										Pwr&Prc:Intro Fem & Gndr Thry Same as GS4100, PHLI 4451 and SOC4100 Course Description: This class is a continuation of WGST 2102: Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies, which is a recommended prerequisite. It is meant to serve as an initial intellectual investigation into the concepts of "how" and "why" concerning gender ideologies raised in the introductory class and as a bridge to the later advanced gender theory and methods class. In this class, we will study interdisciplinary feminist theories with a focus on gender equality, including masculinity theory, queer theory, muted group theory, and other evolving frameworks. Arts and Science Advising Fee applies. Please see Cashiers website for details.

				Power & Practice Same as SOC 4100 001, ENGL 3800 001, and PHIL 4451 001. Course Description: This class is a continuation of WGST 2102: Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies, which is a recommended prerequisite. It is meant to serve as an initial intellectual investigation into the concepts of "how" and "why" concerning gender ideologies raised in the introductory class and as a bridge to the later advanced gender theory and methods class. In this class, we will study interdisciplinary feminist theories with a focus on gender equality, including masculinity theory, queer theory, muted group theory, and other evolving frameworks. 				What is A Liberal Education? What is a Liberal Education? Its History, Usages, and Utilities. Same as Honors 2030. This course examines the history and utility—or inutility—of the very American concept of a "liberal education." Using classic studies, contemporary polemics, and their own experience, students will seek a critical and well-informed answer to the perennial question, what's in it for me? This is a course in American intellectual and educational history.

				Case Competition Case Competition. Same as International Business 3298. Same as Management 3698. This course will prepare teams of students to analyze, synthesize and present a proposed multifaceted solution to a business problem. Each year successful students may be invited to compete in domestic or international case competitions, such as the UMSL International Business Case Competition. Through the use of cross-disciplinary cases (Management, Finance, International Business, Accounting, Information Systems, Marketing), students working in cross functional teams will increase their ability to successfully function in team roles, analytical abilities, improve their writing and presentation skills and learn to think more strategically and analytically. Student teams will compete as they solve several cases throughout the semester. Employer surveys indicate that while students have topical course knowledge, experience in applying that knowledge to concrete problems would better prepare students for success in early career roles. Arts and Science Advising Fee applies. Please see Cashiers website for details. Special Consent Form Required.

									Case Competition Same as HONORS 3030 and INTL BUS 3298. Topic: Case Competition This course will prepare teams of students to analyze, synthesize and present a proposed multifaceted solution to a business problem. Each year successful students may be invited to compete in domestic or international case competitions, such as the UMSL International Business Case Competition. Through the use of cross-disciplinary cases (Management, Finance, International Business, Accounting, Information Systems, Marketing), students working in cross functional teams will increase their ability to successfully function in team roles, analytical abilities, improve their writing and presentation skills and learn to think more strategically and analytically. Student teams will compete as they solve several cases throughout the semester. Employer surveys indicate that while students have topical course knowledge, experience in applying that knowledge to concrete problems would better prepare students for success in early career roles. Special Consent Form Required. Business School Undergraduate Course Fee applies. See Cashiers website for details.

It is meant to serve as an initial intellectual investigation into the concepts of "how" and "why" concerning gender ideologies raised in the introductory class and as a bridge to the later advanced gender theory and methods class. In this class, we will study interdisciplinary feminist theories with a focus on gender equality, including masculinity theory, queer theory, muted group theory, and other evolving frameworks.
