It is meant to serve as an initial intellectual investigation into the concepts of "how" and "why" concerning gender ideologies raised in the introductory class and as a bridge to the later advanced gender theory and methods class. In this class, we will study interdisciplinary feminist theories with a focus on gender equality, including masculinity theory, queer theory, muted group theory, and other evolving frameworks. It is meant to serve as an initial intellectual investigation into the concepts of "how" and "why" concerning gender ideologies raised in the introductory class and as a bridge to the later advanced gender theory and methods class. In this class, we will study interdisciplinary feminist theories with a focus on gender equality, including masculinity theory, queer theory, muted group theory, and other evolving frameworks. | | | | Case Competition Case Competition. Same as Management 3698. This course will prepare teams of students to analyze, synthesize and present a proposed multifaceted solution to a business problem. Each year successful students may be invited to compete in domestic or international case competitions, such as the UMSL International Business Case Competition. Through the use of cross-disciplinary cases (Management, Finance, International Business, Accounting, Information Systems, Marketing), students working in cross functional teams will increase their ability to successfully function in team roles, analytical abilities, improve their writing and presentation skills and learn to think more strategically and analytically. Student teams will compete as they solve several cases throughout the semester. Employer surveys indicate that while students have topical course knowledge, experience in applying that knowledge to concrete problems would better prepare students for success in early career roles. Additional Fee - Arts and Sciences Supplemental Fee applies. | | Case Competition Same as HONORS 3030. Topic: Case Competition This course will prepare teams of students to analyze, synthesize and present a proposed multifaceted solution to a business problem. Each year successful students may be invited to compete in domestic or international case competitions, such as the UMSL International Business Case Competition. Through the use of cross-disciplinary cases (Management, Finance, International Business, Accounting, Information Systems, Marketing), students working in cross functional teams will increase their ability to successfully function in team roles, analytical abilities, improve their writing and presentation skills and learn to think more strategically and analytically. Student teams will compete as they solve several cases throughout the semester. Employer surveys indicate that while students have topical course knowledge, experience in applying that knowledge to concrete problems would better prepare students for success in early career roles. Special Consent Form Required. Additional Fee - Business School Undergraduate Course Fee applies. This is a taskforce initiated by the Math Pathway Task Force through Missouri Department of Higher Education. The Math Pathways Task Force, organized in October 2014 pursuant to House Bill 1042, strives to identify alternative entry level mathematics courses most effective and beneficial to each academic major. The task force works with faculty, administrators, professional associations, and state legislators to implement its recommendations. One of the goals is to build prerequisite within the course or offers just-in-time reviews, aka, Corequisite. At UMSL, we work closely with the state and try to implement the same ideas as the state to reconstruct some of our courses to cater to students' needs. This section is to serve such purpose.

This is how this section works - in addition to regular class time (3 hours each week), this section includes two augmentation/recitation hours per week. Augmentation/recitation hours will be conducted by a session leader. Students are required to attend both recitations and lectures throughout the semester.

It has been proven that these two extra hours of each week have been vital to students learning experience. Students appreciate the extra support provided to them, and believe that enjoy the class but not stressing out is the key to their success. If you believe this is the right time to learn, we are here for you!

Students must take ALEKS Math Placement test in order to register for this section of Math 1020 but there is no minimum ALEKS score required. Students who obtain a score below 25 are asked to take advantage of the free Prep and Learning module to refresh their math skills in preparation for the course. Intermediate Algebra background recommended.

At UMSL, we work closely with the state and try to implement the same ideas as the state to reconstruct some of our courses to cater to students' needs. This section is to serve such purpose. This is how this section works - in addition to regular class time (3 hours each week), this section includes two augmentation/recitation hours per week. Augmentation/recitation hours will be conducted by a session leader. Students are required to attend both recitations and lectures throughout the semester. It has been proven that these two extra hours of each week have been vital to students learning experience. Students appreciate the extra support provided to them, and believe that enjoy the class but not stressing out is the key to their success. If you believe this is the right time to learn, we are here for you! Students must take ALEKS Math Placement test in order to register for this section of Math 1020 but there is no minimum ALEKS score required. Students who obtain a score below 25 are asked to take advantage of the free Prep and Learning module to refresh their math skills in preparation for the course. Intermediate Algebra background recommended. Co-Requisite Section Additional Fee - Arts and Sciences Supplemental Fee applies. This pilot course follows the co-requisite model which is based on successful results from COMPLETE COLLEGE AMERICA (CCA) research. The co-requisite part of the course is a remedial course that students take at the same time as their normal, college-level course. Students receive targeted support to help boost their understanding and learning of the college-level course material. Remediation is delivered as a co-requisite, rather than as a prerequisite, thus providing just-in-time academic support.

This particular pilot course works by offering students who are repeating Math 1030 after a failed attempt or for STEM majors who have not been able to obtain the cut score for ALEKS but have achieved a 25 or higher. The students who successfully complete the course will earn three credits for College Algebra and will then be ready to enter the other mathematics courses that are required for their degree. The regular college algebra course has three 75-minute classes, meeting three days a week. The pilot co-requisite course would have five 75-minute classes, meeting 5 days a week. The two extra days, Mondays and Wednesdays, would be spent on strengthening material and would be conducted by an experienced session leader. On Mondays, the students would be working on the "just in time review" required for the Tuesday lectures. On Wednesdays, the students would work on the more difficult of the new concepts for the week.

Students must take ALEKS Math Placement test in order to register for this section of Math 1030 and a minimum of score of 25 on ALEKS is required. Students should take advantage of the free Prep and Learning module to refresh their math skills in preparation for the course. Intermediate Algebra background recommended. | | | | | | | | | | Good, Bad, or It Depends? Topic: Globalization: Good, Bad, or It Depends This course seeks to come to terms with one of the most popular, yet often misunderstood, concepts of our time. Globalization is a multidimensional construct, which calls for its study from a multidisciplinary perspective: i.e., economics, political science, history, and anthropology. The course will explore the forces undergirding economic globalization, as well as the factors that are giving rise to a global democratic dispensation, at least in form if not always in substance. Moreover, it will examine different types of globalization including archaic globalization, proto-globalization, and "deviant" globalization. The idea here is to assess the degree to which contemporary globalization represents rupture or continuity with historical precedents, and comports (or not) with certain ideals. Finally, the course will explore cultural globalization and the rise of a global 'pop culture' led by the news media, the entertainment industry, the internet, and aviation, in other words, communications and transportation technologies. An important part of the course will be to do a comparative analysis of the impacts of globalization in all of its manifestations on social groups (e.g., men and women, ethnic and racial minorities, young and old, classes), countries, and regions. In particular, the class will examine the impacts of globalization on Africa (globalized Africa). Additional Fee - Arts and Sciences Supplemental Fee applies. | | | | | Supply Chain Leadership & Stra Topic: Supply Chain Leadership & Strategy Course Description: Transforming an organization from traditional thinking to Lean thinking requires leadership. This model "builds" the individual into a Lean leader. This is critical in order to navigate through the waters of change management required to successfully execute and sustain the Lean supply chain journey. In this course, students will complete a deep dive of the House of Lean and explore the main aspects of lean leadership. Among other important topics, students will learn "go see" management, A3 thinking, 'leader as teacher' concepts, becoming an effective facilitator and change management, rooted in GE's Change Acceleration Process (CAP Model).
