

NEW VICE CHANCELLOR: Richard M. Jones has been selected by the search committee as UMSL's new vice chancellor. [OOP Photo]

Jones appointed vice chancellor

Richard M. Jones of San Clemente, California has been selected as UMSL's new vice chancellor of academic affairs. Jones' academic references have not yet been received, but the Current has learned that he has had previous administrative experience.

The vice chancellor's job will include setting honor code policy and investigating academic dishonesty.

"There's no place on this campus for liars and cheats," stated Jones in a recent interview.

Jones has appointed H.R. Smith as an "ethics consultant." "Smith will act as a buffer to keep the trivial cases out of my office," said Jones.

Jones was asked if he could explain the new honor code, but he said he was late for an appointment and asked to be pardoned.

Jones' application was unanimously approved by the search committee late last week. "I've obviously received a mandate," stated Jones. "I will strive to fulfill the will of the quiet majority of the students."

The Vice-chancellors office is being repainted this weekend to a shell beige at the new administrators request. Jones said that he "liked the room the way it was, but red just isn't my color."

The art hanging in his office has been removed in favor of more contemporary style work.

It was later reported that Jones' private collection of National Football League posters had arrived.

Jones is reported to be a strict authoritarian, and recent press releases refer to him as "His exalted highness, the Vice-Chancellor." H.R. Smith insisted that reporters fall to their knees as Jones entered the room. This is an order of protocol originating in China many years ago. "It's just a matter of courtesy," explained Smith.

Electricians were busy re-wiring Jones' offices Monday, as part of an unexplained remodeling plan. Smith refused comment on the remodeling plan, but a reliable source reported seeing several boxes of magnetic recording tape being delivered the day before. The source said there was probably some connection between the two events. "We could explain it to you," said Smith, "but it would be wrong."

Bond rejects Marillac, approves Head Records

In a compromise decision Governor Christopher Bond has approved the appropriation of $4.3 million for the purchase of the Head Records building by the University of Missouri.

The appropriation was in answer to a threatened override of the governor's veto of the Marillac purchase by the General Assembly.

"Missour cannot afford the $5.5 million acquisition of Marillac, so I requested the legislature to look into alternatives for expanding UMSL. The purchase of Head Records is more in line with the state budget," Bond said.

"By acquiring Head Records, we have eased the conditions in the most congested of all state colleges and universities," said James Russell, D-Florissant, House Appropriations Chairman.

Russell called the purchase of the building, "a good buy."

At the other wing of the Assembly, Senator Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, stated that the acquisition "would not hinder further university projects. By compromising and saving money on Head Records and in comparing costs with Marillac, the university will still have money enough to build a fountain in front of the library."

With the purchase of the 100 square foot building on Natural Bridge Road, the UMSL space committee, chaired by Donald Driemeier acting Dean of the School of Business, has been given the monumental task of assigning space, according Arnold B. Grobman, chancellor of UMSL.

"At last we have found a place to put student organizations that will be homeless at the time of the old Administration Building's razing," Driemeier said.

To be assigned space in the 100 square foot building are the Black Culture Room of the Minority Student Service Coalition and Project UNITED, Rolla campus Extension Center, Central Council, Development Skills Center, Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity and Peer Counseling.

Driemeier also stated that further plans for the building and property are being discussed. An extension is being considered to house a road grader, and the top of the building is being looked at for use as a helicopter port.

Another possibility being considered, according to Grobman, is to house the Optometry School at Head Records as soon as one is established.

"There is a great need for a School of Optometry in Missouri, and studies have proven UMSL would be the best public institution to provide it. If it ever [continued on page 4]

APPROVED ACQUISITION: Heads Records Shop was recently approved by Governor Bond for expanding UMSL's campus. The potential uses of this tiny structure are phenomenal as indicated by the space committee's allocations. [Photo by Mathey Brady]

What's inside...

Frogman's memory album

...page 3

2 comics meet untimely end

...page 2

UMSL duck pictorial no. 7

...page 4

Meaning of life revealed

...page 4

Still another Cleo Laine promo

...page 4

Bel-Nor radar captures pedestrian

UMSL student Peter April was arrested early yesterday for speeding on the Bel-Nor section of Natural Bridge, Current sources have learned.

April was walking through Bel-Nor on his way to classes from his bus stop on Hanley Road, when he tripped the Bel-Nor Police radar by exceeding the posted speed limit of 2 miles per hour.

Bel-Nor Police gave pursuit, but blew out a tire when driving onto the sidewalk, whereupon they immediately contacted police of nearby municipalities for assistance.

Units of the Cool Valley, Normandy and St. Louis County Police responded, setting up a roadblock at the south entrance of UMSL. April eluded the roadblock by climbing fences on several lawns, but was spotted by the St. Louis County Police helicopter as he passed Bugg Lake.

All police units closed in, and April was arrested after being surrounded in the Fun Palace, where he had taken refuge. From there he was taken, handcuffed, to the Bel-Nor Police station, where he was given a fine of $100.

"Well," sighed April, "at least the radar didn't catch me jogging. If I had been running late for class, there's no telling how big a fine I would have ended up with."

There were no casualties during the police chase of April; however, Normandy lost one squad car when it slid down a bank into Bugg Lake, where it was reportedly devoured by a large, green creature with gills and scales.

[continued on page 4]

Program board announces films

The University Program Board has just recently announced its schedule of free films for the Fall '76 semester. In keeping with its new policy of having an overall theme for the movies shown in a given semester (as with the History of American Films this year) the series will consist of "Sequels of Films That Should Have Been Left Alone".

Among the highlights: "The Taxes on the Treasure of Sierra Madre"

(American, 1949. Humphrey Bogart, Charles Bronson, Gloria Swanson, Freddy Foy, Myrna Loy, William Powell and the A.&P. Gypsies)

Fred C. Dobbs did not die! After being wounded by Mexican bandits Dobbs (Humphrey Bogart) actually crawled all the way north to Washington D.C. with nothing but pure spite to keep him moving. Inspired by this display of inhuman determination, the IRS hires Dobbs as a special investigator. In delightful musical sequence he audits and jails the entire state of Texas, in the hopes of getting back in every American player in the original film, including Robert Blake.

"Everything You Ever Wanted To Ask About Sex But Were Afraid To Know"

(American, 1973. Allen S. Konigsberg, Rock Hudson, Rip Torn, Marlon Brando, Red Buttons and a whole lot of other silly names)

"We're on our own/got no chaperone/let's misbehave" sings Jack the Ripper at the tuneful beginning of this sparkling comedy. Featured are a scene from "Romeo and Juliet" performed by gonococci and another where Rasputin behaves badly in a carwash. As a finale Dr. Reuben himself appears and fondles creme cheese.

"The Exorcist Goes to a Muscle Beach Party"

(American, 1975. Max Von Sydow, Linda Blair, Jason Miller, Mephistopheles, and the entire city of Cincinnati screaming in unison)

She gets repossessed.

"An American in Paris Gets Existential Dread"

(American, 1958. Gene Kelly, Keye Luke, Patty Duke, Faye Wray, Stubby Kaye and Rodney Allen Rippey as the President of the United States)

Based in part on the successful stage musical adapted from the works of Jean-Paul Satre, ("Nausea Goes Stepping Out"), "American" is a true musical tour de force. Especially good is the fantasy ballet scene towards the end in which Kelly dances with Cyd Charisse, who represents Angst.

"Ma and Pa Kettle Get Busted by the Thin Man"

(American, 1957. Marjorie Main, Percy Kilbride and Lassie)

We finally find out why the Kettles never seemed tied down by farm work in the first nine movies; their kind of crop is best harvested at night. In a surprise twist, Mrs. Nick Charles watches Polly inspect Kansas.

STALLING AROUND: An UMMSL student takes his studies in the proper spirit as he prepares for another exam. [photo by Andy Chandler, Original idea by Jeane Vogel. Caption by Jim Shanahan, revised by Bob Richardson]

The Elf Squad

Due to circumstances beyond our control, this strip has been discontinued...

Ross

UMMSL Oddities

Due to circumstances beyond our control, this strip has been discontinued....

Bill Wilson

© 1976 BILL WILSON & GARY HOFFMAN

The [REDACTED]

"It's like hundreds [REDACTED]"

Now you can [REDACTED] that only months ago was unheard of. A [REDACTED] Yet, with a shape and thinness that [REDACTED] nothing at all. Made with a new [REDACTED] is supremely [REDACTED] It's [REDACTED] to cling to the [REDACTED] And [REDACTED] remarkable [REDACTED] works with [REDACTED] so [REDACTED] scientifically [REDACTED] can [REDACTED] effortlessly. Made by the world's largest manufacturer of [REDACTED] million have already been sold in [REDACTED]. Orders are shipped in [REDACTED]. Send for your sample today.

Please send me: (Check Box)

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Free catalog sent with either order describing our entire new line of [REDACTED]

Check Cash M.O. Enclosed

Name _____

Address _____

City _____

State, Zip _____

Alpha Delta Neutron

fraternity is sponsoring a

Spaghetti and Squid Dinner

this weekend !!!!

Proceeds from the dinner will go to pay the damages from our last beer bust.....

All students (especially coeds) welcome!!! BYOA★

★ Bring Your Own Ambulance