Creating a Map of Your Neighborhood

In 1804 Lewis and Clark started on a journey to places they had never visited. They needed maps to guide them. You have probably used maps to find things too.

Pretend you have met a new student who has moved from another state to your neighborhood. You would like to give your new friend directions to your home from school. You decide to make a map to introduce your new friend to the area.

Directions

1. Draw a map of your neighborhood or city that includes directions for getting to your home from your school. Use the space below or the back of the page if you need more room.
2. Share your map with a classmate. See how your maps are the same or different.
