Justyce J. Jedlicka BS 2009, worked when she was a student at UMSL in cosmetics chemistry with Chemia Corporation as a perfumer and later as a Formulation Chemist. After graduation she went to work for Sigma-Aldrich in St. Louis in 2010, spending two years as a Chemist, then a year as a Technical Marketing Specialist before becoming Tactical Marketing Manager, North America Consumer Products. In 2015 Merck KGaA acquired Sigma-Aldrich and combined it with Millipore Corporation, which it had acquired in 2010, and combined them to form MilliporeSigma. Justyce started work there in 2016, spending two years as Program Marketing Manager-Food & Beverages, Cannabis Testing, Flavor & Fragrances, and Cosmetics. She spent a further two years as Regional Director-Program Marketing, Industrial & Testing prior to assuming her current position. During this period, she obtained her MBA degree from UMSL. She has been active in the St. Louis Chapter of the Society of Cosmetic Chemists since 2005 and served in many roles including Chapter Chair twice. She currently serves as the Chair and Executive Board Member of the food science section of American Council of Independent Labs, a board member of the Independent Laboratories Institute, member of the International Association of Food Protection, International Society of Beverage Technologists, AOAC International and of the American Chemical Society.

The Lecture will be preceded by the presentation of student awards and followed by a reception honoring the senior class, the department award winners and our Honored Lecturer. The lecture will be Available via zoom. For details e-mail Professor Eike. Bauer.
