Ashcroft, Wheat send representatives; Kelly, Talent exchange spirited words

Missouri candidate running for U.S. Senate is under fire for seeming to question whether President Bush is competent. "I have a couple of questions," he said, "that I have a couple of questions in mind that I have in mind in my mind." The Senate race is expected to be one of the closest in the country.十一月 fourteen, 2000

I was recently lucky enough to participate in a teleconference between the University of Missouri Campus, Campus, and University of Missouri St. Louis. Students from both Universities were working to resolve problems with student governments.

I want to tell you how I found it. I was asked to be a part of the teleconference, and I am not an expert on the subject. I was asked to be a part of the teleconference, and I am not an expert on the subject. I was asked to be a part of the teleconference, and I am not an expert on the subject.

The problem is not your support for simulations, but the way you make your point every day.

I am glad that you could have said that you did not want the current campus to think that they were a part of the protests because they were engaged in protests, but instead split a part.

The fact that knowledge can be useful in so many ways, but I am not sure that this is the case. I think that knowledge is needed in order to make an informed decision.

This is an information society and it is up to the individual to learn how to use it. The citizen in a democratic society has a responsibility to get to know the issues that are needed in order to make better decisions and use their resources.

We have to stay informed on a global, national and local level. We have the power to make decisions and use our resources.

There is no right answer that mass media can create a world in which we are not about local issues, because of the narrow band of public interest.

We also need to be aware of the patterns of mass indoctrination. The telecommunications world has helped us over the years with this part of the picture.

The telecommunications world has helped us over the years with this part of the picture. We can do more together in local villages and give each other important information. We need to depend on the narrow band of information that the local news give us. We should be more active in finding our own deep wells of communications, bringing a person with specific knowledge of a situation to a group of people far away. This will allow us to educate and find a greater number of people with the same problems.

Could it be, do you number two?

Once upon a time, there was a woman and a man who enjoyed each other's company. They never argued or complained. They were the perfect couple in the perfect relationship, and they loved each other entirely. They were so familiar with this feeling that even if it wasn't on their list of things to do, it was always on their minds.

We重视 several things when going into a relationship, love, both to give and to receive, communication, and intimacy. And we want to satisfy ourselves by holding our partners' hands and being happy.

No matter how long a list you have of things you believe that can fix a person that will meet your requirements.

Stu stated, "Although we find pattern in both men and women, we also find that everyone is individual. As you grow in relationship, it can be in an unconscious manner change those patterns that have taken our partners a lifetime to develop." It was partly a participation of the discussion, which claimed to have an agreement relationship.

Old age questions like why are men like men are, why are women more emotional, and why can't we just get along should be addressed in each relationship in order to avoid or resolve conflict.

The U.S. Louis chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) held a book fair for Wednesday, Oct. 7 from 12 p.m. to 7 p.m. in room 302 CBG.

For over 30 years, ACM has been financially supporting students with no budget last year, and the money has been spent on areas of dominance, the struggle for power, how to defend with no budget last year, and the money has been spent on.

The book fair is an opportunity for the 1994-95 academic year. The event was co-sponsored by the Student Activities Budget Committee (SABC), which allocates funds to the student organizations for the 1994-95 academic year. Wanta said the book fair was more than a fund-raiser.

"It was a good idea to introduce students to the ACM because facsimile executives can expand the membership of the organization," Wanta said. The ACM's U.S. Louis chapter of the ACM has roughly 50 members, and the organization encourages everyone to join and become active in the uses and functionality of computers (even those who are not computer science majors) to consider joining the ACM.

"It's rare to hear students at U-M have a bad thing to say about the prices of books.

"The books are good and the prices are reasonable," Wanta said.

More than music we know what to do with

MUTABUKA-"Melanin Man"

"Melanin Man," the title given to recent releases of Jamaican hip-hop, is the tip of a cultural iceberg. Musician Los Angeles Alabama released an album called "Melanin Man," which features songs about the experiences of black people in America.

While I can appreciate the messages of self-respect and self-love in Los Angeles Alabama's music, there seems to be an absence of music which could be appreci- sible. I couldn't help but notice (and be made uncomfortable by) the divisive tone of racism that often accompanies his positive words. On the whole, "Melanin Man" disc. The lyrics were thought provoking, sometimes intense, and were sometimes insulting to some groups.

On "People of Color," "Melanin Man" provokes a sense of black pride and identity. His message is that we need to value our culture and heritage.

On "The Current," Los Angeles Alabama invites us to join him in celebrating our history and culture. His music is a call to action to fight against the disparities that exist in our society.

Rivermen lose to Missouri Southern play-off hopes could be in jeopardy
by Rob Goedeker
associate sports editor

With a 3-1 loss to the Missouri Southern Lions on Friday, the Rivermen’s hopes of qualifying for the postseason play may have gone up in smoke. The Commerce Golden Knights, who are currently in the way of the Rivermen’s chances to make the playoffs, have three tough games remaining on their schedule. With a couple of losses by Commerce, the Rivermen could be back in playoff contention, but with the box to the Lions, the Rivermen should have beaten their chances are disappearing.

“IT was a disappointing loss,” Redmond said. “We had a lot of good chances to score, but we just couldn’t put them away.”

Kerne Smith scored the lone goal for the Rivermen, his fourth of the season. After the tough loss, the Rivermen picked themselves back up with a 3-0 victory over the Southwest Baptist Bearcats on Saturday. Forward Todd Rick scored the Rivermen’s first goal of the game, his 13th of the season. Rick is on pace to break the Rivermen’s record for most goals in a season.

Kurt Breweing and Kevin Smith scored the other goals for the Rivermen, and Goalie Mark Lynn made seven saves and recorded his eighth shutout of the season. He is now third on the Rivermen’s all-time shutout list.

The Rivermen now have 2-1 record in the conference and are 8-5-1 overall.

“arlier this season, the Missouri Southern Lions continued to dominate the UMSL men’s soccer team. With Crawford leading the team offensively, the team is starting to really gel. However, I think that the Lions are starting to slack off.

The freshmen from the Missouri Southern Lions are starting to really gel. However, I think that the Lions are starting to slack off.

“IT’s a good team, and they have a lot of potential. If they continue to work hard, they could be a force to be reckoned with.”

“IT was a great victory for the team. We played well against a tough opponent.”

Although the team didn’t want to admit it, they played a key role in the win. A great example of this was the tough loss to Northeastern University.

A team loses the way it plays, and it was evident in the game. The Rivermen were close to a loss, but Gary kept pushing. She dove for several balls in the final game, never giving in. "She really enjoyed playing and she showed it on the com­petition," said Silvester.

With the loss, the team moved down to the third place in the conference, but Gary has shown improvement and is looking for ways to improve.

Gary has become a great leader for the team, one that has led the team in shutouts and goals this season. One thing to look forward to with Gary is her future. The nucleus of the team is young, which gives them experience under their belts, hoping to carry on the team’s winning tradition.

“Shes a great kid, and has a tremendous personality," Silvester said.
