and food. It offers the opportunity to begin your practice under very favorable conditions. As a health care officer in the military branch of your choice, you will find yourself with responsibilities fully in keeping with your training and with the time and opportunity to observe a full spectrum of medical specialties.

When you decide on the specialty you wish to pursue, you may find yourself taking those graduate medical studies of one of our many large and modern medical centers. If so, you can count on that training being second to none.

The clinical and research work you will see during the five days while others are just getting the hang of it. Almost everyone was familiar with the desire to ski again; to return to Winter Park in a year, if not sooner.

The fever that won't break: THE RISING COST OF A MEDICAL EDUCATION.

Like most things, the cost of attending medical school was severely over the last decade. Former medical students today represent a heavy burden, a financial problem that can affect your concentration. Friends from that way, the Army's 47th Health Professions Scholarship Program was organized to free you from those worries. Some women who quality will help that the medical education you will also receive a substantial monthly allowance.

The program offers more than tuition and food. It offers the opportunity to begin your practice under very favorable conditions. As a health care officer in the military branch of your choice, you will find yourself with responsibilities fully in keeping with your training and with the time and opportunity to observe a full spectrum of medical specialties.

When you decide on the specialty you wish to pursue, you may find yourself taking those graduate medical studies of one of our many large and modern medical centers. If so, you can count on that training being second to none.

The clinical and research work you will see during the five days while others are just getting the hang of it. Almost everyone was familiar with the desire to ski again; to return to Winter Park in a year, if not sooner.

Armed Forces Health Care
DEDICATED TO HEALTH CARE AND FOR THE WHO PRACTICE IT

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF DISEASE
PUBLISHED BY A&BC INC. - MOLINE, IL
Disabled students working for campus reform

Thomas Taubeberger

One of the newest organizations at UMSL is the Disabled Students Union. Formed two weeks ago, its purpose is to make the campus more responsive to the special needs of handicapped students.

"Once we know how many handicapped students there are at UMSL and what their individual needs are, we can tailor our plans to fulfill those needs," says Debra Phillips, president of the DSU. Debra, a 21-year-old senior, is a language major specializing in French. She cannot use her hands or arms as a result of a virus infection at age seven.

"This campus is not really designed for handicapped students," she continued. "There are many hills, and the buildings are far apart and difficult to enter if you're confined to a wheelchair." Getting ramps for wheelchair users constructed at several building entrances is one of the primary goals of the DSU.

"Basically we're trying to assist the assimilation of handicapped students into the university community," Debra says. "A new student may become discouraged and unable to cope with his problems. But these problems are not insolvable. We have a positive attitude toward the situation." Debra emphasizes the number of disabled students at 15 to 20.

"So far, the library has done the most — and it isn't much — toward helping us," she said. "They set aside a table for us on the first floor and reserved several chairs for blind students near the entrance. But much more remains to be done — because we face countless problems, from using a drinking fountain or telephone to fitting a key in an elevator keyhole."

"We know some problems can be corrected, such as very narrow and heavy doors. But we realize that others, such as great distances between buildings, are permanent," she said.

Debra says other students have been generally helpful to handicapped students.

"They tend to fall into two categories; those who want to assist but are hesitant, and those that go overboard and try to do everything for you," she says. "But all we ask is that others accept us, just as we accept them."

Richard Stegman, treasurer of the DSU, is a freshman majoring in business. Eighteen years old, he is confined to a wheelchair as a result of a childhood bone disease.

"Certain buildings are easier to get in and out of than others," Richard says. "Lucas Hall, the J.C. Penney building and the library are fairly easy. But others, such as Studer, the B.F. building, and especially Clark Hall, can be very difficult.

"We hope to get more accessible reserved parking," he continued. "The spaces set aside on the ground floor of the garage are not too practical because someone entering the campus proper from there faces the steepest hill at UMSL."

"But I believe the university officials are sincere in their desire to help us," he said. "A lot of our requests are being voiced for the first time, and I'm confident solutions will be worked out."

David Krull, a freshman biology major, is secretary of the DSU. David, 19, is a victim of cerebral palsy.

"I think once our group begins established we'll have more success in meeting our goals," David says. "The DSU had a meeting with John Perry, the campus Business Officer. He promised us the university would cooperate as much as is humanly possible."

Indeed, money is the chief obstacle in making many of the expensive and expensive changes necessary. A federal law passed in 1968 states that any buildings funded in whole or in part by the US government must be accessible to handicapped individuals. But much of UMSL was constructed before 1968.

Gerald Applehouse lost the use of his legs in Vietnam in 1968 when he was injured by machine gun bullets. A 26 year old Junior, he is majoring in mathematics. He transferred from the Columbia campus to UMSL and is vice-president of the DSU.

"Columbia is much more adapted to the needs of crippled students than here," he says. "There we had a fairly level campus, a special dormitory area, and counseling and transportation services. Obviously, Columbia has received special funds for this."

"But," he continued, "at UMSL I've been exposed to the attitude, 'If you're crippled, go to Columbia.' I think that ignores the needs of St. Louis area disabled people."

"One of my biggest problems here is negotiating my wheelchair through the unlevel quadrangle and the pitted parking lots," he says. "One doesn't notice such things when walking, but on four wheels it can be rough."

"Most people don't know how to help me or are embarrassed by my presence," he says. "The uninformed have this inaccurate conception of cripples as either extremely good or evil. On one hand is the myth of a tremendously noble, moral, individual like Ironside on TV."

"On the other hand is the Dr. Strangelove syndrome, that of an absolutely stark raving mad sadist. In reality, cripples are just like everyone else except they can't walk. Their personal ities span the spectrum of the human race." John Perry, UMSL business officer, said his recent meeting with the DSU was productive.

"The best way to determine the needs of these students is to let them express what they feel is necessary. Obviously, they are a better suited forums, and together we can work out priorities."

"Right now," he said, "the only concrete plans are construction of a ramp to Clark Hall and lowering the curb around Human Hall."

CAMPUS INCONVENIENCES: For most UMSL students ascending steps like those leading to the University Center is an easy task. However, often they create difficulties for the Handicapped Students at UMSL. [Photo by Jean Vogel.]

Sale includes many gift shop items
toiletries radios
and many more items

Various items marked with red tag

50% of

ALL SALES FINAL
NO REFUNDS...NO RETURNS
NO FURTHER DISCOUNTS

AT THE
University Bookstore

FS

--

FURTHER DISCOUNTS

SALES

FURTHER DISCOUNTS

SALES

FURTHER DISCOUNTS

SALES

FURTHER DISCOUNTS

SALES
"Sex just doesn't quit," says Knight.

Terri Maberry

"Stahr had been his luck — Stahr was something else again. He was a marker in the industry like Edison and Lumiere and Griffith and Chaplin. He led pictures way up past the range and power of the theatre, reaching a sort of golden age, before the censorship."

"The Last Tycoon" by F. Scott Fitzgerald

Some people saw it that way. To them the establishment of a uniform motion picture code had been something bad, and it did something to build up the studios and to the movies they produced.

Some people still think so. Arthur Knight is one of them.

Knight appeared at UMSL on Friday, Oct. 3 to deliver a two-hour address entitled, "The History of Sex in Cinema." He focused on how censors at various times have dealt with sex in the movies, and how movie makers have managed to deal with the censors.

Knight says he is not qualified to comment on the history of film. A former film critic for The Saturday Review and a former member of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, he is the author of several books critiquing the censorship of American theatre. He has his interest in being a critic for the Saturday Review because Knight appears more than an editor. He worked as a reporter for the New York World and the New York Times.

To back up his contentions Knight showed the first of a series of "out of the mainstream film clips" he had brought along to illustrate his lecture.

Entitled, "The Kiss," the clip was an 80 second nickelodeon piece shown in its entirety. The scene depicted was the high point of a current — 1893 — Broadway play, The Widow Jones. bows were performed May Ervin and John C. Rice. The audience was not surprised, they spent part of their fifty seconds kissing.

While he elicited no protest when performed on stage, what Knight called "that moment of magnified osculation" received considerable protest once placed on film. Many found it downright obscene. Though not all, neither Rice nor Ervin was particularly attractive, and one Chicago reviewer in 1893 stated, "The scene of canteen breathing in the stockyards.

That same year, 1895, saw the first known case of a film being successfully censored. A porn show featuring under one minute of a dancer named Fatima was dropped by the producer. A piece that can be described as racy and staid and reserved was edited in a unique fashion. Two white grids were painted across each individual frame of film. One grid covered Fatima's torso, the other her hips. Said Knight, "the censor of that cens was to be commended. The film was only fifty seconds long there's not a whole lot that can be done with cutting."

Soon every municipality and county had "watchdog societies."

They never were quite sure which was more evil, the working man putting down for a beer or the Nichols for the next one. Knight claims that "because the motion picture both reflects and influences the society it is especially susceptible when that society is in a state of upheaval." And as a result, film censors became especially strong during the Progressive and the Jazz Age, which followed.

As the censors were able to exercise more influence. But mainly, film makers were simply forced to give them more material of the sort that would not suppress. "Even in 1917 before the war was over Cecil B. DeMille was having to change the way he got around this was the Victorian morality."

And as he explained in his address, DeMille "had a great appreciation for the American public. He knew that they like to see a certain amount of sinning, and that it was more important than tacking on the Victorian morality at the end." DeMille created "a straighjacket...during World War I you couldn't even escape hell... you couldn't say 'you old buzzard' because it sounded too much like other words."

In addition, men and women embarking on the screen were censored to keep one foot on the film. Under the guise of the censors were required not to have exposed cleavage was measured on the screen. Exposed cleavage was measured down to the chest. The screen was measured and was perhaps the longest passage from the movie that he could also use to show the censor a head.

"As a demonstration of the kind of movie that has been produced in America...for the most part lifted (resistance is futile)..." Knight concludes his lecture on the censorship of Deep Throat. The section of film is then shown to the audience and was perhaps the longest passage from the movie that he could also use to show the censor a head.

"It can see the rest," he said, "at your favorite dirty theatre.

Wilde's play to be presented

The University Players' production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be presented at the Benton Hall Theatre from Wednesday through Saturday of this week. "The Importance of Being Earnest" is considered to be master's authority on the subject of comedy, and quite a few years, the play has been presented at the Benton Hall Theatre ever since.

Miss Prism, the spinster school teacher, and Miss Wordsworth, the governess, are played by Michael, Eagan, and Pat Hodge, respectively. "The Importance of Being Earnest" is considered to be that author's greatest work, and is to be played by Debbie Gerber, Rev. Charles. Gerber, and Pat Hodge, respectively. "The Importance of Being Earnest" is considered to be master's authority on the subject of comedy, and quite a few years, the play has been presented at the Benton Hall Theatre ever since. The plot is based on the famous love potion that acts not only as a hypnotic but an emotional stimulant as well."

"Goona Goona" ("a strawb-advice potion that acts not only as a hypnotic but an emotional stimulant as well.")

"Goona Goona" was based on an anthropological study made in Bali by Kermitt Roosevelt. It was based on the theory that it may have been a serious work on primitive societies. However, its translation to the screen made it into a love story. Although a few semi-nude men and women in it, Goona Goona got the censors. It was seen in many areas naked women, perhaps a few semi-nude, were considered insensitive.

Another way of evading the censors is to show a film that is a scientific examination film. Portions were shown from one entitled "Elysia," Elysia was the name of a fictitious mistid woman. Knight explains, "an investigative reporter — much in the tradition of Doc Savage — goes to uncover what's going on." What's going on is in the movies.

As a demonstration of the kind of movie that has been produced in America...for the most part lifted (resistance is futile)..." Knight concludes his lecture on the censorship of Deep Throat. The section of film is then shown to the audience and was perhaps the longest passage from the movie that he could also use to show the censor a head.

"It can see the rest," he said, "at your favorite dirty theatre.

The Metro Theatre Circus is a not-for-profit organization. Through the financial assistance of the Missouri State Council on the Arts, and the Arts and Education Council of Greater St. Louis, it performs in schools and conduct workshops with children in classes in dance, mime and movement education. Tickets for the "Roots of the Metaphysical" shows are $1.50 and are available at the windows. The show has something for everyone: ragtime, Dixieland, dance, melodrama, poetry, blues and even rock and roll.

The Metro Theatre Circus is a not-for-profit organization. Through the financial assistance of the Missouri State Council on the Arts, and the Arts and Education Council of Greater St. Louis, it performs in schools and conducts workshops with children in classes in dance, mime and movement education. Tickets for the "Roots of the Metaphysical" shows are $1.50 and are available at the windows. The show has something for everyone: ragtime, Dixieland, dance, melodrama, poetry, blues and even rock and roll.

The Metro Theatre Circus is a not-for-profit organization. Through the financial assistance of the Missouri State Council on the Arts, and the Arts and Education Council of Greater St. Louis, it performs in schools and conducts workshops with children in classes in dance, mime and movement education. Tickets for the "Roots of the Metaphysical" shows are $1.50 and are available at the windows. The show has something for everyone: ragtime, Dixieland, dance, melodrama, poetry, blues and even rock and roll.
Thursday

HILLS: A Jewish Youth Organization will have an "Eat and Chat" session from 12 to 1:30 pm in the cafeteria. These sessions will be held throughout the semester at this time.

GALLERY 216: "American Women Printmakers," an exhibition featuring 23 works by nationally prominent women artists will continue to be displayed throughout the month of October in room 216, Lucas Hall. The exhibit is free and open to the public from 10 to 2 pm daily.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL: UMSL vs. Florissant Valley Community College at 7 pm at PVCC.

Friday

MEETING: The Disabled Student Union will hold a meeting at 12:30 pm in room 266, University Center. Any disabled students wishing to join should attend. David Krall will be at the reserved table in the snack bar from 10 am till noon, for those unable to attend the meeting. For more information contact Debra Phillips at 831-8643.

FILM: "A Touch of Class" will be shown at 8 pm in room 101 Stadler Hall. Admission is $1.50 with a UMSL ID.

THEATRE: The University Program Board will be presenting Viveca Lindfors in "I Am a Woman," at 8:30 pm in the J.C. Penney Auditorium. Admission is $2 for UMSL students, $3 for UMSL faculty and staff, and $4 for the public.

DANCE: Epsilon Beta Gamma will be sponsoring a dance at 8 pm in the snack bar.

MEETING: "Defend College Education — Build a Labor Party" will be held by the Young Socialists in room 272, University Center at 9:40 am.

Saturday

CROSS COUNTRY: UMSL vs. University of Missouri at Rolla at 11 am at UMB.

FILM: "A Touch of Class" will be shown at 6 pm in room 101, Stadler Hall. Admission is $1.50 with a UMSL ID.

DANCE: The modernaires of UMSL will be sponsoring a dance at the snack bar from 9 to 12:30 pm. Admission is 75¢.

Monday

WOMEN'S FIELD HOCKEY: UMSL vs. Principia College at 4 pm at UMSL.

CLASS: Free courses in basic photography will be held in the University Center room 272 at 9:30 pm. These courses will be held every Monday for six consecutive weeks. Contact Sue Fischer, 453-5291, for details.

TUESDAY

SEMINAR: Sociology and Urban Studies will hold a seminar on "Violence in a Heathen Land: Suez 1958 — Harlem 1964." Dr. Daniel Monte of UMSL will be speaking. The seminar will begin at 3:30 pm in room 331, SSBE.

SEMINAR: A seminar on "propaganda — A Convenient Source of Bridgehead Offensives" will be held at 4 pm in room 120, Benton Hall. Professor Phillip Warner of Iowa State University will be speaking.

FILM: "Bringing Up Baby" will be shown at 8 pm in the Student Union."

FRANKLY SPEAKING... by phil frank

"SOMEONE GOT A HOLD OF THE TEST EARLY AND I THINK I KNOW WHO!"

J.C. Penney Auditorium. No admission charge.

TUESDAY

OPEN HOUSE: Alpha Phi Omega, the only co-educational and service fraternity on campus, will hold an open house from 10:30 to 3 pm in room 213D, Administration building.

WORKSHOP: The Feminist Alliance will be sponsoring the second in a series of workshops titled, "Women in Work." The program planned for this week covers, "Discrimination in the Job," and will be held from 11:30 am to 1:30 pm in room 318 Lucas Hall.

FILM: "Hearts and Minds" will be shown at 8 pm in room 126, SSBE. The film is sponsored by the Center for International Studies and is open to the public. No admission charge.

Thursday

GALLERY 216: The "American Women Printmakers" exhibit will continue to be displayed throughout the month of October from 10 am to 2 pm daily in room 210, Lucas Hall.
20% OFF EVERYTHING
IN THE STORE EXCEPT
SPECIAL ORDER ITEMS
AND TOBACCO PRODUCTS

SALE 20% OFF

SALE RUNS OCTOBER 6
thru OCTOBER 15

NO REFUNDS
NO RETURNS
ALL SALES FINAL
NO FURTHER DISCOUNTS ALLOWED
SPORTS

Tigers blitz harrier field

The Missouri Tigers blunted the thirteen team field in the All Missouri meet as they placed five runners in the top ten finishers Saturday, Oct. 4. Don Dwyer of Southwest Missouri State took first place with a meet record time of 24:41. The Rivermen were among three teams which failed to score when only four runners finished.

The Tigers, running without their top runner, Mark Kimbal, easily outdistanced second place Southwest Missouri State 27-51. Missouri was led by Brad Reece and Buddy Lawrence, who placed second and third respectively. Kimbal was held out of the race, after an outstanding performance against the University of Illinois the week before, in order to give other Tiger runners more experience.

Dwyer ran away with first place as he broke the old record of 25:00, set in 1974 by Tim McMullen. The course record of 23:48 was set Sept. 27 by Craig Vio, Oklahoma City and the University of Illinois.

Only four of the six runners finished the race for the Rivermen, eliminating them from the scoring. Five runners must finish in order to compute a team score. Meg Burns and Dan White, both running for the first time in intercollegiate competition, missed a turn in the third mile and were disqualified.

Bobby Williams was high finisher for the Rivermen, taking 45th in 27:53. He was followed by Neil Rebbe, 51st in 28:14, Frank Hako, 64th in 29:16, and Jim Shanahan, 65th in 29:17.

"We were competing against the best in the state of Missouri and the times show this," said head coach Mark Bernsen. "Our times did improve and that's all we can hope for. We have all underclassmen running this year so we consider this a rebuilding year. As the program grows we should be better able to hold our own against this type of competition."

Women's Tennis loses

Tom Klein

After raking up three straight early-season victories the UMSL women's tennis team lost its first match to Washington University, 6-1, last Tuesday. But features a split schedule. Judy Whitney, five easily outdistanced second place and Buddy Lawrence, who:

```
...```

The spring probably will feature a more split fall-spring schedule. Judy Whitney, women's tennis coach, talked about the team and the split-season recently at the Multi-Purpose building.

"Many schools are going just to a fall season ans we wanted to play them," said Whitney. "So we are playing Washington U., Lindenwood, and Maryville College in the fall and finishing up against others in the spring." The spring probably will feature UMSL's town-gown opposition. The schedule has not been decided yet but Whitney hopes to give other teams an opportunity to develop their strength. All the girls have other activities and hopefully that won't be a problem.

(continued on page 16)

CLASSIFIEDS

pass it around

October 20th & 21st: Homecoming King and Queen Elections 10am - 2pm and 6am - 9pm; Monday and Tuesday.

Needed - riders, rides, caravans to E. W. coast; some free gas rides to L.A. 644-3857, 5 - 9 pm.

help wanted

Female Models for photo figure shoot 6-8pm. Sunday. Garage. Call 645-4534 M.W.F. 1:30 - 3:30pm.

famous quotes

"We love it here in Chor City."

Place classifieds at Room 255 University Center.

Classifieds are 10 cents a word and must be in one week prior to publication.

SPORTS

The year is 2024... a future you'll probably live to see.

CLASSIFIEDS

pass it around

October 20th & 21st: Homecoming King and Queen Elections 10am - 2pm and 6am - 9pm; Monday and Tuesday.

Needed - riders, rides, caravans to E. W. coast; some free gas rides to L.A. 644-3857, 5 - 9 pm.

help wanted

Female Models for photo figure shoot 6-8pm. Sunday. Garage. Call 645-4534 M.W.F. 1:30 - 3:30pm.

famous quotes

"We love it here in Chor City."

Place classifieds at Room 255 University Center.

Classifieds are 10 cents a word and must be in one week prior to publication.

CLASSIFIEDS

pass it around

October 20th & 21st: Homecoming King and Queen Elections 10am - 2pm and 6am - 9pm; Monday and Tuesday.

Needed - riders, rides, caravans to E. W. coast; some free gas rides to L.A. 644-3857, 5 - 9 pm.

help wanted

Female Models for photo figure shoot 6-8pm. Sunday. Garage. Call 645-4534 M.W.F. 1:30 - 3:30pm.

famous quotes

"We love it here in Chor City."

Place classifieds at Room 255 University Center.

Classifieds are 10 cents a word and must be in one week prior to publication.

CLASSIFIEDS

pass it around

October 20th & 21st: Homecoming King and Queen Elections 10am - 2pm and 6am - 9pm; Monday and Tuesday.

Needed - riders, rides, caravans to E. W. coast; some free gas rides to L.A. 644-3857, 5 - 9 pm.

help wanted

Female Models for photo figure shoot 6-8pm. Sunday. Garage. Call 645-4534 M.W.F. 1:30 - 3:30pm.

famous quotes

"We love it here in Chor City."

Place classifieds at Room 255 University Center.

Classifieds are 10 cents a word and must be in one week prior to publication.

CLASSIFIEDS

pass it around

October 20th & 21st: Homecoming King and Queen Elections 10am - 2pm and 6am - 9pm; Monday and Tuesday.

Needed - riders, rides, caravans to E. W. coast; some free gas rides to L.A. 644-3857, 5 - 9 pm.

help wanted

Female Models for photo figure shoot 6-8pm. Sunday. Garage. Call 645-4534 M.W.F. 1:30 - 3:30pm.

famous quotes

"We love it here in Chor City."

Place classifieds at Room 255 University Center.

Classifieds are 10 cents a word and must be in one week prior to publication.
Tennis and football highlight intramurals

Paul Koensig

UMSL’s intramural tennis tournament entered its last day of competition Monday, Oct. 6 as all three divisions had reached the “finals” bracket of play.

In previous Division II semifinal action, Mike Hubbell downed Jim Struthers 6-1, 6-2 and John Kroll beat Bill Heath 6-2, 6-2. Hubbell and Kroll were to have met for the division title Monday afternoon.

Division I semifinal matches pitted Mark Capelli and Lin Chew. Capelli came out on top 6-2, 6-2. Hubbell and Kroll were to have met midway Monday afternoon.

Hubbell and Kroll were downed Jim Struthers 6-1, 6-2. In previous Division II semifinal action, Mike Hubbell downed Jim Struthers 6-1, 6-2. Hubbell and Kroll were to have met for the division title Monday afternoon.

Division I semifinal matches pitted Mark Capelli and Lin Chew. Capelli came out on top 6-2, 6-2. In previous Division II semifinal action, Mike Hubbell downed Jim Struthers 6-1, 6-2. Hubbell and Kroll were to have met for the division title Monday afternoon.

In Division II, Mike Hubbell reached the finals. Mike Hubbell reached the finals. Mike Hubbell reached the finals.

Upcoming Events

Bowling is now in full swing as league games began Tuesday Oct. 7. Eight four-man teams will be competing regularly at Ferguson Lanes.

Coed volleyball will begin Oct. 19. The deadline for rosters is Oct. 13.

Attention basketball players Day and evening leagues are now forming. The deadline is Oct. 27. Also, anyone interested in refereeing basketball games please contact Jim Velten at 453-5641.

If the above list is not enough, the intramurals program also offers racquetball. The coed doubles deadline is Oct. 17.

Freshman sets national records

Hilt of Columbia, Mo., took the 100 kilometer race, which was conducted concurrently, with a national record time of 8:26:04.

Hardcourt Tryouts

Basketball tryouts will be held Oct. 20 and 21. Anyone interested in trying out for the Rivermen basketball squad please contact Assistant Coach Mark Bernsen by calling 453-5641 or by coming by his office in the Multi-Purpose building.

The University Program Board presents

Viveca Lindfors

in Tam a Woman

"She is impressive . . . Miss Lindfors is excellent as she mercifully brings to life a cavalcade of 36 women, from Shaw, Ibsen, Coleridge, Shakespeare, Sylvia Plath, Brecht, a battery of women's journalists and many other sources." — The New York Times

"This miraculously gifted and consummately acted composite portrait of Woman. The feature of dozens of them, ranging from August 198" while the contours of characterization . . . But it is as the immortal taking." — Cue Magazine

Frid-

SOLD OUT

J.C. Penney Auditorium

$2 UMSL Students
$3 Faculty & Staff
$4 Public

THIS PROGRAM HAS BEEN SUBSIDIZED WITH STUDENT ACTIVITY FUNDS
Hockey halts losing trend

Jim Shannon

The field hockey team began their march back from constant defeat this past week by winning two and losing one as they raised their record to 3-4-1. The team also lost a 5-2 exhibition match Sunday.

The Rivermen triumphed 1-0 over Southwest Missouri State Tuesday Sept. 30. They lost to SMSU 3-1 earlier in the season at Springfield. Coach Carol Migrenon attributed the difference in the two games to a combination of factors.

"Before it was our first game and the long trip to Springfield hurt," said Migrenon. "Playing on our own field helps a lot. This just wasn't the same team that played them before."

The field hockey team lost a 1-0 match Wednesday at Mera­mec before bouncing back for a 2-0 victory over SIU Edwards­ville Saturday. The women lost an exhibition match with the St. Louis Field Hockey Association.

Rivermen kickers overrun opponents on the road

Tom Rodgers

Traveling to Ohio and competing in back-to-back contests, the UMSL soccer team produced back-to-back victories defeating Xavier University 4-0 on Satur­day and Cincinnati University 6-1 on Sunday. The twin vic­tories boosted the UMSL record to 4-1-1.

Against Xavier the Rivermen converted 38 shots into four goals while Xavier had only four shots and no goals. Picking up the goals for the Rivermen were Jack Donovan, Steve Moyers, Mark Dorsey and Dave Bohmert.

Commenting on the outcome of the Xavier contest, coach Don Dallas stated, "we played well. Their goalie played very well and was able to hold us to four goals." The Xavier goalie pro­duced 18 saves in the game.

The Rivermen continued their reign on goal Sunday as they exploded for 23 shots and six goals against Cincinnati Univer­sity. Cincinnati managed nine shots on goal and one score.

With 8:45 passed in the game Riverman Jack Donovas scored the first goal of the contest on an assist from Jim McKenna, who was to break the UMSL record for assists in a single game with four to his credit. At 12:25 Steve Moyers followed suit and scored on an assist from Jim Goodall.

At 22:30 Donovan scored on another assist by McKenna. Then at 27:00 Moyers got into the act again with the assist of McKenna and scored from about 25 yards out to the right corner. Riverman Dennis Boskey chipped in with the fifth goal at 36:00 on an assist by Mike Beck. Capping the barrage of goals was Mike Dean at 69:00 on the fourth assist of McKenna.

"McKenna broke the record for assists set by Tim Fitz­simmons who had three. We moved him to wing for the game and he played exceptionally well," remarked Dallas.

Also breaking a record was Donovan who has scored at least one goal in every game so far this season. His season total is seven.

UMSL played Washington University on Oct. 8 but the results were not available for this issue. The Rivermen con­sider the following contest against SIU on Oct. 15 to be the big game of the year. The contest will start at 4:45 on the Rivermen field and coach Dallas hopes for a big turnout.

Tennis loses

[cut from page 14]

lem in the spring."

It doesn't seem to be too much of a problem now, as UMSL has dispatched three of its first four opponents. Has the early successes surprised the coaches?

"I thought we'd do well at the start of the season," said Whit­ney. "I lost some of my top ranked girls from last year but Pat Pelley and Fran Swigunski have alternated at our number one spot and done a good job."

"But it's been a total team effort. All the players have come through. The girls are concerned about each other's performance and are very close together. The whole team has been very enjoyable to work with."

Golfers try new format

Tom Rodgers

Opening its fall season, the UMSL golf team has found a "temporary" coach in the per­son of Alan Schuermann. He is temporary in the respect that he is acting as an interim coach until a permanent mentor is named.

Schuermann is a graduate of Valparaiso and competed on the golf team during his four years there. He is presently the men's golf champion of the Illini Golf Club in Springfield, Illinois, and an instructor in the UMSL School of Business Admini­stration.

According to Schuermann the reason for the fall golf season is "predominantly to take advantage of good weather in a build up to spring semester and the official season." In this "build up" the Rivermen will compete in several tournaments, one of which is the Mid America Inter­college Golf Classic which is held at Terre Du Lac country club.

The spring golfers will be led by four returning performers. These are Jerry Meyer, leading golfer from last season's team and participant in the NCAA Division II tournament. Gary Hess, Mike O'Toole, and Chick Zelenski. Also two freshmen will be added to the persons of Steve Dietz and John Hayes.

The spring golf schedule will be highlighted by the Spring Sports Spectacular held in Galva­tion, Texas. All spring sports will be represented at this event. Schuermann suggests that any person interested in competing should contact Chuck Smith, athletic director, at the athletic office.

Your wedding

in pictures

SPECIAL NOW THROUGH NOVEMBER
10% off on prepaid weddings
20% off on optional wedding albums

Call today for an appointment
838-8168
Kemneth Henderson Photography
Where the Bride is Zeen

HEAR
Ambassador Theatre

A NATIONAL TOURING PRODUCTION
THE AMERICAN TRIBAL LOVE-ROCK MUSICAL
DIRECT FROM NEW YORK CITY
FULL ORCHESTRA & CHOIR SPECIAL LIGHTING EFFECTS
Orange Julius (N.W. Plaza)
Kobe Radio & Spectrum
AMBASSADOR THEATRE
BOX OFFICE

241-3585

ALL EYES ON THE BALL: Practice has begun to pay off for the women's field hockey team, as they have won two and lost one in the past week.[Photo by Paul Zelemaki]