UMSL Starts Smoke Free

by Max Montgomery
news editor

Smoke-filled hallways and overflowing ashtrays are things of the past on the UM-St. Louis campus. Since June 1, smokers have been forced to drag themselves outside to fulfill their nicotine cravings.

On that Saturday, the university's new smoke-free campus policy went into effect, prohibiting smoking throughout all campus buildings.

All four University of Missouri campuses are currently implementing and following through with similar no-smoking policies, following a decision of the Board of Curators.

The program, which was implemented for health reasons, is being phased in at various campuses, said Bob Samples, acting director of communications for UM-St. Louis.

Under UM-St. Louis' policy, students, faculty and staff are prohibited from smoking any type of tobacco inside any campus building. There are no designated indoor smoking areas.

Students and faculty members interviewed earlier said they supported the policy, although many conceded it would be an inconvenience for smokers.

"I think it will be a definite help for all of those students who don't like smoking and feel offended by other persons infringing upon our rights to have a smoke-free environment," Doug Rambaud, 24, a senior majoring in history, said.

Rambaud said he doesn't have a problem with people who smoke as long as they don't do it in a manner in which is irritating, like someone blowing smoke in his face.

One University Grounds Department employee, who wishes to remain anonymous, said she welcomed being able to eat in the cafeteria without breathing smoke. She added that she was not bothered so much by walking down a smoke-filled hall.

Joan Wykoff, a clerical worker in the School of Arts and Sciences Dean's Office, said she is thrilled about the new policy.

"I'm extremely happy. Only one person in my office smokes and they smoke probably two packs a day," Wykoff said. "That's all I breath."

No formal penalty has been established for violators of the policy, Samples said, adding that he doesn't think there will be many problems.

A Look Back

UM-St. Louis Campus Is Rich In History

The 128-acre parcel of land on which the campus sits, began as the old Bellerive Country Club, a playground for its affluent members.

They swam in the lake, walked the golf course, and paraded through the immaculate clubhouse during summer dance. The course itself was formidable enough for use in deciding two Western Amateur Open golf championships (1949 and 1953).

However, desiring to escape the spreading urban sprawl of St. Louis County, the membership of the club moved their facility to its present location at Ladue and Mason roads.

In April, 1958, with difficulties in selling the old land mounting because of Bellerive city ordinances, the land was offered to the Normandy School District.

A bond issue was presented to voters on September 30, 1958, and passed 3,241 to 1,547. The bonds generated sold quickly, and on February 13, 1959, the school district acquired title to the property.

As the county club began its withdrawal, the Normandy educators surveyed their needs and goals. Discovering a substantial interest among the junior and senior classes at Normandy and other high schools, the district established the University of Missouri-Normandy Residence Center. UM agreed to pay the faculty and provide a library; the school district would furnish an administrator and supplement supplies and maintenance.

The first classes held at the infant university were on September 14, 1960. Four full-time faculty members taught 215 freshmen students. C.E. Potter was installed as the first administrator, and he hired eight part-time instructors to boost instructional capabilities.

One of the Normandy educator, Ward E. Barnes was influential in establishing UM-St. Louis. Barnes, a St. Louis educator for over 35 years, was instrumental in passing the bond issue.

During those early years, Barnes was a driving force behind increasing enrollment and the curriculum of the university. UM President Elmer Ellis strongly desired that the University of Missouri expand the facility to a four-year branch of the UM system.

Barnes, worked with Dr. Ellis, a close friend, and changed the dream into a reality.

Barnes recalled getting a phone call from Ellis one Saturday morning: "Ward," he said. "Do you really think you can get 100 students to enroll in that program you're setting up?"

And he replied, "Elmer, I really think we will."

In 1961-62 enrollment was over 400 students, and discussions began.

Ellis offered the Normandy School District $60,000 for the Residence Center, but a dispute over the bidding process necessary in state land transfer stalled Ellis's attempts of acquisition.

Considerable lobbying by Ellis, the UM Board of Curators and Gov. John Dalton sparked editorial support from the St. Louis press, who compared the local situation to Kansas

Welcome From The Chancellor

As chancellor of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, I would like to welcome both new and returning students to the University. We have been very busy this summer and many important changes have taken place.

As you walk across campus, you can't help but notice all of the construction taking place. On the north campus, the Metro Link Light Rail tracks are being laid and a light-rail station is being erected. Construction also has begun on our new Computer Center Building just north of the quadrangle, which should be finished next July. The Computer Center Building will enhance our efforts to computerize the entire campus and ensure that students, faculty and staff become computer literate.

A computer lab, made possible by a donation from AT&T, was unveiled this summer. It is one of the largest and most comprehensive open student computing labs in the nation. AT&T donated $323,000 worth of equipment to UM-St. Louis as part of their University Equipment Donation Program.

A $10 million proposal for a Center for Molecular Electronics at the University has been approved by Congress and is awaiting President Bush's signature. The proposal includes $5 million for a new building and $5 million for advanced research equipment.

Another new development is the approval of funding for the undergraduate engineering program. Recently, the curators approved $450,000 of the $1 million earmarked for engineering at UM-St. Louis to be released. This means that undergraduate classes in mechanical and electrical engineering will be offered in January.

With all of these new improvements taking place, UM-St. Louis is a very exciting place to be this fall. The faculty, staff and I welcome you to the University and wish you luck in this new academic year.

intramural sports programs. The gregariousness of the earliest students is recorded by the Nov. 21, 1962 issue of the Tiger Club. A strong editorial urging the curtailment of drinking on campus, linked with a ban on card playing in the school's only cafeteria, attest to some of the issues of the day.

Evidently things were out of hand because the faculty handed 338 out of 551 students mid-term deficiencies. Administrator Potter also prohibited the wearing of bermuda shorts on campus, because they were not consistent with the school's dress code.

The infant university has come a long way since then. We now have over 20 buildings in the north and south campuses, with the new additions to the Thomas Jefferson Library and the new computer building.

The emerging university has become an integral part of St. Louis higher education, with seemingly unlimited room for growth.

New Shuttle Success For UMSL

by Max Montgomery
news editor

Inter-campus traveling will be easier this year thanks to the new shuttle bus which is used in addition to the vans already running the shuttle route.

The University said the fact that the new bus holds 18 passengers and that it is mechanically accessible to the handicapped students and faculty on campus make it unique.

Dietrich Smith, representative to the ad-hoc task force-campus disabled accessibility committee, said earlier, that he is sure everyone is thrilled with the new vehicle.

"I am sure they are delighted and thrilled to death about the new accessibility," Smith said.

The bus, which cost $36,000 was delivered to campus on Thursday, February 21, 1991. The next day the university held a small celebration in the Alumni Circle.

The first use of the bus was for transportation on March 1, when the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra performed on campus.

John L. Pickens, chief of police, said that according to the driver of the bus that night, it was very much appreciated by the riders.

"The fact that it holds 18 passengers is a plus," Pickens said in an earlier interview. "Take into consideration that we were running with the largest capacity of about 13 passengers. Now we can pick up five more passengers so we're able to move the people faster."

For information about the times and routes of the University shuttle service contact Student Affairs.

Metro Link Construction Said To Be Worth Wait

by Robin Mayo and
Max Montgomery
Current staff

For many UMSL students, trying to enter the campus these days has become a strenuous task.

Since Metro Link Light Rail construction began in February, different parts of the campus and different campus roads have been closed, causing headaches for UMSL travelers.

Campus administrators said, in earlier interviews, that although the construction is an inconvenience, it will benefit the entire student body in the end.

Bi-State, developers of the Metro Link, purchased 31 passenger vehicles from Siemens Energy and Automation, Inc. of Germany, for $45.4 million. They are approximately 89 feet long, and made of light weight, high tensile steel.

Each car will be climate controlled and have 72 fireproof, fiberglass seats with fabric inserts. There will also be room for an additional 100 comfortably standing passenger.

The words "light rail" may confuse people as to what exactly it is. It is a streetcar-type transit railway, constructed on city streets, very similar to a trolley car.

A feeder bus will carry passengers to and from transit stations. Opposed to buses, the light rail is more efficient and conserves more energy.

The overall cost of the light rail is $288 million. The first groundbreaking ceremony was May 31, 1990 at North Hanley and I-70, where a concrete retaining structure was erected to contain the rail alignment.

It is hoped that Metro Link will be completed in 1993. It is to be an 18 mile, 20 station set up, from East St. Louis, Ill., across the Eads Bridge, all the way to Lambert Airport.

Stops will include Laclede's Landing, the Central West End, Forest Park, Page Ave., St. Charles Rock Rd., UMSL St. Louis' North and South campuses, Hanley Road, and Berkeley.

BASKET CASE..... Keara Witteried having fun while learning at the daycare center on South Campus. The daycare center makes returning to school a cinch for parents and is used as a learning tool for education majors who are going into daycare.

On Campus Daycare Gives Parents A Break

Even though most students don't know it their is a south side to the UM-St. Louis campus the Marrilac campus houses things such as the School of Nursing, Education, Optometry as well as the Child Daycare Center.

On the Marrilac campus the daycare center is located in the South Classroom Building, just down the hall from the School of Nursing. It's main operation takes place in a renovated gym. There is an outside playground also.

Students get discounts when they put their child in the on campus daycare. However, the center also accepts faculty's children and children from the outside.

Rates for the daycare depend on the number of hours and days you enroll your child. The children are put in with other children of their same age group and learn by playing and discovering.

During the day, the center accepts infants to children up to five years of age. While at the daycare center the children receive breakfast, lunch and a snack. The daycare center teaches social interaction which is vital to a child's development.

The daycare center also has an evening program, in which they accept children age 2 to 12.

The center's hours are flexible.

Since the daycare is located on campus it is utilized as a learning tool for university students. Education majors specializing in early childhood development are allowed to observe the children and participate in the fun for their practicum hours.

For more information about the rates, hours, and particulars of the daycare center call 553-5658.

Eye Care Center Keeps Students From Seeing Red

"Life is worth seeing" has been the slogan of the Optometry Eye Care Clinic, located on the UM-St. Louis South campus inside the optometry building.

The Optometry Clinic is an amazing service that students should not pass up. To non-students the clinic charges approximately $24 for an eye exam. Students, However receive a 20% discount which brings the price into the $19 range.

The price is cheap but the service is not. An eye exam last for about two hours so that the clinic can get to know everything about the patients eyes. Such a thorough exam is also plus to the optometry students that learn from experience while supervised by the optometry faculty.

The exam is not the only low price students will find at the eye clinic. Frames start at around $12 and lenses at $28.

Don't be fooled into thinking that because the price is low that the quality is too. The Optometry Eye Care Clinic is totally professional and carries name brand frames so you can look cool on a budget that's not.

Contact fittings and services are discounted too. The clinic has both hard and soft lenses and a large variety to make it possible to fit as many people as possible.

The clinic's prescriptions are filled by third and fourth year ophthalmology students who are overseen by doctors already holding their Doctorates in this field.

The clinic takes all ages of people and people outside of the university. The only criteria is that you call and make an appointment. You can do this by calling 553-5131.

Music Department Has Something For Everyone

by Robin Mayo

music, which more students tend to do, majoring in fields like education or business, then using their music minor within those fields.

Music majors and minors can find a wide variety of courses to choose from at UMSL.

The UMSL student chapter of MENC (Music Educators National Conference) is an organization geared toward students involved with music education. This gives students a chance to get involved in extra curricular activities while fraternizing with other students.

Students who want to take a music course for pleasure will also find that UMSL offers an excellent program.

There are four degree programs in which a student can major.

- Bachelor of Arts in Music
- Bachelor of Music in Music Education
- Bachelor of Music with an Emphasis in Performance
- Bachelor of Music with an Emphasis in Music Management

The people involved in the music department comprise a small part of the campus as a whole.

"It's small, but it hasn't gotten worse. And there's room for more. We are eager to have students," said Dr. Leonard Ott, chairperson of the music department.

"It's a good department but unfortunately not enough people know about it, especially in the instrumental areas.

For some reason, people don't think that unless they're a music major they can come over here and participate, and they're more than welcome to come over. The music departments would love to have them come over," said Laura Steger, President of the student chapter of MENC.

She said that if you've been in band throughout grade school and high school, then why not join?

Dr. Gregory C. Fox, assistant professor of music and education says that the music department tries to promote itself in the Current and other types of media, but that it is a difficult task to increase the student awareness of the programs they have to offer.

"I think that the general student body is probably not very aware of what we have to offer over here. Part of it is the nature of a commuter campus, and we are a bit isolated," said Dr. Fox. "We have an outstanding music education program, and all of our faculty are exceptional."

New students and return students who have any interest in music are more than welcome to make that trip across Natural Bridge Rd. and see what the music department has to share with its students.

The Newman Center, located at 3200 Natural Bridge Rd., is sponsored by the Catholic Bishop of St. Louis. The organization promotes the fellowship of the campus community.

One of the things students can always count on is the Sunday evening mass at the Newman House at 8:00 p.m. On Wednesdays and Thursdays mass is usually in the University Center, room 226 at 12 noon.

The resident chaplain, Father Bill Lyons, has been with the Newman House since 1967.

Steve Konopke is Fr. Lyons associate chaplain. His goals are to speak with students and offer advice to problems, as well as trying to keep their social, physical, emotional, intellectual, and spiritual lives well balanced.

The Newman House is named for John Henry Newman, an oxford scholar turned Cardinal in the Roman Catholic Church. He died over 100 years ago, but his name continues on, proudly placed on many Newman center all across the nation. Cardinal Newman died at the age of 90, and he is considered to have earned the rank of Saint.

Beside helping on campus, the Newman House goes out into the streets of St. Louis, helping Karen House on Hogan Street prepare meals for the hungry twice a month. On Saturdays, in season, they help weather homes that are in need.

While students are at the center, they can do whatever they want; studying, reading, talking, or just to come and think. The center is open everyday from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The phone number at the Newman House is 385-3455, which translates to FUL-FILL. Students are encouraged to stop by, regardless of religious preference.

Athletic Department Offers An Array Of Activities

While most of the UM-St. Louis campus is devoted to improving the mind, the Mark Twain Building is concerned with the rest of the body.

There are many activities available to students at UM-St. Louis for only a mere flash of an I.D. card.

The gymnasium consists of 8 basketball areas, 3 volleyball courts, 1.0 mile running path and 6 badminton courts. The balcony areas each include two basketball areas, one volleyball court and two badminton courts.

If you like to pump iron and hate the expenses of joining a fitness club, the Mark Twain also has a weight room with various free weights and a Universal, Stair Masters, and Nautilus Machines. There are even classes in which proper use of the machines and weights are taught.

If you can't leave home with out your racquet the Mark Twain has four indoor racquetball courts, two 4-wall outdoor racquetball/handball courts and six outdoor tennis courts.

If running is your thing the Athletic Department offers and indoor running track, an outdoor fit Trail and Fit course.

The Mark Twain even has recreation equipment for various sports for your use. And once again you get all of this for only a flash of that card.

After your finished with your sporting endeavor shower in the locker room and then relax in the sauna or whirl pool.

The People Behind The Scenes...

After watching a good movie, little, if any, recognition is given to those behind the scenes. It's the actors and actresses who gain the fame and glory. The same is true with collegiate athletics. Several important people's contributions go unnoticed.

Chuck Smith
Athletic Director

Charles G. "Chuck" Smith is in his 13th year at UM-St. Louis' first full-time athletic director. In 1979, Smith gave up the combined position of athletic director and head basketball coach that he had performed so well for 13 years at the University.

Smith started the UM-St. Louis program in 1966 when he assumed the dual role of athletic director and head basketball coach. Since then, no less than seven sports have sent teams or individuals to NCAA Division II National Championship.

In thirteen years, Smith's teams at UM-St. Louis compiled a record of 171 wins and 143 losses. Two teams reached national tournaments.

Jeff Kuchno
Sports Information Director

Jeff Kuchno enters his third year as the Sports Information Director at UM-St. Louis. The 30-year old St. Louis native graduated from UM-St. Louis with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communications as well as a writing certificate in 1984.

Upon graduation, Kuchno was hired as a programming specialist at American Cablevision of St. Louis, where he produced several community programs. Part of his duties included producing and directing UM-St. Louis basketball telecasts for one season.

Kuchno served as a sports editor with Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis for 19 months before coming back to UM-St. Louis. He was sports editor at the County Star-Journal for seven months and the North County Journal for nearly one full year.

Fitness Clinics Available For Beginners

Does the word exercise bring flash backs of the 20 minute workout girls bouncing around like maniacs in their leg-warmers, to your mind? Well, there's more to exercise than a great leotard and leg warmers. Proper usage of exercise tools is the key and the UM-St. Louis Recreational Sports Wellness program has just what your looking for.

The Wellness

program is offering three types of fitness clinics for beginners starting Sept. 10.

Four Nautilus clinics will be offered.

Each clinic will teach basic Nautilus and exercise principles for the beginner.

Time Schedule For Fitness Clinics

AEROBIC MACHINES

Oct. 21 12:00 p.m.
Dec. 5 6:00 p.m.

NAUTILUS MACHINES

Sept. 10 6:00 p.m.
Oct. 10 12:00 p.m.
Nov. 4 6:00 p.m.
Dec. 11 12:00 p.m.

FREE WEIGHTS

Oct. 16 6:00 p.m.
Nov. 21 6:00 p.m.

Two aerobic machine clinics are available.

Each clinic will teach the proper use of Lifecycles, Stair Master, Life Rowers, and Versaclimbers for the best cardiac and weight loss benefits.

For beginner to intermediate weight lifters two free weight clinics will be available. These classes are designed for people interested in building weight or size.

Let the Wellness Program help you to tighten your fanny, pump your pecks, and melt your waist.

To sign up for these clinics or for more information call 553-5125 or visit the Recreational Sports Department in the Mark Twain Building.

Tom Redmond
Head Soccer Coach

Tom Redmond is back for his sixth season at UM-St. Louis. He acted as assistant to the late Don Dallas for the past five years and now takes the reigns as head coach.

A graduate of John F. Kennedy High School, Redmond was an All-American at Meramec Community College in St. Louis before heading to Indiana University. He was team MVP his senior year at IU and played in the Senior Bowl. He received his B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education in 1979.

After college, Redmond enjoyed a successful professional career. He played two years with the Chicago Sting of the NASL and two years with the Indianapolis Daredevils of the American Soccer League.

Ken Hudson
Women's Soccer Coach

Hudson, the 39-year old UM-St. Louis graduate has been a fixture on the UM-St. Louis scene since he came to the school as a freshman in 1970.

Hudson became women's field hockey coach in 1978. The Roanoke High School graduate then began the UM-St. Louis women's soccer program at the club level in 1980 and moved it to the intercollegiate level in 1981.

The program go off to a great start with a perfect 6-0 mark as a club team and undefeated during the first 16 games of intercollegiate competition.

Denise Silvester
Head Volleyball Coach

In just four seasons, Silvester has compiled a 147-55 mark as head coach of the volleyball program at UM-St. Louis. That's an average of nearly 37 wins per season. Only a handful of coaches can boast of that type of success.

Silvester made an immediate impact at the school. She inherited a team in 1986 that was 9-34 the previous year and turned it into a 28-14 team that finished second in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association Conference Championships. After that smashing debut, she was named MIAA "Coach of the Year."

Silvester also serves as assistant athletic director at UM-St. Louis and oversees the women's athletic programs.

Aerobics...

The UM-St. Louis sports department is sponsoring 'Fall Combo Impact Aerobics'.

The program will begin on Sept. 3 and continue through Dec. 13. The cost for Students is $25. Faculty, Staff and Alumni receive the discounted price of $40 and for all others the cost is $80.

Classes will be instructed in the Aerobics Room of the Mark Twain Building.

Times are as follows:

Noon Class (A):
Mon., Wed., Fri. 12-1 p.m.

Evening Classes (B):
Mon., Wed., Fri. 5:30-6:30 p.m.

Evening Classes (C):
Tue. & Thur. 5:30-6:30 p.m.
Sat. 9:30 a.m.

To register for the aerobic classes contact the Recreational Sports Office at 203 Mark Twain Building or call 533-5124.

Collegiate Ice Hockey Action

by Christine McGraw
sports editor

The UM-St. Louis Ice Hockey Club will begin its season in mid October.

This is the first year for the club to play in the Central States Collegiate Hockey League (CSCHL). The team will play in the CSCHL Division II league.

The Hockey Club, which does not have a home playing arena, finds practice and playing time through local hockey rinks including the Arena.

The team is not completely formed and tryouts are set for Oct. 1 From 4:45 p.m. until 5:45 p.m. at the Practices are scheduled on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 a.m. at the North county rink. And on Wednesdays from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 a.m. at the South County rink.

Any one interested in playing, videotaping games, keeping stats during games, or cheerleading, please call Wayne Gholson at 521-6818, or Shelle Hassenforder at 524-2881.

Intramural Sports

Fall Sports Schedules

Test Your Skill

Take advantage of the many recreational opportunities you have by being a UM - St. Louis student, faculty/staff member or alumni. Intramurals are structured, competitive/cooperative sports, organized into leagues and tournaments for people of all skill levels. Individual, and team events provide divisions for men, women, and coed participation. If you like to meet people and compete in sports, take part in the Intramural program.

How to Enter

1. Entry forms for all team and individual sports are available in the Rec Sports Office, 203 Mark Twain, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.
2. Completed entry forms must be returned to the Rec Sports Office on or before the designated deadline.
3. A $10 forfeit fee must accompany a team's entry form. This fee is a deposit which will be returned to the team following the sports play-offs, given that team has not forfeited a game prior to that point.
4. Individuals seeking a team may complete an entry form and will be placed on one shortly thereafter.
