In order to ensure the continuing quality of our degree programs, the College of Business Administration has instituted a requirement of “Good Standing” for students enrolled in upper-level Business coursework. Students are limited to 9 credit hours of upper-level coursework taught by the College of Business Administration until they have met the requirements for “Good Standing.” Business Faculty members have identified key coursework and grade point average criteria which are predictors of future success in College of Business Administration degree programs, and these form the basis for the “Good Standing” requirements.

To meet the criteria for “Good Standing,” students must have:

- A minimum 2.3 grade point average (GPA) in business courses and campus-wide coursework
- Completed the following cluster of courses (or their equivalent) with a grade of C- or better:

  - MATH 1030 – College Algebra
  - MATH 1100 – Basic Calculus
  - MATH 1105 – Basic Probability and Statistics
  - ECON 1001 – Microeconomics
  - ECON 1002 – Macroeconomics
  - ACCTNG 2400 – Financial Accounting
  - ACCTNG 2410 – Managerial Accounting
  - INF SYS 2800 – Information Systems Concepts and Applications
  - BUS AD 2900 – Legal Environment of Business

Students who have not met the criteria for “Good Standing” will be unable to take more than 9 hours of upper division coursework taught by the College of Business Administration.

Please contact the Undergraduate Business Academic Advising Office in 107 Anheuser-Busch Hall (ABH) if you have any questions about this or any other issues.
