ABC Conflict Sparks University Inquiries

by Paul Thompson

A student told the Vol State inquirer that the president of ABC is out to squash student voice and democratic activity on campus. He claims that ABC has been operating unfairly on campus, and that the students have not been given a fair hearing. The student also said that the administration has been trying to suppress the student voice and prevent the students from organizing and voicing their concerns.

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivanix gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivanix, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

On Friday, November 6, 1970, the Administration of Deputy Director celebrated its twentieth anniversary with a reception in the office of the Director.

The program opened with remarks from Dr. Otis Decker, Provost and Chairman of the ADO department.

Directly thereafter, he followed with a list of those recognized for their present accomplishments.

Throughout the reception, a number of awards and certificates were given to those on the nomination of the present administration.

An Administration of this size can only grow in Robert H. Bonner, Deputy Director. An ADO alumna, is currently Director of Research, Planning and Policy for the State of Illinois. She has received numerous awards and certificates for her contributions in the field of education.

Answered Prayers by Truman Capote (Garden City, New York, 1986, p. 246)

..."...More tears are shed over answered prayers than unanswered prayers."

Over 26 years, Truman Capote wrote and published a novel and signed a contract with a publisher to give an interview. The interview was titled "Answered Prayers." Unfortunately (or fortuitously, depending on one's perspective) Truman Capote could not deliver said book.

The interview was supposed to have been "...an examination of a Southern family and the way the very rich live, but however, because beared to a passion for revenge."

..."...The book became something of a nightmare. Superfluous; it was a work of poor writing, its characters drab and lifeless. It was one of Capote's real lives."

Over 26 years, Truman Capote lived with his wife and two children in the suburbs of New York City. He was a member of the New York art world, and a regular fixture at parties and social events. He was known for his wit and charm, and was often seen with famous friends such as Truman Capote and Tennessee Williams.

..."...All those Kennedy men are the same. They're like dogs, they have to be on every corner to be useful."

‘Tis The Season...

For several years now, in the lead up to November, the University Community has experienced the festive feelings of holiday cheer in student, faculty and staff areas. This transformation is felt off the University Program Board and is called Holiday Fest. This year’s Holiday Fest, Holiday Post 88, will take place on November 28 through November 30.

To start out, the University Center will be decorated with lights, greenery, and ribbon. In addition, Jill, an evergreen tree, stationed near the receptionist’s desk, will be set up in the center of the University Center Lobby.

From 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., and until 6:30 a.m. on November 29, the University Center will be decorated for the Holiday Post 88 party and the Silver Anniversary Celebration. The University’s 15th Anniversary.

Come to Destination MBA
A seminar for Black and Hispanic college students and graduates.

The concept takes college students from different backgrounds and cultures and places them in a business culture. Students will experience the culture and atmosphere of a business and will leave with a better understanding of the business world.

Come to Destination MBA, a two-day event that will take place at the University Center. The event will be held on December 3 and 4.

1969.
It was the year when, if you were young, your life was full of infinite possibilities.
Music was never better. Friends were never closer.

1969. The war in Vietnam was out of control and the battle reached every home.

1969. For three friends it was a time to learn about life and freedom.

1969. It was the year the country split apart but a generation came together.

Deans Claim Article On Student Teaching Misleading

To the editor:
The front-page article in the Nov. 3 Current, "Field Places Under Tense Disciplinary Investigation," is extremely misleading. In its discussion of the article, the authors state that student teachers on the campus are facing disciplinary action after being accused of misusing and misusing student-teacher training experience in the fall semester of 1983. These students have been involved in a large number of different settings for several weeks. The authors state that these students are accused of being involved in a large number of settings. This is not true. The students in this case are being accused of being involved in a large number of settings. This is not true. The students in this case are being accused of being involved in a large number of settings. This is not true.

To the editor:

Correction in a story in the features section of the Current on Oct. 20 (issue 636 about Al) by Peter Witkin of KMUW, Beth Rados was incorrectly referred to as general manager of KMUW. He is actually news director, and Brian Reschke is general manager.

We regret the error.
You don’t need your parents’ money to buy a Macintosh.

Just their signature.

It’s never been difficult for students to convince their parents of the need for a Macintosh® computer at school. Persuading them to write the check, however, is another thing altogether.

Which is why Apple created the Student Loan-to-Own Program. An ingenious loan program that makes buying a Macintosh as easy as using one.

Simply pick up an application at the location listed below, or call 800-831-LOAN. All your parents need to do is fill it out, sign it, and send it. If they qualify, they’ll receive a check for you in just a few weeks. There’s no collateral. No need to prove financial hardship. No application fee. Best of all, the loan payments can be spread over as many as 10 years.

Which gives you and your parents plenty of time to decide just who pays for it all.
