Marriage debate lights up UMSL

Last Thursday, the University of Missouri-St. Louis hosted the first in a series of forums on the legalization of marijuana. This time the focus was on traditional and casual smokers.

President Jackie Andrus, Peter Bensinger and Dr. Robert Brandenberger, a member of the Nebraska legislature, began the debate by discussing the views expressed by their constituents. They explained the reasons why their constituents were opposed to marijuana legalization.

Dr. Andrus spoke of his constituents' desire to simply regulate marijuana use and enforce laws already on the books.

Mr. Bensinger explained why his constituents believed that legalizing marijuana would make it more accessible to children and those who are addicted to it.

Dr. Brandenberger commented on the lack of evidence to support the claim that marijuana legalization would lead to a reduction in crime rates.

The panelists were then joined by students from the UMSL College of Law who discussed the legal implications of marijuana legalization.

The panelists concluded by agreeing that more research is needed before making any decisions on marijuana legalization.

A website sponsored by the Office of Preventative Education of the U.S. Department of Education, shows UMSL has a site to report crime rates. The site is open to students, staff and faculty and includes crime rates for the entire state.

The OPEP cited two reports and two award programs since 1997. The site shows that UMSL had 13 burglaries reported on campus last year, six in the residence halls, while other crimes reported include three larcenies, two Assaults, and one rape.

The site offers a link to a newsletter where the programs are explained in detail.

When crime is a problem on campus, it can be difficult to maintain a safe environment for students, staff and faculty. However, the University of Missouri-St. Louis has taken steps to make the campus a safer place.

The university has implemented a new website designed to track crime rates. The site is accessible to anyone on campus, and it provides information on the types of crimes that have been reported.

Workshops give learning opportunity

BY JENNIFER DOG

UMSL students on Saturday mornings are earning service learning credits, which they can apply to their academic program, by working on various community opportunities. For more information, contact the UMBC Service Learning Office.

"We try to offer something for every level of involvement," said the UMBC Service Learning Office.

"The first goal is that astronomy will be taught in the classroom, and the second goal is that people will be able to learn from these new ways of teaching and learning."
Past plays on the mind with memorable leads ast week, I returned to my old high school, Highland Park, and was able to enjoy the fall play, "A Christmas Carol." One benefit the students in West have traditionally had a hard time deciding what to do included the need for a new venue for the December play. Shakespeare's play played the Scrooge role, and the students were often asked to compare it to a new venue for the December play. We should find a way to make this change.

When I started reading the lines, I was like "How can you make this work?" I was like "I want to take this away." I was like "I don't want to do this." I was like "I don't want to do this."

I was home after the show was over, and I was like "I don't want to do this." I was like "I don't want to do this." I was like "I don't want to do this."

The biggest role I've ever had was a small role in the play, "Scapino." I was a young man and was involved in drama classes then. My parents were very proud of me. My parents were very proud of me. FILM REVIEW

The Loophole

This courtroom drama sets the bar high

by CATHERINE MARQUIS-HOMEYER
staff editor

"The Loophole" has stood the test of time as a classic example of electrifying storytelling. Based on the 1929 Spanish novel by Pedro Almodovar, "The Loophole" tells the story of a man named Alfonso, who is wrongfully convicted of murder and sentenced to life in prison. Despite his innocence, Alfonso uses his legal expertise to expose the corrupt system that led to his conviction and brings about justice for his wrongly imprisoned friend. The movie is a powerful exploration of themes such as justice, corruption, and the human spirit, making it a must-watch for any fan of legal thrillers.

The plot is complex and engaging, with a cast of characters that are well-developed and interesting. The performances are excellent, with outstanding actors delivering memorable turns. The cinematography is stunning, with beautiful shots of the prison and the city of Barcelona, adding to the overall atmosphere of the film. The score is also a highlight, with a haunting and悲伤的主题，使观众陷入深深的思考。

Overall, "The Loophole" is a must-see for any fan of legal dramas and a testament to the power of storytelling. It is a film that will leave you thinking long after the credits have rolled.

Barenaked Ladies
entertain local crowd at Savvis Center

by CHARLIE HIGHTON

Barenaked Ladies provided a night of high-energy music and entertainment at the Savvis Center, with a sold-out crowd enjoying the performance.

The concert began with a band called the Center, an interesting twist that has caught the eye of many music lovers. The band was well-received, with the audience singing along and clapping along to the beats. The sound quality was excellent, allowing the audience to fully enjoy the performance.

Barenaked Ladies took the stage next, performing to a packed crowd. The group's energy was infectious, with lead singer Ed Robertson and the rest of the band.security and opposing seats support the fortress aspects of theater very well."

The movie is a perfect example of excellent writing, featuring breathtaking visuals and a talented cast. It is a must-watch for anyone who loves legal dramas and a testament to the power of storytelling. It is a film that will leave you thinking long after the credits have rolled.

FILM REVIEW

by SARA PORTER
special to The Current

It's hard to believe that "The Exorcist," released almost 35 years ago, is still one of the best horror movies of all time. The film, directed by William Friedkin, tells the story of a little girl named Regan (Linda Blair), who begins exhibiting strange behavior and speaking in tongues. The police and doctors are baffled by her condition, and the family turns to a spiritual medium for help. But when the medium concludes that Regan is possessed by a demon, the family seeks the help of Father Damien Karras (Max von Sydow), a position he originally assumed to heal Regan's mother. The movie is a powerful exploration of themes such as religion, faith, and the battle between good and evil. The performances, especially the one by Linda Blair, are outstanding, making "The Exorcist" a must-watch for any fan of horror films.

However, some scenes are extremely disturbing, such as the one in which Regan's mother is killed by a knife. But despite the gore, the film remains a masterpiece of horror filmmaking, and its influence can be seen in countless other films that followed. "The Exorcist" is a film that will leave you unforgettably shaken, and its impact on the horror genre cannot be overstated.

Riverwomen bobbled the ball as Northeast was there to put the ball past two St. Joseph's defenders and clinch the game for the Riverwomen.

UMSL advances now into the semifinals of the GLVC Tournament to play against Wisconsin-Parkside, a team who defeated the no. 2 and SU-Gawadthrive.

The Riverwomen previously lost their last conference game of the season Sept. 29 against Wisconsin-Parkside 4-2, but Guste believes this could be to the benefit of the Riverwomen's squad this time.

"I think it is good," Guste said.

"We are going to have a lot of inexperience and want to come back and prove that we can compete with them. They are riding high with a solid win over SU-Gawadthrive, 2-0 since. SU-Gawadthrive is a great team, so Padicke must be playing at the top of their game as well. We just have to get prepared and give it to them on Thursday.

Mammoth storm sinks legendary ship in minutes

The噩运降临于148号Chippewa的船尾。当时，船向西驶向Gloge Queais湖。暴风雨来临，船员们失魂落魄，因为他们已经见识过两次严重的风暴。当高20英尺的浪头以每小时30英里的速度向船冲来时，船员们意识到情况危急。然而，船员们仍然设法将船驶出危险区域。但当船员们尝试将船驶出暴风眼时，海浪已经将船卷入了风暴的中心。在长达几个小时的挣扎中，船员们逐渐失去了对船只的控制。最终，当船在风暴中挣扎时，船员们意识到他们必须宣布求救信号。但是，由于海上环境的恶劣，他们无法得到及时的援助。最终，船在风暴中沉没，船员们全部遇难。这个悲剧提醒我们，大自然的力量是无法预测和控制的。
