New Year’s resolutions made easy

January 11, 1999

Well, it’s 1999. So far everything seems to be going smoothly.

Worry breaks dreams quickly to a close, and values my suddenly upon us. It is usually good to have at least one goal for the new year, but I prefer to start with a blank slate.

As I begin to think about what I want to accomplish this year, I realize that my slate isn’t as empty as I thought. For several years I have been working on a project that I call “life changes”. This project involves selecting and implementing changes in my life to improve my overall well-being.

One of the major challenges I face is choosing goals that are realistic and achievable. I find that it is helpful to break down large goals into smaller, more manageable steps.

Another challenge is finding the time to work on my goals. I find that it is important to make time for my goals, but it can be difficult to find the time.

Despite these challenges, I believe that it is important to have goals and work towards them. I find that it gives me a sense of purpose and helps me to stay motivated.

The problem is, my slate isn’t completely empty. I still have a lot of work to do, but I think I can make progress this year.

I’m going to try to make time for my goals this year, even though it may be difficult. I plan to break down my goals into smaller, more manageable steps and to make time for them on a regular basis.

I hope that you will find this information helpful and that you will be able to make progress towards your own goals this year.

Constitutional reform overdue in Assembly

The Issue:
SGA has been avoiding a constitutional reform for so many years that it is time for them to finally face the issues that have been brought up by other SGA matters.

We Suggest:
Reform of the SGA constitution. Meetings should be held on a regular basis in an effort to update the present constitution rather than putting it off until yet another SGA president handles it.

So what do you think?
Let us hear from you on this or any issue in this letter to the editor.

Constitutional reform is again taking center stage in the SGA, and again little seems to be happening. The big news in the last couple of years by the SGA Constitution reform committee has been meeting, but with other SGA matters.

A legend is remembered

Excuse me this week as I remember one of our old, old legends. His name was Munchick, and he was one of the most beloved wrestling stars of his day. He was known for his incredible athleticism and his ability to outmaneuver his opponents. Munchick was a true wrestling legend, and his presence in the ring was something to behold.

Muchnick

The story of Munchick began in the 1920s and 1930s. He was a natural athlete and quickly caught the eye of wrestling promoters. His talent and charisma were undeniable, and he quickly became one of the most popular wrestlers in the business.

Munchick was known for his incredible agility and his ability to stay one step ahead of his opponents. He was a masterful wrestler who could switch gears on a dime, and he was a fan favorite wherever he went.

In his prime, Munchick was a force to be reckoned with. He was a four-time world champion, and his matches were always the highlight of any wrestling card.

Munchick's legacy lives on today, and his influence is still felt in the world of wrestling. His passion and dedication to the sport are an inspiration to all who love wrestling, and his memory will live on for generations to come.

Soccer players receive national recognition

Gary Steinmetz

Falling a solid season by the men's soccer program, four Riverwomen earned NCAA honors.

Senior defender Joe Eaves was unanimously named to the All-GLVC first team. Eaves was also named to the GLVC All-Academic team. The senior had a solid season on the field and in the classroom.

Goalkeeper Kevin McRorie was named to the second team of the GLVC.

Defensive midfielder Dylan St. Louis was named to the third team of the GLVC.

Field player forward and assistant coach Ted Woodcock and Scott Laczik earned the GLVC All-Academic team. The two had a solid season on the field and in the classroom.

The season finished in the GLVC Valley Conference tournament.

New softball combination, two players sign early

By Joe Harris

A new softball combination has been formed with a new campus softball facility and a new schedule format, as the Riverwomen head softball coach Charles Kennedy announced Wednesday. The facility is the result of a new agreement between the GLVC and the Riverwomen.

Kennedy said that the new facility will not only make practice easier but also improve the scheduling of home games. "Our players will be able to stay on campus during the week, and that will be a huge improvement," Kennedy said. "We will be able to practice more often, and our players will be able to focus on their studies."

Hockey team surprises SLU

The Rivermen take the ice at 8 p.m. on Wednesday against the Southern Illinois University at the Rivermen Ice Center.

The Rivermen are coming off a tough loss to the Southern Illinois University last weekend, but they have been playing well in recent games. The Rivermen will be looking to build on their recent success and continue their strong play against the Salukis.

Rivermen lose 85-64, drop to 4-8

By Joe Harris

It wasn't pretty for the Rivermen basketball team as they dropped further in the GLVC standings with their loss to SLU.

The Rivermen fell to Southern Indiana in convincing style. The GLVC leader handed the Rivermen a 85-64 defeat.

The loss would be easier to swallow if it had not been marked by the glaring holes in the Southern Indiana list of players down. Of the Sovereign Eagles, shooting guard, Geston Beak, Kent State, and Josh Thomas, didn't start for the Rivermen. The pair were the two best players returning from last season. Wes/Wesleyan hasn't seen a team this strong since 1998.

The game was lost from the beginning of the night. Southern Indiana came out our first big half putting in 44 points and keeping the Riverwomen to only 29. The first half would be the Rivermen's high water mark of the evening. Southern Indiana would score 44 for the game.

Relying mostly on Jopsters, the Riverwomen scored 35 points. The Rivermen would make eleven 3-point shots in the game which accounted for over half of the team's scoring.

The scoring was reeled up for the squad. Greg Rusk led the Riverwomen with 13 points. Darrell Robertson had 17 points and Darrell Rusk had 12.

This will see the Rivermen playing several teams ahead of them in the conference. SLU-Wesleyan is a 3 and Bellarmine is tied with US-M-Louis at 2-4. The biggest game of the week will be with the University of Illinois which is currently tied with Southern Indiana in the GLVC with a 7-1 conference record.

Mitchel Collinman (3) puts up a shot in the Rivermen loss Wednesday night.

Violinist reaches for greatness

At the age of six, Pavl Bydlowski didn’t want to become a violinist. “I wanted to be a construction worker or something,” he said. “I was always wanting to be a truck driver.”

That changed when Bydlowski, thirteen years old, saw Yehudi Menuhin, an accomplished violinist, at a concert. Although Bydlowski had studied with some of the greatest music teachers, he had never seen or heard another violinist like Menuhin before.

“In the audience, I was always looking out the windows at the big trucks that passed by,” said Bydlowski. “I wanted to be a construction worker or something.”

Instead, Bydlowski decided to pursue his passion for music. He began practicing the violin regularly and soon became known for his virtuosity and technical precision.

“My father taught me the violin when I was six,” said Bydlowski. “He said that my children would have better opportunities in the future.”

Bydlowski has since become a prominent figure in the classical music world, performing with many of the world’s leading orchestras and ensembles.

“I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to work with so many great musicians,” said Bydlowski. “It has been a dream come true.”

Back in his home country, Bydlowski continues to perform and record music, inspiring generations of young musicians to follow their dreams.

“I want others to know that it is possible to achieve greatness in any field,” said Bydlowski. “With hard work and dedication, anything is possible.”
