University of Missouri-St. Louis

Offices are there to help students

Well, you decided to continue your education and you picked UMSL as the place to do it. Maybe you didn’t have enough money to study out of state. Maybe you simply wanted to stay in St. Louis. Whichever the reason, the choice has been made. It was a good choice. Now it’s time to get on with your education.

If you are unfamiliar with the University of Missouri-St. Louis, and there are a thousand questions floating around in your head, no need to fret. Everyone else feels the same way. The following is a listing of the administrative offices at the university. It may help answer some of your questions. Again, it may not. If it doesn’t, you’ll just have to ask somebody.

The people who work in these offices are there to help you. Take advantage of their help. It’s all yours. Have a good semester.

U.M.S.L. Special Edition

Introduction

Are you lost in the shuffle? Wondering about this and that? Running bitter and bitter looking about the possibilities? Needing all the info you need (or at least a good estimate)? Aren’t you just filled with joy?

Contained within the following paragraphs is information essential to the up-and-coming UMSL student. If you need tutoring or help with your studies, this is your office. If you need counseling or career assistance, this is where you go. If you need to know where to park, you’ll have to ask somebody. Everyone else feels the same way. The scripts, current course schedules and other key information, may be used by students on a walk-in basis. Peer counselors, staffed throughout the day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., are available to talk with students on a regular basis. Peer counselors are fleXible m advocacy for students and may be used by students on a walk-in basis.

In addition, the Career Center offers free workshops in career exploration and decision-making. These workshops are available for use without appointment. Career counselors are available to talk with students on a walk-in basis. The center also provides peer counseling to students on a walk-in basis. Peer counselors may be used by students on a walk-in basis.

Women’s Center

The UMSL Women’s Center offers information and referral service, short-term counseling, advocacy for women students, programs on women’s issues and career choices, cultural events and exhibits, a lending library of over 1000 volumes on education and about women, topical resource files, and 24-hour information about women’s activities, events, organizations and services in St. Louis.

Located in 107A Benton Hall, the Women’s Center is the place to go to get support and assistance in coping with UMSL help.

UMSL offers a wide selection of student organizations catering to varying interests. This page is intended to give you an overview of some of these organizations and what they have to offer. However, information provided is not all-inclusive, but tries to highlight certain points of each organization. Some organizations are mentioned in other areas of this issue, and therefore are not covered in this section.

Performing artists lend many talents

These organizations are curricular-oriented, but in the specific areas of the fine arts. Most accept membership through auditions or applications and offer academic credits. Students interested in speech and communication proficiency might want to consider the UMSL Forensics and Debate Club. This organization hosts numerous tournaments at major colleges and universities throughout the nation.

For music enthusiasts, UMSL offers the Jazz Ensemble, University Symphony Band, University Wind Ensemble, the Missouri Chamber Singers, the St. Louis Alumni Chorus, and the St. Louis University Chorus. The staff of Student Radio station WFFC at UMSL is another fine performing arts organization. Information was arranged through the Staff Airs a variety of programs, from classical music to dance, awards banquets, and regularly published newsletters are provided for evening students by the Evening College Council. The council serves the evening students as a liaison to the University, the student government, and participates in student government. For those interested in education, there is the UMSL Student Missouri State Teacher Association, Kappa Delta Pi (an honors society), and the University of Missouri Student National Education Society.

Curriculum-oriented groups courses and careers

UMSL offers a variety of curriculum-oriented groups affiliated with an academic department. They are offered in business, medicine, science, education and other special areas. Delta Sigma Pi, a co-ed business fraternity, has participated in social activities and community service, provided career information, and offered social fraternities, performed community service, and featured speakers such as Louie Corcoran, Sigma Pi Sigma. Sigma Pi offers a co-ed fraternity that provides exposure to the business world through social events and community service projects. It also provides representation to numerous parties. The Marketing Club is open to all UMSL students and holds monthly meetings. The Accounting Club helps students become acquainted with the accounting faculty, office and environment, as well as other accounting students. It features speakers from major accounting firms and sponsors a number of special interest groups at UMSL. Their type of activities and area of involvement vary from group to group.

The Associated Black College Students (ABC) are a membership-oriented organization whose membership is open to all interested students. Also, ABC helps lives of black students at UMSL. Groups are divided into five major categories, in addition to the Office of Student Activities, in order for students to more easily locate themselves and their specific interests. Within these six categories are other, smaller sub-groupings that were used in organizing the material. Where appropriate, groups were arranged alphabetically. Information was compiled, with permission, from the RESOURCE book, a student organization directory published by the Office of Student Activities at UMSL. Students in joining a specific type of organization are encouraged to interest themselves in organizations of that type in order to choose the one most suitable for them.

For further information on individual organizations or groups in general, contact the Office of Student Activities in Room 250 of the University Center, or call 533-5536.

Religious involvement

Religious organizations serve a vital role at UMSL in spiritual fulfillment in a campus environment. All religious organizations welcome students of all denominations and all religious activities for members who may otherwise be unable to attend. One such organization is the Baptist Student Union. This organization's highlights include a trip to National Student Week at Gliorita Conference Center near St. Louis, Missouri; a workshop; Christmas caroling at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham, and a trip to see the Christmas lights at Our Lady of the Snows Shrine in Belleville, Ill.

Greeks rush now

Fraternities and sororities are an important aspect of the UMSL social scene. They offer many social, intramural, academic and community service opportunities. They set roles and guidelines for members of organizations. They also coordinate community service projects, promote international understanding, sensitivity and give students a variety of viewpoints. Information was arranged through the Staff Airs a variety of programs, from classical music to dance, awards banquets, and regularly published newsletters are provided for evening students by the Even...
A new chamber music series cosponsored by UMSL and the Ethical Society of St. Louis will supplement classical music performances by the Kammergild Chamber Orchestra and various music department groups this season.

The new chamber music series will consist of two concerts at the Ethical Society auditorium, 9001 Clayton Road, and two concerts in UMSL's J.C. Penney Auditorium. All four concerts will start at 8 p.m.

The Laurentian Chamber Players from Sarah Lawrence College will perform Oct. 22 at the Ethical Society; the Cleveland Quartet will perform at UMSL Nov. 11.

The series will resume March 19 with theTaverney String Quartet from Paris performing at the Ethical Society. Rome's I Musici Chamber Orchestra concludes the series April 23 with a concert at UMSL.

The Current needs production assistants.
U Players begin new lunch theater program

Although the University Players are offering less productions in their Benton Hall Theatre this season, the group has started a new Lunch Box Theatre series. Student-directed one-act plays or scenes from upcoming productions will be staged by the U Players on the University Center Plaza or in various indoor locations, depending on the weather.

Lunch Box Theatre will be presented this Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3 and 4, Feb. 23 and 24, and Apr. 5 and 6.

The group will formally start its season Oct. 25 through 30. The players will present a musical to be announced; tickets will be $3 for students with an UMSL ID and $4 for the public.

An alumni variety show, in celebration of UMSL's 20th anniversary will be staged Dec. 2 through 4. Tickets will be $2 for UMSL students and $3 for others. The players will produce student-directed readers' theater Dec. 9 through 11, admission will be $1 for UMSL students and $2 for the general public.

This Thursday, "The Tower," by Peter Weiss will be staged March 1 through 4. Tickets will be $2 for general admission and $1 for UMSL students.

The series continues the program Nov. 11 and 12. Ben Kinsley stars in "Gandhi," to be shown Nov. 18 and 19. The film won Academy Awards for best picture, best director and best actor. There will be no 10 p.m. show this weekend only.

The series returns after Thanksgiving with the latest film in the James Bond series, "Octopussy," Dec. 2 and 3.

"War Games" concludes the series Dec. 9 and 10.

The Center for Metropolitan Studies, meanwhile, has scheduled at least three photography exhibits for the 1983 fall semester. Photographs by St. Louis physician Ralph Copp are on view Sept. 1 through 30, with an informal opening at 1 p.m. Sept. 1.

Photographs by Stan Stremick, photography professor at Washington University, are on view Oct. 3 through 31 in the center, followed Nov. 1 through 30 by "St. Louis Gardens: Zoological and Botanical," an exhibit by photographer Candice Wolf.

There are a few scary stories about the cost of college education these days. Many high school students aren’t planning to attend college because they don’t have the money. BUT WAIT! Air Force ROTC can help. With our scholarship programs, we will pay for your college tuition, books, along with certain fees AND pay you $100 per month living expenses. After you receive your degree you’ll be eligible for a commission as an Air Force officer. If you can qualify, Air Force ROTC can mean a college degree and a brighter future for you. Find out more. For your country and yourself, make Air Force ROTC a part of your future. Contact Capt. Lillie (618) 337-7500 ext. 230 signature and UMSL identification numbers and must be submitted before the semester begins. A fee of $10 will be required with each entry form and will be retained upon completion of the schedule unless the team should forfeit a game. All playing equipment is available for all activities.

Events, entry dates and monthly calendars will be posted on the intramural bulletin board in the Mark Twain Building. Flyers and releases will be posted around campus.

The Current will publish advance notices, standings and results on a regular basis.

If you do not wish to organize a team, but would like to play on one, you may contact the Intramural Office and arrangements will be made. All participants must be either a student, faculty or staff member with a valid ID card. Alumni with current passes may participate for a nominal fee.

Current coverage

Throughout the 1983-84 school year, the Current sports page will feature UMSL athletics affiliated with UMSL. Primarily, stories will be written in a news/sports format. Intercollegiate athletics, intramurals, sports columns, and special features stories will be run.

At the beginning of each team’s season, there will be preview articles of those teams.

Also, a standings column will run on the first page of the sporting section, to provide quick-glance reference as to how UMSL teams are doing in their respective leagues and conferences.

Coming up, look for the men’s soccer preview story, along with our volleyball, a new head coach, and more.

Political pride provides proven punch

Political organizations were added as a separate category of organizations at UMSL this year. These include several different political ideals and philosophies. Some of the groups are oriented to politics at UMSL, while others pertain to national and world scopes. Most political groups feature guest speakers and are open to all students.

A political group looking for students who are interested in peace and security as well as information about communism, is the College of Communists. The Modest United Nations Group is affliated to students interested in United Nations affairs and international politics. Democrats at UMSL, have two groups to choose from. The Concerned Democrats are interested in opposing radicalization of the party and in regaining many of the traditional Democrats who have swayed to voting for Republicans. UWMSL, Student Democrats provide a forum where government officials can interact with students. Their only requirements are to care about democracy and to attend the meetings.

For Republican students there is the College Republicans, an organization that discusses the "goals and platforms of the Republican Party and provides support for Republican candidates in election years."

The Progressive Conservations join with Saint Louis University and Washington University groups for occasional film showings and political actions. This group maintains a reference library, and provides periodicals the the Thomas Jefferson Library for student and faculty use.

navigating and safety skills. Club members may use the UMSL pool and kayaking gear for an eight-week training session held on Wednesday evenings.

Outback provides an opportunity to learn and use outdoor skills. It regularly plans activities such as bicycling, backpacking, canoeing, rappelling, climbing and camping.

The Parliamentary Law Association meets approximately three times per semester and studies parliamentary procedure. There are no membership dues, however a copy of "Robert's Rules of Order" is recommended.

The UMSL Ping-Pong Team is open to all students interested in table tennis and will schedule matches with other colleges and universities.

For sports car enthusiasts there is the UMSL Sports Car Club. This group has had an Auto Cross, Race Rally, and meetings.

The Ultimate Frisbee Club participates in Ultimate Frisbee Football. It will also conduct frisbee clinics and hold annual meets.

The Student Foundation primarily raises money for student scholarships and loans, and occasionally works with other campus organizations. There are no dues and anyone may attend the meetings.

The Students With Concerns for Children and Youth would like to improve the availability of child care.

The Veterans Club explores issues of concern to military veterans, such as stress, Agent Orange, and readjustment.

And finally, VFW's ROK is an organization for veterans who own or are interested in Volkswagens.
