Course Overview:
This course is intended to distinguish between entrepreneurship and small business management. Emphasis will be placed on the integration of key management principles from prerequisite courses. A real-world case study will be used as the lens through which students will develop an operational business plan. Readings, videos and other reference materials from practitioners, academics and business leaders will be used to make the class reflective of and relevant to the current business environment.

Play my YouTube Video for a welcome announcement.

Time Requirements:
This is a hands-on course that requires a moderate amount of “fieldwork” and team work during the first half of the course. While the vast majority of lectures and assignments are online, attendance at three in-person evening classes is imperative (as of now, plan on being on campus from 4:00 to 5:30 PM on Monday 2/11, 2/18, and 2/25 but discussions will be had at the beginning of the semester about a more ideal time and place based on student’s time and obligations).

Goals / Learning Objectives:
Upon the completion of this course students will achieve basic competence in:
• understanding the concepts of entrepreneurship, innovation, intrapreneurship and small business management
• how to use systems thinking and design thinking to develop new venture ideas
• how to use customer ethnography and interviews to validate value proposition(s) of new venture ideas
• how to use the business model canvas to operationalize new venture ideas
• how to use MVPs to identify and test value proposition(s) of new venture ideas
• how to evaluate growth opportunities
• how to write a business plan

Instructional Strategies:
This course utilizes a range of teaching modalities including lecture, hands-on activities, traditional journal articles, YouTube videos and other multimedia, and online instruction and teamwork.

Instructional Technology:
For this course the instructor will utilize Canvas, Powerpoint, Youtube videos, Discussion Threads, and other various social media platforms and software.

Assignments and Grading:
Your grade will be determined on the following:
Class Participation (includes Discussion Board postings) 20%
Peer Evaluations 5%
Customer Interviews 10%
Business Model Canvas (DRAFT) 5%
MVP Design 5%
Bailey’s Case Analysis 15%
Marketing Plan 10%
Financial and Staffing Plan 10%
Business Plan 20%

Class Participation:
As a “blended” online course, students are expected to attend the 3 in-person sessions and participate in all online lectures, discussions, and small group activities. Due to the team-based and fieldwork approach to teaching entrepreneurship and small business management, participation in all aspects of the course is mandatory and team work will be evaluated both by peers and instructors. All reasonable issues will be accommodated.

Late Assignments:
All assignments are to be emailed or posted on Canvas before the beginning of class on the day due unless you are directed to do otherwise. Assignments that are turned in after the beginning of class will be docked one letter grade.

Grading Scale: The grade value for each letter grade is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>92.00 or above</td>
</tr>
<tr>

Biographies of Professors:
Chris Miller is the Founder and CEO of The Mission Center L3C, Founder and Managing Member of The Mission Center Nonprofit Services LLC, Founder of The Missouri Community Healthcare Co-Op Inc. and serves as the Assistant Teaching Professor and Director of Interdisciplinary Entrepreneurship for the College of Business Administration at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

After receiving his undergraduate degree from Truman State University and his Masters from the University of Illinois, he was a community organizer for the Illinois Coalition for Community Services (ICCS). Through this role, he assisted hundreds of low-income social entrepreneurs start, scale and sustain non-profit organizations that were organized to address issues of common concern in their communities.

In 2007, Miller joined Washington University in St. Louis’ Skandalaris Center for Entrepreneurial Studies. There, he helped develop the community based social entrepreneurship education program and oversaw the University’s Social Entrepreneurship and Innovation Competition (SEIC) which awards over $200,000 a year in social venture capital. As a direct extension of his work at the University, he began to develop the concept of The Mission Center in early 2007 with his colleague from the Brown School of Social Work, Barbara Levin. Miller left Washington University in the summer of 2009 to join Yurbuds and worked with the rest of the management team to get through the initial product launch that resulted in the company being named Forbes Magazine’s “9th Most Promising Company in America for 2009”. After helping to launch and scale Yurbuds, Miller went full time at The Mission Center L3C in April of 2010 and, among other innovations, continues to scale its statewide nonprofit health insurance consortium and is currently launching St. Louis’ only social enterprise incubator within the Cortex Innovation District.

John Palmer, PhD is an associate teaching professor within the Global Leadership and Management Department at the University of Missouri – St. Louis. He was formerly Chair of the Graduate School of Business and Management at Argosy University, Chicago and Schaumburg (IL) campuses. Prior to that appointment, he was a faculty member and held a variety of administrative positions at Quincy University and the University of Illinois at Springfield. He earned a PhD in strategic management from the Gatton School of Business at the University of Kentucky and earned MS Administrative Science and BS Business Administration (Marketing emphasis) degrees at the University of Wisconsin – Green Bay. Additionally, he completed the Experiential Classroom entrepreneurial instructional training program at Oklahoma State University. Dr. Palmer has owned and operated successful consulting, training, and real estate management businesses. He has also published dozens of research articles that have appeared in scholarly journals and proceedings publications. The focus of much of this research has been on innovation and performance in small businesses, entrepreneurial opportunity recognition, and enhancements to student learning environments. On a regular basis, he provides professional training and consultation to a variety of organizations and is a subject matter expert for the nationally recognized Ameren/UMSL Accelerator Program. Dr. Palmer is a veteran of both the U.S. Coast Guard, where he served as a search and rescue and aids to navigation specialist, and the Army National Guard, where he served in operations within a mechanized infantry unit. He also has professional experience in the consumer lending and agricultural equipment industries.

Class Policies:

Academic Integrity/Plagiarism:

- You are responsible for being attentive to and observant of University policies about academic honesty as stated in the University’s Student Conduct Code.
- Academic dishonesty is a serious offense that may lead to probation, suspension, or dismissal from the University. One form of academic dishonesty is plagiarism – the use of an author’s ideas, statements, or approaches without crediting the source. Academic dishonesty also includes such acts as cheating by copying information from another student. Plagiarism and cheating will not be tolerated.
- Academic dishonesty must be reported to the Office of Academic Affairs for possible action. The instructor shall make an academic judgment about the student’s grade on that work and in that course. The campus process regarding academic dishonesty is described in the “Policies” section of the Academic Affairs website: http://www.umsl.edu/services/academic/policy/academic-dishonesty.html
