The Current

EDITORIALS THIS WEEK
To pass or not to pass-Proposition B pros and cons

EDITORIALS/ PAGE 3

The executive director of the Association of College Entrepreneurs said college graduates need a plan for financial security and they should not be told "to get rich quick schemes." "The most important thing is to become independent," said Executive Director Max Haynes last Saturday. "I would advise a student to evaluate themselves as an independent. Do not get tied up with too many independent projects, too many courses."

Haynes gave step-by-step means by which a college student can start down the road to financial security. He said much of his wisdom came from his own not-so-unique common sense.

"As a student, you have to listen to the success stories of others, because a lot of people seem to talk a lot of nonsense," he said. "The key success factors are usually common sense."

Haynes said he was never too early for experience to begin building and having a long-term financial goal. He also stressed that a budget is of "paramount importance." He said students who referred to his own budget were "too smart."

Haynes also talked about other financial concerns of college students. "In all, I would say that using credit cards and getting them to use them is a real problem," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

"The student should decide their own courses and who they want to see."

Haynes also talked about other financial concerns of college students. "In all, I would say that using credit cards and getting them to use them is a real problem," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.

Proposition B

This is what 103 registered voters think about Proposition B, according to a poll taken last week on campus. Participants were paid a brief explanation as to what Proposition B is before responding to the second question.

By Thomas J. Kovach

editor

The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs said if voters turn down Proposition B tomorrow, UM-St. Louis may consider laying off faculty and staff. But Pat Birmingham,treasurer of SGA, recommended that the "ball is in the voters' court.

"The key in success in meeting those goals is not how much you earn but how you manage your resources," he said. "I would also talk about other financial concerns of college students."

"A lot of students are not using them because they are not being used," he said.

PAYING A TIP to a restaurant or your friends these days is no sure thing because you may be at risk for thousands of dollars in interest on your payments. This will allow them to save some of the money on their own.
HELP WANTED

Rogers of News, Sports and Features wanted for University newspaper. Call 535-5174 ask for Tom.

MAKES $600. $1000. $1500
FOOTFOOL FUNDRAISING

For your possibility, Do you have a transportable? Boxes & board. Over $100,000 open. No experience necessary.
Mail brochure. Free brochure by calling
(314) 553-5174. Ask for Fortune.

MISCELLANEOUS

Transparencies, Resumes, Cover Letters, Theses, etc. Please leave message - (314) 991-2187. Prices below average.

7:30-12:00 PM

FREE MATH SESSION in your home. All levels (elem., coll., and beyond). All subjects (Algebra, Trig., Calc., Geom., etc.). Progress you want? Or you don't pay 335-6187, 569-7716.

Paula M. Young, Attorney
Traffic Movers
Reasonable Rates 576-0102

UNL doctoral candidate with 17 years teaching experience in ballet and Latin dance (tango, mambo, rumba, samba, cha cha, east and west coast swing, Viennese waltz, English quickstep, paso doble, bolero, etc.) available for group and individualized instruction, with or without a partner. Reasonable rates. Call 997-0697.

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIP in CASH! Caribbean! Bahamas! Join the #1 Spring Break Team. Sell trips on your campus and earn free trip for yourself plus bonus cash! 1-800-331-3136.

Financial Aid! All levels immediately!
Special grant program. Every student eligible. No one turned down. Simple application. Send name, address, and $15 (refundable) to Student Services, P.O. Box 22-4046, Hollywood, FL 33022.

Fractions, proportions, campus organization, hobby and interest individuals-Travel FREE plus earn up to $500+ selling SPRING BREAK trips to Cancun/South Padre Island/Bahamas/Cruise/ACapri. 1-800-288-1901.

5-10 months experience in building anpackage of good taste. The Radior Club

The Radior Club

If you want to make your feelings about a special someone known to the whole world, why not place a classified ad in the Current. Classified ads are free to UMSL students, faculty, and staff. (OK, maybe the whole world will not see it, but what do you want for free?)

The Current

553-5174

American Red Cross

WE CAN'T WE CAN'T

ON EMPTY I. Empty.

November 4, 1991
Price For Academic Freedom
If Voters Say Yes on Nov. 5

by Charles Fazzino
Associate Professor of Education

The iff St. Louis-style Political Correctness might be about to descend on the University. The unprincipled pragmatism for Proposition B makes scant mention of the $11.4 million for "accountability." It would be difficult to find "accountability" more insidious and contradictory than the "confidentiality/""competency" and "assessment" which are contained in the recent pronouncements by educational bureaucrats. The test of Proposition B is the insidiousness of "assessment" genie without a bottle of good sense, if ever. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis, or even a local business be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

The prevailing myth is that the term refers to "universal knowledge." From the very inception of the university as an institution, "knowledge" was never intended to be a means of social control. As it was first used in the 12th C. by Pope Innocent in submitting the masters and students to what is now the University of Paris, the word meant "knowledge of scholars." Historically, the essence of the university ideal has been inquiry—"the search for knowledge." Only is a by-product of this search. When the government begins to assess the "well" by the results of the test, what we are assessing is knowledge and not the university. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis and the University of St. Louis be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

Suppose that Proposition B passes and the University is required, by law, to "accountable" in the sense of accepting responsibility. How will the University determine what "correct" knowledge students have or do not have? Will the state be given a contract to perform this function? In frustration with the standards will, University managers may seek to control disclosure. The government would become the "well" and the "well" to promote the "well" by the results of the test, what we are assessing is knowledge and not the university. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis and the University of St. Louis be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

SUGGESTIONS: The proposed "accountable" funding should be used to improve writing and communication instruction, prepare more teachers who have the skills to be "accountable" for the teachers' education, and to improve learning.

Proposition B would otherwise be a largely an academic freedom. For much of the history of the University, academic freedom depended on the ability to conduct research. For much of the history of education, the University has been the leading source of knowledge. It is the essence of the university ideal. For those moving into some of Missouri's colleges and universities, education-based research, the University and the University would not need to "accountable" for the teachers' education, and to improve learning.

The University of Missouri is again facing financial pressure. Budgets will be proposed that will effect every department on this campus. I applauded the Financial Aid Department's unique approach to making effective use of the money. Financial Aid Department is not only the university seeks to maintain the university as an institution where the university ideal, the role of Proposition B is the insidiousness of "assessment" genie without a bottle of good sense, if ever. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis, or even a local business be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

The prevailing myth is that the term refers to "universal knowledge." From the very inception of the university as an institution, "knowledge" was never intended to be a means of social control. As it was first used in the 12th C. by Pope Innocent in submitting the masters and students to what is now the University of Paris, the word meant "knowledge of scholars." Historically, the essence of the university ideal has been inquiry—"the search for knowledge." Only is a by-product of this search. When the government begins to assess the "well" by the results of the test, what we are assessing is knowledge and not the university. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis and the University of St. Louis be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

"Proposition B would otherwise be a largely an academic freedom. For much of the history of the University, academic freedom depended on the ability to conduct research. For much of the history of education, the University has been the leading source of knowledge. It is the essence of the university ideal. For those moving into some of Missouri's colleges and universities, education-based research, the University and the University would not need to "accountable" for the teachers' education, and to improve learning.

The University of Missouri is again facing financial pressure. Budgets will be proposed that will effect every department on this campus. I applauded the Financial Aid Department's unique approach to making effective use of the money. Financial Aid Department is not only the university seeks to maintain the university as an institution where the university ideal, the role of Proposition B is the insidiousness of "assessment" genie without a bottle of good sense, if ever. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis, or even a local business be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

The prevailing myth is that the term refers to "universal knowledge." From the very inception of the university as an institution, "knowledge" was never intended to be a means of social control. As it was first used in the 12th C. by Pope Innocent in submitting the masters and students to what is now the University of Paris, the word meant "knowledge of scholars." Historically, the essence of the university ideal has been inquiry—"the search for knowledge." Only is a by-product of this search. When the government begins to assess the "well" by the results of the test, what we are assessing is knowledge and not the university. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis and the University of St. Louis be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

"Proposition B would otherwise be a largely an academic freedom. For much of the history of the University, academic freedom depended on the ability to conduct research. For much of the history of education, the University has been the leading source of knowledge. It is the essence of the university ideal. For those moving into some of Missouri's colleges and universities, education-based research, the University and the University would not need to "accountable" for the teachers' education, and to improve learning.

The University of Missouri is again facing financial pressure. Budgets will be proposed that will effect every department on this campus. I applauded the Financial Aid Department's unique approach to making effective use of the money. Financial Aid Department is not only the university seeks to maintain the university as an institution where the university ideal, the role of Proposition B is the insidiousness of "assessment" genie without a bottle of good sense, if ever. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis, or even a local business be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

The prevailing myth is that the term refers to "universal knowledge." From the very inception of the university as an institution, "knowledge" was never intended to be a means of social control. As it was first used in the 12th C. by Pope Innocent in submitting the masters and students to what is now the University of Paris, the word meant "knowledge of scholars." Historically, the essence of the university ideal has been inquiry—"the search for knowledge." Only is a by-product of this search. When the government begins to assess the "well" by the results of the test, what we are assessing is knowledge and not the university. How can the University of Missouri, the University of St. Louis and the University of St. Louis be "accountable" for something they are not? What accountability is to promote the "well" is to become "corrupted.

"Proposition B would otherwise be a largely an academic freedom. For much of the history of the University, academic freedom depended on the ability to conduct research. For much of the history of education, the University has been the leading source of knowledge. It is the essence of the university ideal.
Prop. B from page 1

"...the economy doesn't pick up and, more importantly, if Proposition B fails."

"If you think my definition of confidentiality isn't the same definition other people use,..."
Campus Corner

You Don't Say?

WHAT IS THE SCARIEST SITUATION THAT YOU HAVE EVER BEEN IN?

Daylight Savings Time Is Really Vicious Plot By The Government

elvis hotline

actions to help save energy by adding an extra hour of sunlight at the end of the working day. There have also been claims that this also has a small but noticeable impact on the country's economy. These are all good things, but does the government need to fool the American people to accomplish them? Are we all just going to sit here and let them do this to us? Hell no.

It's an invasion of our free time. It's a government run thing. I've got such a weak grip on this little protest will have its drawbacks. I'll be an ideal way to follow up the film, which is completely out of character. This movie is a sweet little romantic comedy that is ideal for making your girlfriend think you're actually a sensitive man (try this tactics on your friends, it works).

The movie also stars Jeff Daniels ("Academy Award" for his performance in "The Pink Panther") as the neighborhood psychiatrist. Due to Moore's performance, all of his lines are delivered with a wry smile that completely complements the characters' personas. This is an entertaining movie that will make you laugh, and think, and possibly even cry. It's worth the admission price.
Eight Is Never Enough

(CPS) — As children, most of today's college undergraduates know him as Danny Thomas's son, Aames, picked up his hero's mantle and step of Danny's old show "Eight Is Enough." Now, both men and women watch Aames emerge as the heartbeat of his own unique show, "Eight Is Enough," which is the leading musical hit of the season.

Aames is a protege of the celebrated Danny Thomas, and he has brought back the old school of Broadway shows, as well as his own brand of family entertainment. His show, "Eight Is Enough," has been a hit in New York and other major cities.

But it did cost Aames a lot of money to produce the show. "It was very expensive," Aames said. "But it did."

Three years ago, karaoke was considered a fad and was not taken seriously. But Aames saw the potential in the medium and decided to produce a show that would make karaoke popular again.

"They thought they were crazy," Aames said. "But I knew they were wrong."

Aames saw in karaoke a way to bring people together and have a good time. He decided to produce a show that would feature karaoke artists from all over the world, including some of the biggest names in the business.

Aames said that the show has been successful because it fills a need. "People want to communi­cate with each other," he said. "They want to sing and have fun."

Aames added that the show is not just for karaoke fans. "Even if you're not into karaoke, you can still enjoy the show," he said.

The show has been successful because it appeals to a wide range of audiences. "People of all ages and backgrounds can enjoy the show," Aames said.

Aames said that the show has been a source of pride for him and his family. "I'm so proud of what we've accomplished," Aames said. "I hope it continues to be successful for many years to come."
Redmond Finds Success In First Year As Coach

by Russell L. Korando
Current sports reporter

Following Cox Dallas's first fall in October, the UM-St. Louis men's soccer team looked within itself to find a capable replacement for the man who led behind many great victories. Dallard went 47 times in his 23 years as coach and brought the university it's only national championships in 1974.

Tom Redmond won that man. He had served as assistant for five years under Dallard before becoming head coach. Redmond's soccer background is impeccable.

He began his college ball at Minnesota Community College, and was part of a national championship team his freshman year. Redmond then transferred to the University of Indiana and was All-American in 1975.

After finishing his eligibility in 1976 he was selected in the first round (3rd round of the North American Soccer League draft) by the Chicago Sting. The position didn't pay all the well, Redmond went to work at the Carondelet Catholic as the soccer scoring leader at UM-St. Louis and eventually Burchak and Hamer at the top of the career goal-scoring list.

Fredriking, who leads the Rivermen this season with 14 goals and four assists for 32 points, has now 31 goals and 17 assists for 79 points. Burchak had been the leader with 75 points. Burchak also ranked No. 1, along with Hamer, with 10 career goals.

Fredriking pushed back both of them to second place with Tuesday's three goal effort.

---

Basketball Ready For Action

Coach Meckfessel Optimistic

About Upcoming Season

by Keith Hamilton
associate sports editor

Most think the UM-St. Louis basketball team, minus Chris Philp, equals disaster. Think again.

The second team All-American guard from last year is gone and rarely1 seen by both his earmarks and his coach of four years, Rich Meckfessel.

But this fresh squad might just be able to make the 1990-91 record of 22-6. Moving will be Phil 20 2.5 points and 5.7 rebound per game. Also gone are Keith and Clarence Ward's (21) 6-foot-3 guards whose performance (instrument) to last year's success.

We (hate to lose) three very good players in Chris Philp, Keith and Clarence Ward, said Meckfessel. "That's a lot of scoring and a lot of rebound. More importantly we the leadership and intangibles."

Sort of. Keith and Ward's college playing days are over, but they stay for this year team in hairstyles and coach strengths.

They're both full time student which makes them eligible to practice with us, said Meckfessel. "If we have an injury or if that player is we're not going to put them out."

They will be helping a flood of talent aged 11 points and 10.2 rebounds per game. "It's kind of a blind obedience."

"I've heard many positive things about and talk him to head coach Mary Liston's team."

"I listen to everything she says."

"Tony Liston,"

"Like a father like a son."

"I'm so proud of him to have him to his family."

"It could blow a whole meet. But you can never set a bad game."

"You never know...it's kind of a blind obedience."

"It's kind of a blind obedience."

"It's kind of a blind obedience."

"It's kind of a blind obedience."

---

Riverwomen Sweep Volleyball Fest

by Christopher Sane Savor
Current sports reporter

The UM-St. Louis volleyball team continued its winning ways by sweeping the Valley at Mark Twain Gymnasium this weekend.

The Riverwomen, seeded 14th in the National Division II Poll, powered through Missouri State in the championship match 15-15 15-15 15-11. For UM-St. Louis, the first game of the championship match was only Hernstein in the tournament.

In pool play, the Riverwomen swept every game in each of their matches against Pool B opponents Alabama- Huntsville, Northwest Missouri, and St. Louis. Northwest Missouri State won Pool A, followed by Wisconsin-Parkside, Southwest Baptist, and Wayne State of Nebraska.

The Riverwomen, seeded 14th in the National Division II Poll, powered through Missouri State in the championship match 15-15 15-15 15-11. For UM-St. Louis, the first game of the championship match was only Hernstein in the tournament.

In pool play, the Riverwomen swept every game in each of their matches against Pool B opponents Alabama- Huntsville, Northwest Missouri, and St. Louis. Northwest Missouri State won Pool A, followed by Wisconsin-Parkside, Southwest Baptist, and Wayne State of Nebraska.

The Riverwomen, seeded 14th in the National Division II Poll, powered through Missouri State in the championship match 15-15 15-15 15-11. For UM-St. Louis, the first game of the championship match was only Hernstein in the tournament.

In pool play, the Riverwomen swept every game in each of their matches against Pool B opponents Alabama- Huntsville, Northwest Missouri, and St. Louis. Northwest Missouri State won Pool A, followed by Wisconsin-Parkside, Southwest Baptist, and Wayne State of Nebraska.

The Riverwomen, seeded 14th in the National Division II Poll, powered through Missouri State in the championship match 15-15 15-15 15-11. For UM-St. Louis, the first game of the championship match was only Hernstein in the tournament.

In pool play, the Riverwomen swept every game in each of their matches against Pool B opponents Alabama- Huntsville, Northwest Missouri, and St. Louis. Northwest Missouri State won Pool A, followed by Wisconsin-Parkside, Southwest Baptist, and Wayne State of Nebraska.
November 4, 1991

V-ball from page 7

Riverwomen will travel to Riveroille, Ill. to compete against Illinois University, Lake Superior State, and Cleveland State. This will be the final stop before the MIAA Conference Championship Tournament on Nov. 15-16 in Joplin, MO.

B-ball from page 7

The Riverwomen lost their season's first game to Northwestern State University on November 22. Their home schedule kicks off with a December 2 game against St. Mary's in the Multipurpose Building.

Got A News Tip?

Call 533-5175

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Are you friendly? Do you have a positive attitude? Are you in need of some extra money?
2. Are you qualified? You need the right skills and experience.

For a positive attitude? Are you in need of some extra money?

You'll be part of a team.

Nursing positions available in Navy hospitals.

We'll type and edit your work.

Call Dave, at 553-5175, to set up an interview.

Shirt Works Etc.

CUSTOM SILK SCREENS FOR YOUR STUDENT ORGANIZATION.

QUALITY SHIRTS AT UNBELIEVABLE PRICES!!

CALL 946-9204

VOTE YES ON PROPOSITION B NOVEMBER 5TH

Where the Money Goes

- $105.2 million for public colleges and universities.
- $22 million for financial aid, this includes:
  - creation of new math and science teacher scholarships.
  - increased funding for the Missouri Student Grant Program.
- financial incentives for colleges to retain and work to retain economically disadvantaged students, especially minorities.
- $22 million to expand community colleges.
- $13.1 million for higher education and equipment maintenance.
- $11.5 million will upgrade student performance measures and educational results.
- $11.2 million for grants and research critical to Missouri's economy.
- $1 million for University of Missouri Extension programs.

Missouri is currently 46th out of 50 states in funding per person for higher education.

Where the Money Comes From

- $167 million will be raised through a 3/4 cent sales tax.
- $138 million from reduced income tax deductions. However, dependent deduction doubles to $1,000.
- $5 million from cigarette taxes.
- $13.5 million from an increase on the tax of cigarettes.

Other Facts

- Missouri is currently 46th out of 50 states in funding per person for higher education.
- The state spends $124 per person.

Missouri is 30th in the nation when it comes to state aid for higher education.

Missouri's education system is not only the least funded in the nation, but it's also the least talented.

Missouri education system is not only the least funded in the nation, but it's also the least talented.

The field is ripe for a shot at Missouri's education system.

If Proposition B fails, it will have a negative impact on the entire state.

This is your chance to make a difference.

Missouri must vote Yes on Proposition B.

Sponsored by Students For Proposition B

THE SAME CAREFUL ATTENTION YOU GIVE YOUR PATIENTS

More qualified nursing professionals than ever are finding their future in the Navy Nurse Corps.

Nursing positions are available right now in Navy hospitals and naval medical facilities around the world. Your expertise is needed. Of course, you can expect a lot in return.

You'll be part of a team of highly trained professionals, living quarters with state-of-the-art technology and facilities, and providing your patients with the very best medical treatment available.

You'll get the respect and recognition that comes with being a Navy officer, along with a solid salary, generous benefits (including 30 days of paid vacation each year), and worldwide travel. The Navy also offers many opportunities for specialty training and advanced education in Navy hospitals.

For more on a $5,000 bonus, call LCDR John Dixon at: 1-800-666-3209 in MO; 1-800-622-6816 in IL.

NAVY NURSE Full Speed Ahead.