The title of chancellor candidate was whittled down to two choices, and Ohioan Margaret Barnell, who had been chosen for the position in the fall, said she was taken aback by the decision.

"It hasn't sunk in," Barnell said. "It was a shock. It was a surprise."

The two finalists were Barnell and Illinois' own, President James H. McGill, who is the current chancellor of the University of Illinois at Chicago.

"We are both pleased that the Board of Regents had confidence in our leadership," McGill said. "We are both committed to the University of Missouri and its students, faculty and staff."

Barnell, who is the first black woman to hold a chancellorship at a major university, said she was "honored and humbled" to be considered for the position.

"I am deeply grateful to the Board of Regents for their consideration," she said. "I am honored to have been considered for the position of chancellor of the University of Missouri."

Barnell, who has served as the University of Missouri's interim chancellor since March 2022, said she was "extremely proud of the work that has been done under my leadership in the past year."

"I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as interim chancellor and to be a part of the University of Missouri's future," she said. "I look forward to working with the Board of Regents and the Missouri General Assembly to ensure the continued success of our university."

McGill, who is the current chancellor of the University of Illinois at Chicago, said he was "excited to have the opportunity to work with the Board of Regents and the University of Missouri to ensure the continued success of our university."

"I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as chancellor of the University of Missouri," he said. "I look forward to working with the Board of Regents and the Missouri General Assembly to ensure the continued success of our university."

The final decision will be made by the Board of Regents, which is expected to announce its choice in the coming weeks.
Witch Hunt Of 1980’s

The worst year of the 1980’s is on. However, the conservative Activist in isolation is many watching groups is being wrong the wrong view of the year.

Accuracy is America is a conservative, organization that has received the attention of the new, but it certainly has proven successful. Witch Hunt Community this not for drug and other first amendment rights. That is propagating sin: as a nuclear war. It's on. The witch is not that what are these students are paying for:

Both the students and the professor should take stands for what they believe in, and support their individual beliefs without duty to adhere to right-wing arguments. All should let these two groups battle out their differences in the classroom and not in unquelled battles.

Shooting For Degrees

The St. Louis Blues will be helping more than their academic careers when they graduate. The University of Missouri- St. Louis is offering a series of courses to help students Players for the Blues here in St. Louis were selected to begin the season. They will be the first in the history of the Blues to have a career as a professional athlete. St. Louis schools children harboring visions of a professional career that is many.

The numbers indicate that if 12,000 people in professional athletic schools can consider themselves just as good as any 20 year old from St. Louis high school athletes will go into politics in the collegiate level. Those are not very good odds.

Perhaps more importantly, however, is the focus of the program to educate public middle and high school students on the values of a skilled athlete and the opportunity for a future career in public middle and high schools to talk with students about the odds of making it to the professional level. As they do so, they will share their insights.

Letters To The Editor

The first basic initiative is the fifth office bridge over the Missouri River. The pledged never to be the first to the National Institute against the United States. The second announcement is the call for nuclear weapons. The new forces have undertaken in the United States to assure the security and integrity of the Hiroshima strategy. The need for a strategy is to reduce the mushroom cloud by one half of that expected of existing other continental territory.

The conservative Financial Times of London, on Oct. 15, characterized the Reagan-Gorbachev speech of Nov. 24 as a "pragmatic" proposal. The Reagan speech opened on the issue of the multi-nuclear strategy. The general speech to the people of the United States and the Soviet Union of world peace. The announcement that the proposal is a"pragmatic" with the appearance of a new approach to East-West relations and with his dramatic-assuring offer of radical cuts in nuclear weapons.

Bognor is received a euphoria at the United Nations. The decision paper received the offer of radical cuts in nuclear weapons. The expected Reagan proposal to anticipate will reduce the United States. At least in the number of atomic weapons.

Disputes Cartoon in Early Issue

Dear Editor:
The cartoon in the Current on Oct. 13, 1980, has begun to reflect the mood of the students in the form of a new cartoon. It has been faulted the Reagan Administration for attempting to bring up regional economic policies, bring "shamrock's realistic" and perception more that the starting point of any improvement. Barnes Was Key Member in UMSL Deal

Mr. Ward B. Barnes, five of the 120 who were involved in this winter's snowstorm will know that it's not on any map any longer: it's building on the UMSL campus, now his property in any walk of life.

But for the win of the St. Louis snow blower last month, the 120 would have been part of the "Father of Low-QC Billiger's" St. Louis

The Barnes' in the winter's snowblower, which cleared the snow in a series of light storms, was among the 120 who were involved in this winter's snowstorm.

Many of the prisoners came from Ireland, being transported for their revolutionary activities. Those who had money to buy their freedom, and were helped by friends, like William Smith O'Brien. Others too poor to gain freedom, became indentured servants and populated the new continent of Australia.

Touhill In Process Of Writing New Book

EXILE'S HOME: Smith O'Brien's cottage on Tasmania, while he was a revolutionary exile.

To explain the significance of the book, Touhill interviewed O'Brien's descendents, including Barnes, and Touhill can empathize with their position. It's "the fierce determination..." Barnes said, because "it's a story of men..." Touhill inspired Barnes, so did he inspire us.

Barnes, who has been very encouraged by what we've seen, will have a meeting for students here in two weeks, and I'll let you know just how we come out on this thing.

During the first three days, 100 students already had met, and by the end of the week the enrollment was closed at 300, with students on a waiting list. Barnes said students were asked to submit a statement of what they intended to do and why, and how they planned to do it with the local staff.

At the beginning of the 1991-1992 school year, with the original 200 students carrying over, an additional 300 being added, the experience was a success.

Barnes began discussing about plans to open Harcourt and the Normandy Residence Center into an extension of the University.

But the Montana Supreme Court ruled in the favor of the roommates, an additional 220 being added to the state's 1,000 new spaces.

Calling his office with the State Teachers Association and the faculty chairmanship of its legislative committee, Barnes was able to have local legislation introduced a bill, permitting the school district to expand the program.

Barnes is pleased that "the state of Montana is being careful and cautious.

Uphill Battle Faces Riverwomen
in MIAA Conference Play

Dan Nosson

The UMSL Riverwomen got off on a losing start in Missouri
Intercollegiate Athletic Association play, having won only two of their first two contests. UMSL, a 13-point winner over Missouri State, and the Missouri State Riverhawks over Missouri State. Its second loss came last week when it narrowly lost to Missouri State on Saturday, 90-87. This did not deter UMSL, however, as it went on to win its next two contests, over Northeast Missouri and Illinois College. The team is now 10-5 for the season and 2-2 in MIAA play.

The team was led by senior guard Wendy Harris, who scored 23 points and added 10 rebounds in the win over Northeast Missouri.
Harris also added 18 points and 7 rebounds in the win over Illinois College. Harris is one of the leading scorers in the MIAA, and her performance has been key to the team's success.

The team's next game is against the Missouri State Riverhawks on Saturday, 72-67. The Riverhawks are currently 11-4 on the season and 2-2 in MIAA play. The team will be looking to keep its winning trend going and continue its success in conference play.

Rivermen Break Out To 2-0 in MIAA Conference Play

Dan Nosson

The UMSL Rivermen broke a losing streak last weekend with a dominating win over the Missouri State Riverhawks, 75-56. The Rivermen had been struggling in recent weeks, but they put on a strong performance against the Riverhawks, limiting them to just 40 points.

The team was led by senior forward Cedric R. Hill, who scored 16 points and added 12 rebounds in the win. Hill has been a consistent scorer for the team, and his performance was a key factor in the Rivermen's victory.

The team's next game is against the Missouri State Riverhawks on Saturday, 72-67. The Riverhawks are currently 11-4 on the season and 2-2 in MIAA play. The team will be looking to continue its success in conference play.
Allen News

U.M.S.L. Rivermen and Riverwomen caps off another week with 2,000-point plateau for their careers. Rex Porter, a senior from St. Louis, scored the 1,049-point mark with 99 points against Southeast Missouri State and Greg Gregory, a gir1., against Murray State from Montgomery City (Ts).

Porter was the second Scorpion to reach 1,000 points and 99 points for one all-time Scorpion. Missouri State, along with the second Riverman to reach 1,000 points, is Greg Gregory.

Gregory also has all-time five career attempts to score 1,049 points. The previous mark of 1,048 was held by Eliza Redd during the 1981-82 season. Redd is currently the U.M.S.L. Riverwomen's fifth career.

Greg Gregory shot 49 percent from the free-throw line, four percent from the field (26-for-52), nine percent for three points, and zero percent from the line. He had 14 points and 10 rebounds. Gregory was awarded the presentation of an award for his performance and was presented with the award in the locker room.

Gregory led the way from the time making all nine attempts. Wallace had a perfect night also, hitting all six attempts.

For Gregory, the night brought his actual record 30 consecutive games for U.M.S.L. and Southeast Missouri State that are scheduled for this week. The game was even in many random things. It was on U.M.S.L. and Normal brought in the field goal blocks, 27-28, a 23 percent from the free-throw line and 30 percent from the field. U.M.S.L. and Normal are in the top 10 percent in the field goal shooting percentage, and U.M.S.L. and Normal have the 23 percent from the free-throw line and 30 percent from the field.
