Curators Approve Library Addition

The five-year plan developed by the University will be updated and revised on an annual basis. The plan will draw funding from increased state allocations, private sources and economic shifts in the campus budget.

In the past five years, Primm has done more than keep his promise. "I've been told more than once by the group that set our goals that I was able to run the university," he said.

Primm's campus is one of the few in Missouri that has been able to maintain its financial stability. The university has been able to attract new students and retain those who have already enrolled.

The university's budget is based on a five-year plan, which is reviewed and revised annually. The plan is designed to address the needs of the university as well as the demands of the community.

The University of Missouri-St. Louis is embarking on a challenging five-year plan. This journey was outlined last week when the Chancellor announced a comprehensive five-year plan for the campus.

The plan is the culmination of the Chancellor's Partnerships for Progress Program and has an added feature that focuses on campus support services. At the University of Missouri-St. Louis, and the expansion of the University’s Continuing Education Program.

The plan will be updated and revised on a yearly basis to cover the University of Missouri’s Long Range Plan and this campus budget request for state funding. It is true that the administration has learned that programs, no matter how good they are, do not sell themselves in Jefferson City.

The first plan “packages the campus” to a leg up of politicians.

Let’s hope it sells. If not, the St. Louis region and the students this campus serves will lose.

Senate Elections Poorly Handled

Elections were held this week for student members of the campus senate.

Since the most students were not aware of this due to the poor timing of the election and the lack of publicity generated about the various candidates.

Since the filing deadline for the 25 student senate seats was extended to March 18, and the elections were this week, March 19, this newspaper was unable to accurately cover the elections.

Apathy is bad enough on campus without adding to it. Furthermore, even those students who do make it to the campus senate often don’t take advantage of their roles. This year’s student senate attendance rate is very low.

How many people do you see around you who are interested in campus issues? Well, most of the people in the crowded student union want to be anything but political. You know who? The people you made up your mind to get out of the house and get a job.

There are third, new student elections are held in September, contact the office to inquire about your possibility of applying for this upcoming academic year. First, to make sure your application is filled out completely and return to the Student Senate office in time, you must not waste any time.

Dear Editor:

As an active student who attends UMSL, I am now attending the University of Missouri-Columbia. I want to comment on an editorial published against IMU involvement in Student Government.

I am sure of many who have heard the sorry tale, and usually we see more people for the campus Columbia could care less about South Africa.

Well, most of the people in the crowded student union want to be anything but political. You know who? The people you made up your mind to get out of the house and get a job.

The plan was constructed through the Chancellor’s Partnerships for Progress Program and has an added feature that focuses on campus support services.

However, most students were not aware of this due to the poor timing of the filing deadline and election date, the Current was unable to accurately cover the campus community so that an informed student electorate could make decisions at the polls.

Chairman, Department of Energy

Between his 11 years of service to UMSL, he served as its president during 1964-1966. Leventhal earned his B.A. in physics from Washington University and a Ph.D. in physics from the University of Florida. Leventhal, who has taught at UMSL since 1964, has taught at UMSL since 1964. Leventhal has made outstanding contributions to the understanding of the structure of atoms and elementary particles. He served as chairman of the division of Energy among others. His status in the international science community has also helped attract numerous undergraduate and graduate students to UMSL. Many of these students have co-authored scholarly research papers with him and benefited from his personal instruction. Leventhal's expertise as a consultant was acknowledged by the receiving the President's Research Award in 1982. Leventhal has also been active in the campus community. He served as a chairman of the UMSL PLAN.

The Partnership Program was developed by St. Louis can number and is presently before the state legislature for funding in the University's 1987-88 state budget request. The Partnership Plan looks at ways to prepare high school students for college, to enhance science and technology programs available to area citizens and to establish collaborative efforts with area business and industry.

The five-year plan adds a fourth emphasis area of support services. Project Support will strengthen the other three Partnership Programs by providing support services for libraries, computing, scholarships and fundraising efforts. These support services have never been adequately funded.

Under the new plan, the University will add a branch for Continuing Education courses, as well as start a new evening program. The plan will also include a new education program in the arts.

The university has also proposed to expand its facilities, including a new athletic center and a new library. The university plans to raise $25 million in private contributions to support these projects.

The university's Board of Trustees has approved the plan, and the university is now seeking approval from the state legislature.

Cosby Concert To Top Spring Break Billings

by Sue Fenamer

Music reviewer

The competent supporting cast could road trip to someplace other than the Horseshoe Casino for a Spring Break concert of Epic proportions. The starring billings are immediately recognizable with the brand names of Bill Cosby and the Sonny & Cher Boys. The choice of this genre for this section is not a surprise since the negative infulences in rock and roll are nothing new. Cosby is still gagging after his attempt to cash in on the "everyman" image of "The Nutty Professor". He knows what he is doing and he is still making it work. It seems that his career is on the upswing again, This is the type of book that the author has written. Immediately preceding that chapter, by the way, is a note from the author: "If you really want to know what this is all about, read the book book, "Goode's Lesbian Lives of Rock and Roll", and find out for yourself what it is all about."

The Georgia satellites hail from Atlanta, Georgia and formed in 1986. Their lineup consists of Dan "Shaggy"" Martin, Steve "Hill"" Daniels, and Paul Cousins. The Georgia satellites are currently recording their second album, "Keep Your Eyes to Yourself," on Atlanta's private rock label, "Time", which is produced by Heritage Records. The band has been featured in several major publications, including Rolling Stone and Guitar Player, and has been called "one of the few truly innovative bands on the scene" by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

The competent supporting cast will start the day at the airport and will be happy to stay there until you return to your home town. Cosby will start the day at the airport and will be happy to stay there until you return to your home town.

If you are not going to Florida or California, you might want to consider a trip to Las Vegas or Miami. There are plenty of opportunities for entertainment in both cities. You could go to a comedy club and watch a live show by one of the many famous comedians. You could also go to a dance club and dance the night away with the best of them. The competent supporting cast will be happy to stay there until you return to your home town.

Rivermen Strong On Experience And Pitching

The pitching staff is key to any team's success, according to UMSL baseball coach Jim Brady. If it is the case, then the Rivermen should pile up some numbers this season. The pitcher and catcher positions have improved, says Brady, who is in his ninth year as the UMSL head coach.

The Rivermen will combine new and old faces on the mound this year. Back from last year are pitchers Tom Leasck, Kevin Blanton, Rick Etling, Brady Moore and Paul Niggemeier. Rick Etling, Bill Cunningham, Rick Ring, Brad Moore and Paul Niggemeier.

Brady returns a strong nucleus from last year's team, which compiled a 17-17 record and won the Missouri Valley Conference title.

budget, as well as a variety of other important newspaper management activities. A weekly stipend is provided.

The Committee members said the relationship offers some advantages for those who are interested in becoming journalists.

The Current has been the primary source of revenue for the University for over 20 years. The following application guidelines have been set by the Committee for reviewing applications:

1. Applications from the Current's office in Bedroom 1 of the Blue Metal Office Building, located near the intersection of East Auden and Mark Twain Drives on the north side of campus.

2. A complete job description of the position will be available with the application.

3. Further information about the application process can be obtained by calling Lawrence O. Hume, Grimens, or Dianne M. Grimes, Director of Student Life.
