HUMANITIES

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

ACLS is the leading private institution supporting scholars in the humanities and related social sciences at the doctoral and postdoctoral levels. Fellowships and grants are offered through multiple programs.

<https://www.acls.org/>

SCHOOL FOR ADVANCED RESEARCH

The Resident Scholar Fellowships support scholars who need time to prepare manuscripts or dissertations on topics important to understanding humankind. The School also offers various other fellowships in the humanities.

<https://sarweb.org/?scholars>

AMERICAN ANTIQUARIAN SOCIETY

The American Antiquarian Society offers three broad categories of visiting research fellowships, with tenures ranging from one to twelve months. All of the fellowships are designed to enable academic and independent scholars and advanced graduate students to spend an uninterrupted block of time doing research in the AAS library. Discussing this work with staff and other readers is a hallmark of an AAS fellowship.

AMERICAN PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Research Grants: Nine grant or fellowship programs in a wide range of fields. Franklin, Lewis and Clark, Lewis and Clark Astrobiology, Library Digital Humanities Fellowship, Library Fellowship, and Phillips programs award small grants ($1,000–$6,000) for modest research purposes. Daland, Library Long-Term Pre-Doctoral Fellowship, and Mellon Post-Doctoral Fellowship programs award much larger amounts ($25,000–$45,000) in highly selective competitions.

Awards are made for noncommercial research only. The APS makes no grants for academic study or classroom presentation, travel to conferences, non-scholarly projects, assistance with translation, or the preparation of materials for use by students. The APS does not pay overhead or indirect costs to any institution or publication costs, and grant funds are not to be used to pay income tax on the award.

LYNDE AND HARRY BRADLEY FOUNDATION

In line with its mission and guiding principles, the Bradley Foundation has identified four priority giving areas: Constitutional Order, Free Markets, Civil Society, and Informed Citizens. Within each of these giving areas, a comprehensive strategy will be identified and pursued to advance the Foundation's principles from ideas to implementation. In keeping with the Foundation's historical practice, a significant portion of its grant making in each giving area—and approximately 30% of the Foundation's overall unrestricted giving each year—will be directed toward organizations in Milwaukee and Wisconsin. Additionally, a significant percentage of its grants in each giving area will be allocated toward higher-risk, entrepreneurial giving - "venture capital" investments in new ideas, organizations, and leaders who are tackling the Foundation's priority issues in innovative ways that show high potential for significant impact.

ANDREW W. MELLON FOUNDATION

The foundation makes grants in five core program areas including Higher Education and Scholarship in the Humanities, Arts and Cultural Heritage, Diversity, Scholarly Communications, International Higher Education and Strategic Projects. Prospective grantees should review program area guidelines before inquiring about grant support. Inquiries concerning a proposed grant should be made through the Foundation's grantee portal, Fluxx (<https://mellon.fluxx.io>). If Foundation staff find that the proposed grant fits within the Foundation's grant making priorities, staff will invite a grant proposal through the portal. Once invited, grantees should be prepared to work closely with program staff in refining the proposal, often through multiple drafts. Based on the final proposal, program staff will determine whether to bring a grant recommendation to the Board of Trustees at one of its quarterly meetings (generally held in March, June, September, and December).
