Test your analytical skills against other schools!

Expand your network!

Win prizes!

Teams will compete to find the best solution to a compelling supply chain risk management case study using The Fresh Connection business simulation game. The teams will experience the challenges and rewards of managing supply chain risks and practice making critical decisions in a hands-on learning environment. The teams will prepare and present the results of their solution to a panel of judges testing not only their quantitative analysis of the situation but also their communication and influencing skills.

Each team consists of 4 members and is limited to undergraduate students only.

Event details and registration coming in January!
