

Master of Science Biochemistry and Biotechnology

Degree Program

A minimum of 30 credit hours is required, including

- Specific foundation courses: 15 hours;
- Elective courses: 15 hours, including research courses

Non-thesis option: designed for those with laboratory research experience or for others, such as educators, who do not require research experience. All students admitted to the program are considered to be in the non-thesis program unless a faculty member of the program has accepted them as a thesis student. No additional hours are required.

Thesis option: includes a laboratory-based research apprenticeship leading to a written thesis; requires fulltime enrollment.
