University of Missouri—St. Louis

Reaching Out to You

The University of Missouri-St. Louis provides students with the opportunity to complete select degree programs and credit courses through our Off-Campus Sites Program. The Off-Campus Site Program partners with Jefferson College, Mineral Area College, St. Charles Community College and the South County and Wildwood campuses of St. Louis Community College. Through these partnerships students can earn their degree from UMSL while taking UMSL courses on the campus of one of our community college partners. Students will earn UMSL credit, courses will be taught by UMSL faculty, and students earn their Bachelor’s degree from UMSL. The faculty and staff of the community colleges and UMSL are committed to helping you achieve your academic goals.

Courses are offered in a variety of formats through the off-campus site program, including on-site & Internet-based. All courses are taught by UMSL faculty.

About the program

The current climate favors students with business training. Business college graduates usually obtain entry-level positions in areas requiring accounting, finance, management, information systems, marketing and quantitative backgrounds. The College of Business at UMSL is among only 1.49% of programs worldwide with AACSB accreditation in both business and accounting, and the only university in the St. Louis area to hold this distinction. At UMSL’s College of Business, you will acquire expertise, knowledge and skills to help you get ahead and build a solid foundation for your future. An undergraduate degree from the College of Business Administration is extremely versatile and opens the doors to unlimited career opportunities in fields as diverse as banking, manufacturing, information technology and health care. Recent graduates of the College of Business Administration have positions with a variety of local and national firms as sales representatives, executive trainees, merchandiser, systems programmers and purchasing agents.
