The TKE Booster Club has had a long history of supporting the local community through various initiatives and events. The club aims to promote leadership, character development, and philanthropy among its members, while also providing scholarships and financial assistance to TKE members who demonstrate outstanding academic and personal achievements. The club has recently announced its plans to expand its scholarship fund to support more students pursuing higher education. This year, the club has set a goal of raising $10,000, which will be used to provide scholarships to students from diverse backgrounds and financial situations. The school community is encouraged to donate generously to support these efforts.

Bugg Fish Car Return To School Soon

By Cathy Day

associate news editor

A popular fish has been sighted in a nearby lake, possibly indicating the return of a significant resident to the area. The sighting has sparked excitement among local students and educators who hope to reintroduce this species into the school's aquatic ecosystem.

The biology department is in the process of designing and building a new aquarium to accommodate the returning fish. The aquarium will feature a thriving ecosystem that mimics the natural habitat of the fish, allowing for optimal growth and reproduction. The goal is to create a self-sustaining population that can thrive in the school's aquatic environment.

The return of this fish is significant for several reasons. It not only enhances the educational experience for students but also promotes a deeper appreciation for the natural world. The project aligns with the school's focus on sustainability and environmental stewardship.

In addition to the aquarium, the biology department is planning a series of field trips to study the fish in their natural habitat. These trips will provide students with hands-on learning opportunities and a chance to make meaningful connections between classroom learning and real-world applications.

The return of this fish car is a testament to the importance of conservation and the role schools can play in promoting environmental education. The success of this project will not only benefit the students but also contribute to the overall health of the local ecosystem.

Fraternity Initiating Scholarship

By Karen Guagliardi

For the first time in the university's history, a fraternity is initiating a scholarship fund. The Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) fraternity, in conjunction with the university, has established a $10,000 scholarship that will be awarded to students based on academic merit and leadership potential.

The scholarship is open to all eligible students and aims to support those who demonstrate academic excellence, leadership qualities, and a commitment to community service. The fraternity is proud to offer this opportunity to students who aspire to make a difference in their communities and beyond.

The selection process will be conducted by a panel of TKE fraternity members, university faculty, and staff. Interested students are encouraged to apply by submitting a completed application, which includes a letter of recommendation and an essay describing their academic and extracurricular achievements.

The scholarship will be awarded annually, with the first award expected to be given in the fall of the next academic year. The fraternity and university look forward to seeing the positive impact this scholarship will have on the lives of deserving students.

On one of the other things I don’t like about this particular source is what it does to people. Every conversation, no matter how innocent, even turns into a political conversation of a type where both participants are quizzed about the issues they have mentioned. Let me give you an example. The other day I had some dinner at a local restaurant. Afterward, I was walking back home, thinking about the political atmosphere and how people are always trying to convince us of something.

One is that there is a lot of confusion out there, and the political conversation is not helping people understand each other. There are exceptions, of course, but in general, the political conversation is not helping people understand each other. The truth is that there is a lot of confusion out there, and the political conversation is not helping people understand each other.

DOMESTIC POLICY

AGRICULTURE

BUSH: Says that opening markets abroad is his top agricultural priority. Would repeal price supports. Agreements would be simultaneously by all parties. Wants to concentrate on developing new markets in the Pacific. Would oppose mandatory cropisease.The US should not be in the business of protecting agriculture. Says he would provide credit to help farmers through the next few years because government helped make the current crisis worse. Supports a fair trade system. Wants to develop new commercial uses for our agricultural commodities, such as bio-technologies and planters.

The BUDGET

BUSH: Would hold the line on tax and spending. Says that raising taxes would only hurt the economy. Supports Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction targets. Says that on the issue of defense, we should ask ourselves how much money we spend, and how much is required to be secure. Supports a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget deficit. Bumper sticker: "Conservative on taxes, towns and defense." Would reduce the capital gains rate from 28% to 15% on gains held more than one year. Would allow everyone to compete in trade and industry with others.

DUKAKIS: Supports a constitutional amendment that sets a major decrease unless we achieve arms agreements with the Soviets. Would reduce spending on nuclear power. Would help expand the economy by reducing taxes on hard-working Americans. Would provide job training programs for real jobs. Would promote research and development and advanced technology. Would collect an estimated $10 billion in user taxes.

CHILD CARE

BUSH: Proposes the "Children's Tax Credit," a refundable tax credit up to $1,000 per child under age 4. Would authorize federal renewable tax credits for child care. Would authorize state and local governments to use tax credits for child care alternatives. Would give school districts incentives to create or expand child care programs. Would encourage private corporations to set up partnerships to help parents secure affordable child care and encourage states to provide child care subsidies to needy families. Bumper sticker: "Reducing poverty, one family at a time.

Civil Rights

BUSH: Says that we need a new harmony among races in our country, especially in the South. Would approve Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. Would work to enforce the Civil Rights laws through the Civil Rights Commission. Would vigorously enforce all civil rights laws, including the Civil Rights Restoration Act which gives the courts the power to order the desegregation of schools on the basis of race or gender. Would appoint more judges from the pool of qualified candidates the Reagan Administration excluded in the economy, the business sector, and universities.

DUKAKIS: Supports a constitutional amendment that sets a major decrease unless we achieve arms agreements with the Soviets. Would reduce spending on nuclear power. Would help expand the economy by reducing taxes on hard-working Americans. Would provide job training programs for real jobs. Would promote research and development and advanced technology. Would collect an estimated $10 billion in user taxes.

DRUGS

BUSH: Thinks that education is the first step, getting out the message that drugs are dangerous and unattractive. Would propose to penalize, including execution for those who commit drug-related murder, anyone who deals in the "war on drugs." Because it is a global problem, he would give it an international dimension. Would include drugs in our dealings with foreign governments. Would create an international strike force to hit back hard, quick and often at foreign drug operations. Would call for a hemispheric summit to discuss how countries in Latin America can end their economic dependence on drugs. Would take the lead in a "New Global Plan of Drug-Free Programs." Would concentrate on developing new penalties that will bring twenty-first century skills into the battle against drugs and disease. The new international banking agreements to freeze and seize bank accounts containing profits from illegal drug smuggling. Would require other countries refraining to cooperate with ours in the war on drugs. Would push for broad international aid for United Nations and UNICEF to help fight the disease.

DUKAKIS: Wants to make an increased commitment to local drug education and treatment programs that want to stop their drug abuse have a chance to do so. Wants to reduce crime in the inner cities. Would support those 1986 international banking agreements to freeze and seize bank accounts containing profits from illegal drug smuggling. Would require other countries refraining to cooperate with ours in the war on drugs. Would push for broad international aid for United Nations and UNICEF to help fight the disease.

WHEN IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA VISIT UNIVERSAL STUDIOS TOUR

You think they're people just like you. You're wrong. Dead wrong.
