

Guide for Second Level Managers

If you are a second level manager, you may have anywhere from one to many indirect reports. Given that a second level approval is required as part of the annual performance appraisal process, it may be time-consuming for you. This guide is intended to help you understand the expectations of you as a second level approver and how to use reports in myPerformance to make this task efficient and productive.

Second Level Approver Expectations

Rating annual performance can be a difficult task for even the best manager. As a second level manager, you are expected to work with your direct reports in reaching similar definitions of the rating scale, which increases fairness of the process. The below steps outline how you can use score data to help you with this responsibility.

Analyzing a Report

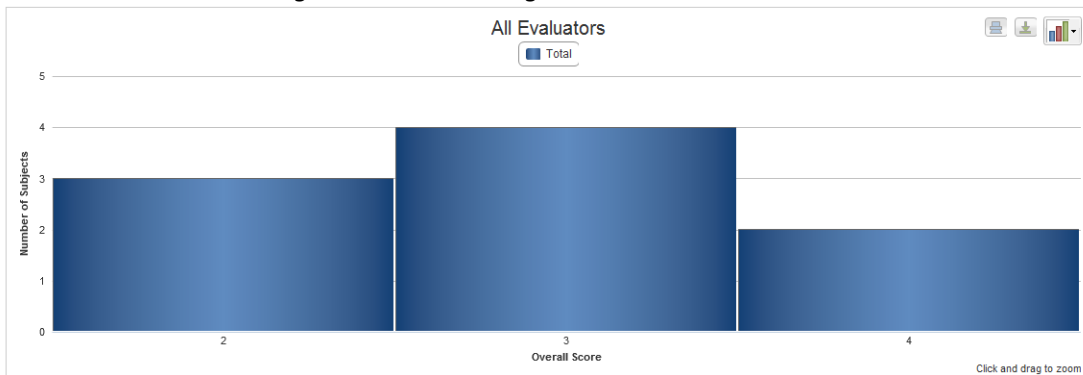

There are many ways to analyze a score report. The approach below is one way to get to know the scores in your unit and to understand where you need to ask more questions, even if you don't know all of your indirect reports. For a step-by-step guide for generating a score report, refer to the Appendix.

To get a feel for the data, look at the overall chart as well as each chart by manager.

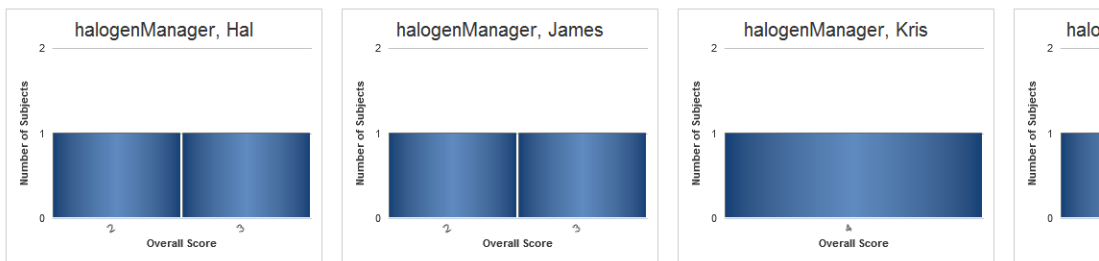

As you review, ask yourself the following questions:

- What does the overall distribution look like? Does that distribution corroborate the results your unit accomplished in the past year?
- What do the score distributions by each manager look like? Does it appear that one manager is a more difficult or lenient rater than other managers?
- Look at the employees that have similar scores. When considering the results those employees accomplished, does that grouping make sense? To look at the data this way, scroll down past the charts and sort the data by employee score:

- Click the down arrow next to By Overall Score
- Choose No Grouping
- Hold your mouse over the Overall Score column name, click the down arrow, and then choose Sort Ascending or Sort Descending

Reviewing and Approving Appraisals

Once you have reviewed appraisal scores and discussed any changes with managers, the next step in the process is to review and approve each employee appraisal. While you can't review and approve all of the appraisals at once, reviewing appraisal scores beforehand using the Score Report will make the review process much more efficient.

To approve a manager's appraisal, click on Review appraisals for second level reports on the home page, and then click Review and Approve.

General Instructions

The annual Performance Appraisal is intended to a) summarize employee performance over the past year, and b) provide an employee and evaluator an opportunity to discuss performance and future development. Two sections of the form count toward the employee's overall rating: Success Factors and Key Responsibilities. The rating scale definitions, provided below, can help the evaluator accurately document an employee's performance. The comment boxes should be used to indicate specific examples that support the rating. If a rating of "Outstanding" or "Unacceptable" is given, a comment must be

If more work needs to be done on the appraisal, you can indicate your thoughts using the Annotation button, and then click Send Back to Author. Doing so will send the appraisal back to the manager to edit; once it is complete, it will go back to you for approval.
