

April Concert To Conclude Monday Series

The final presentation in the Campus' Monday Evening Concert Series will feature Ronald Arnatt and the St. Louis Chamber Orchestra and Chorus in Stravinsky's masterpiece, "Les Noces" (The Wedding).

The concert will be held Monday, April 8 in the Campus auditorium, and will start at 8 p.m. As in all concerts in the Series admission will be free.

"Les Noces" consists of a huge cantata of almost unbroken singing for solos and for chorus. Although the vocal part of the composition was completed by 1917, Stravinsky worked six additional years to find a suitable accompaniment, finally choosing four pianos and a large body of percussion instruments.

The first concert in the Series was presented on October 22 and featured the Aristeia Ensemble, William Shatzkammer conducting. On December 17, the St. Louis Early Music Society under the direction of James Miller presented the second concert followed by William Maul's solo concert for the harpsichord.

According to Mr. Charles Armbruster, chairman of the committee for the Series, the concerts have been organized to "make our college into a complete university, to promote the culture of the community and to advocate the interests of its patrons."

SA Spring Dance Set for April 6

The Student Association's first dance of the winter semester will be held a week from tomorrow, April 6, in the Campus auditorium.

The auditorium will be transformed into a typical springtime scene corresponding to the theme of "April Showers."

Jerry Brooks, Social Committee Co-Chairman, emphasized that the dance will be semi-formal. Other members of the Social Committee are Ken Campbell, co-chairman, Anne Nolin, and Carl Doerr.

Tickets for the dance, which will last from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m., are 75 cents apiece. Refreshments will be served and music will be provided by the Af-Tones.

Tentative plans on the Social Committee agenda for the remainder of the semester include a dance and a picnic. The most important plans now being formulated are for the Inaugural Ball which is set for May 4.

Ebbinghaus, Stimson, Massa, Hudy Elected to SA Executive Offices

BILL EBBINGHAUS

A record turnout of 70% of St. Louis Campus voters elected Bill Ebbinghaus the Campus' next SA President in elections for Executive Offices held Wednesday, March 20. Jerry Stimson won the Vice-Presidential spot with Emily Massa and John Hudy emerging the winners in the races for Secretary and Treasurer.

Ebbinghaus, the Progressive Party's candidate, won the Presidency by defeating the United Campus' Larry Ryan 191 to 167. Stimson, an independent candidate, defeated Stan Shanker of the UC Party 187 to 144. Progressive candidates Massa and Hudy won from their United Campus rivals Pat Knarr and Jane Zeier by margins of 181--174 and 204--151. The new SA Executive Officers will be installed at the Campus' annual Inaugural Ball, May 4.

New Senate Votes Crests, Inspection, Dances, Tourney

Sixteen senators were elected to the Student Senate in a special reelection March 15. Results on the sophomore ballot are: Charles Armbruster, 78 votes; Jerry Brooks, 73; Ken Mares, 60; Carl Doerr, 55; George Douros, 42; Thomas Wharton, 41; Bill Ruzicka, 40; Gene Herman, 36.

Results on the Freshman ballot are: Alan Stein, 120 votes; Larry Ryan, 111; Bill Ebbinghaus, 85; Pat Knarr, 77; Emily Massa, 76; Anne Nolin, 71; Gary Markenson, 70; Ken Campbell, 57; Sandy Locke, 52; Janet Halcomb, 34; Michelle Hawkins, 32; Gwen Morrison, 22.

The reelections were madenecessary by the Student Court's decision on Friday, February 22, that the original voting (held February 15) was invalid. The court based its ruling on the fact that "procedures for voting were handled improperly. That is, the number of votes being changed from five to seven at the time the elections were in progress constituted a voting irregularity."

At the first meeting of the new Senate March 18, the Rules and Elections Committee was asked to inspect the entire constitution. An amendment was introduced by William Ebbinghaus to change Senate representation from an equal number per class to a percentage of each class.

After much debate about a motion made by Ken Mares, the Senators decided to give crests to the bowling team as well as to the basketball team, and appropriated up to $50.00 for this purpose. It was also decided to hold the tennis tournament during the second week in April.

The Senate then voted to sponsor a spring dance on Saturday night, April 6. $85.00 was appropriated to pay the Af-Tones, another $20.00 for decorations. The date for the Inaugural Ball, an annual occasion, was set for May 4. The Ball will have an Oriental theme.

Mike Lindhorst, President of the SA, then appointed the committee heads: Alan Stein, Rules and Elections; Bill Ebbinghaus, Employment; Jerry Brooks and Ken Campbell, Social; Stephanie Taylor, Office; Gene Herman, Intramurals; Don Grisser, Ways and Means.

The election drew 362 of a possible 521 voters to the polls--the largest turnout in the history of St. Louis Campus elections. Of the record-breaking total 118 were sophomores, 244 were freshmen. Receiving write-in votes in the balloting were Alan Stein, 24 for Vice-President and Ron Strathman, one for President.

Commenting on the election, the President-Elect attributed much of its success to the general assembly held the preceding Monday, which "Aroused the interest of the students and acquainted everyone with the platforms." He also directed words of praise to everyone concerned with his campaign and "Especially to Campaign Manager Jan Finazzo."

The Progressive Party ran on a three-point program--revision of the SA Constitution, establishment of an Advisory and Tutoring Service and implementation of more student participation in on-campus activities.

He went on to explain that the Advisory and Tutoring Service would attempt to help the student, especially first semester freshmen, adjust to college work. He said the Service would first advise the student to see the teacher directly concerned with his problem, after which it would make available literature relating to his difficulty.

In increasing student participation in on-campus activities Ebbinghaus plans to expand intramurals, establish faculty-student activities and encourage the use of existing facilities, with specific reference to the swimming pool and tennis courts.

Holding down the only non-Progressive Party position in the Executive Offices is independent Jerry Stimson. Stimson ran unaffiliated and his filing for the second spot in the SA precipitated a primary in which Alan Stein, Progressive candidate for the office, was eliminated, with Stimson and Shanker advancing to the general election.

Concerning his victory, Stimson had this to say: "Now that I have been elected, it is up to me to do what I said I was going to do." Stimson's platform contained five points: better student-government relationship, improved first semester Senate elections, more efficient administration of the book pool, an expanded intramural program and more emphasis on and recognition of the basketball team.

The Power of Assembly

With a fantastic 70% turnout in the Executive Elections, the fight for more participation from the Campus student body achieved its most conspicuous success. Now that this new height has been achieved, the question of whether or not it can be maintained naturally arises. For the answer to this question, we must look to the causes for our present success.

Obviously the student body itself deserves much credit, as does the extensive publicity which both parties gave themselves. But beyond this we feel that credit should also be given to the all-student assembly held the Monday before the elections, and here we must thank the Campus faculty for providing this time.

It was this assembly that proved to be the decisive factor in stimulating the interest of the students, for there they received sufficient knowledge in the event at hand to interest them in that event, and with that interest came a 70% turnout.

Thus, the elections should prove beyond question that these assemblies are the most powerful weapon now on the Campus for promoting student participation. And though none of the events remaining in this school year warrant another one, we feel that next year's plans cannot fail to include several such assemblies, and therefore that next year cannot fail to produce successes even more important than this one.

Of Meaningless Emblems

The St. Louis Campus student Senate reached a low point in its legislative history when, by a vote of 8 to 6 at its March 18 meeting, it decided to award monogrammed crests (see picture on page 4) to the bowling team as well as to the Campus basketball squad. It seems to us that in doing so the Senate has missed the point of such an award entirely, and we do not see how any rational re-examination of the situation can fail to result in the repeal of present plans.

In our view, an award of this kind will inevitably be regarded as a symbol of athletic excellence, and this is as it should be. Yet the Senate would award crests to students merely for representing the Campus. Let it be clear from the outset that we certainly do not begrudge the bowlers recognition, for they have indeed done a commendable job. Nevertheless, to equate the prestige of the two sports except on the professional level is absurd.

The whole argument almost seems too ludicrous to pursue, yet pursue it we must or a valuable opportunity to establish a meaningful tradition will perish. When the University assumes control of this campus, the form of such awards will probably be altered, but their meaning should never diminish. We now have the opportunity to establish that meaning, and the 11 members of the basketball squad are no less entitled to its fullness now than will be the players of 10, 20 or 100 years hence.

Therefore, give the bowlers recognition--perhaps in the form of special certificates for their representation of our school. But give the Cubs--winners of two championships in one season--the crests and the truly meaningful honor they deserve.

Of Word and Thought

On Disappointment In Father's Attitude

Fathers can be disappointing in many ways, but perhaps none is as shattering to the teenage boy as his father's lack of trust in the way he handles the family car. My father has disappointed me three ways in relation to the family car: he doesn't believe I go where I tell him, he constantly accuses me of mishandling the car, and he makes my life miserable when I ask to use the car for a date.

To my knowledge, I have never given my father any reason to believe that I lie to him. Yet he has gone so far as to take the mileage before I leave and confront me with the facts the following morning because he believed the distance I traveled was too great in relation to where I had said I was going.

When I leave the house in the evening, he wants a detailed account of where I am going, who is going with me and what time I'll be back. One time he asked me where I was going after a date, and I told him probably to the Steak 'N Shake. But that night I went to the Parkmoor just for a change of scenery, and Heaven didn't help me when he found a Parkmoor napkin in the back seat!

My dad blames not only the ordinary thing that can go wrong with a car on me, but also the unusual things if I am unfortunate enough to be driving at the time. An example of this would be the time the car overheated. As the motor got hotter and hotter, the water turned to steam, building up the pressure to such a point that all the hoses blew off. If the heat gauge had been working, my father would have had a valid criticism of my driving, but it wasn't. Our heat gauge would read cold if the motor were on fire.

And now the most disappointing aspect of my father's attitude. When a boy asks a girl for a date, he should ask her at least three days in advance, but how can I do this if I never know until the last minute if I may have the car? If I ask my father on a Monday for the car on the following Friday, he'll say, "I don't know, it depends."

I never really know for sure if I've got the car until I'm actually pulling away from the curb. When I ask a girl for a date, am I supposed to say, "Would you like to go out if I can get the car?"

So no matter how hard I try to prove myself a safe driver, he goes right on making life miserable for me when I need the car. The solution to my problem lies in getting my own car, but once again he has disappointed me by refusing to sign for it even though I would buy it myself. The only conclusion I have been able to draw is that my father is anti-teenage driver in general, and I happen to be in that category.

Campus Debators To Meet April 2

"Resolved: The United States Should Continue Aid to Satellite Countries," is the topic at the next meeting of the Debate Club, scheduled for April 2, at 3:00 in room 133. The speakers for the debate will be Tom Thompson, affirmative, and Jim Labitska, negative.

At the last meeting of the Club, March 5, the topic of debate was "Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished." Ronald Renetzky, speaking for the affirmative, cited cases in which innocent persons have been put to death and also statistics proving capital punishment's failure to deter crime.

Sharon Hutson, for the negative, based her arguments on the assertions that statistics used in studying the effectiveness of capital punishment were not taken from large cities, and that death is just punishment for premeditated murder.

The affirmative side was declared the winner. Tom Thompson acted as critic, Dave Esche acted as moderator. Dr. Josephine Fagan is the Club's faculty adviser.

Plans Underway For Campus Talent Show

A student show consisting of music, comedy acts, dancing and dramatic interpretations is now being organized by Mary Hildebrant.

The purpose of the show is two-fold: to give Campus students a chance to display their talents and to provide entertainment for the student body, faculty and their families.

Plans are now formulated for the presentation of the idea before the Campus student Senate. If the Senate grants its approval, a date will be set and a room acquired.

After this, an organizational meeting will be held to set up direction, production and staging for the show. Miss Hildebrant indicated that several masters of ceremonies will be chosen.

A petition has already been circulated for the purpose of determining how many students would be willing to support and attend such a show and how many would endeavor to perform. Of the latter group, Emily Massa, Jan Finazzo, Cookie Fitzgerald and Chris Weitkamp signed to do a comedy act.

Dan Hogan, Jim O'Shea and Gene Herman plan to do folk music while Phil Dean and Stephanie Taylor will play musical instruments. John Dudash plans a dramatic interpretation and Al Becker and Jerry Stimson, Emily Massa and John Hudy, newly elected Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer. Stimson ran as an independent candidate for his office, while Massa and Hudy were elected on the Progressive Party ticket. All three, along with President-Elect Bill Ebbinghaus, will take office May 4 at the Campus' annual Inaugural Ball.

Sharen Landis will re-enact the final scene of an avant garde play.

Marlon Craig and Tammy Borowitz both plan dance routines. Pete Gowms, Fred Buckles and Diane Baker are forming a singing group and John Hudy will do a comedy routine.

Commenting on the show, Miss Hildebrant said, "I hope to see as many students as possible participate so that it can be assured of success."

Daytime Series to Continue April 9 with Mr. Whealen

Mr. William Whealen will present the next program in the Daytime Lecture Series, "Some Notes On Traditional Jazz", Tuesday, April 9. The lecture, which is scheduled for room 108 at 12 noon, will be illustrated with records.

Mr. William Groth, Supervisor of Education at the St. Louis Science Museum, presented "Your Missouri", the fourth in the Daytime Lecture Series, last Monday, March 18. A film on the museum encompassed the main body of the lecture with supplementary comments by Mr. Groth. Included in the film were exhibits on "The Aircraft of Man, Some Parts and Systems of the Human Body, and The Invisible Woman." The lecture concluded with a question-answer period.

The museum, located in Oak Knoll Park in Clayton, is supported by the Academy of Science of St. Louis, a non-profit organization. Tours are conducted for elementary and high school classes and also for the general public, with special Saturday sessions for exceptional students.

The remaining programs in the series are:

MONDAY, APRIL 22: "Experiences in Japan" by Mr. Emery Turner

MONDAY, MAY 6: "Foundations of Modern Medical Organization: The Free Enterprise Phase" by Mr. Harold Eickhoff.

Lundy, Stevens Run with MPs

On Monday, March 18 WIL disc jockies Ron Lundy and Gary Stevens appeared at the St. Louis Campus on behalf of the MP Party. Lundy and Stevens visited the campus from 12:45 to 1:45.

After plans were made for their visit the WIL duo extensively plugged it on the station and urged students to vote in the upcoming executive elections.

The MP Party was formed by Mike Berusen, Gene Herman, Bill Craig and Howard Richmond to promote a better social life on Campus and to publicize the Campus to the people of the Greater St. Louis area.

Bowlers Pile Up 6 Wins, Third Place

The St. Louis Campus Bowlers swept a three game series from St. Louis Pharmacy team number 1 on Saturday, March 14, and won three from St. Louis University on a forfeit Saturday, March 23. The Campus Bowlers are now in third place with a record of 35 wins and 25 losses. With well over a month left to play, the team still has a chance for the number one spot in the Greater St. Louis College Bowling League.

The totals for the three game sweep against St. Louis Pharmacy team #1 were 1012-951, 1004-986, and 1023-945. Barry McClintock and Mike McCruden were high the first game with 197 and 204 respectively. The second game saw Jerry Brooks and Carl Doerr taking the honors with 210 and 195, while Keith Eilermann and Barry McClintock took the top spots in the third game with 193 and 182.

Last week, Saturday, March 23, the Campus Bowlers took a forfeit from St. Louis University, however the squad bowled anyway to keep up their averages. The team totals for that three game series were 994, 980, and 901. Carl Doerr was high the first game with a big 250. In the second game Brooks bowled a 205 to take the high spot and the third game was paced by Doerr with a 192.

When Doerr bowled his 250 first game of the three game series with St. Louis University, he set a record for single game high score for the Campus bowlers. The record previously had been held by Ken Kowalsky with a 241. Overall in the Greater St. Louis College Bowling League, Carl's 250 ranks fourth. When asked for a comment about his record, he said he most attributes it to constant practice.

Senate Gives Verdict - All Athletes to Receive Crests

The Student Senate voted at their March 18 meeting to award crests to members of both the bowling and basketball squads, and also to Bob Meyers, the St. Louis Campus basketball coach. The Senate was split on the question of whether the basketball team should be the sole recipients of the crests, or whether the bowlers should also receive the award.

Only two motions were presented regarding the question. The first, raised by sophomore Senator Ken Mares, proposed that "The crest be awarded only to the basketball team this year, leaving the question open for those receiving it in later years to future Senates." This measure was seconded by the Senate, but defeated by a vote of eight to six.

Freshman Senator Bill Ebbinghaus then proposed, as an alternative, that "Both the members of the bowling team and basketball team receive crests this year, leaving the question open for those receiving it in later years to future Senates." This proposal was also seconded, and passed by a margin of eight votes to six.

Mr. Ed Menges, a University City High School art teacher, was commissioned, at the suggestion of Ken Mares, to design the crest. The Senate appropriated $50 to Mares to cover the costs of designing and producing the crests. They will be made in New York City and will consist of a Missouri University insignia colored yellow and white.

Only two sophomore basketball players will receive crests, Larry Thoele and Steve Shaughnessay. Freshmen basketball players are: Charles Platipodis, Dave Willson, Joyn Sarantakis, Bill Ilsemann, Gary Clark, Bob Brooks, Jerry Wilson, Dennis Hansen and Jerry Stimson.

Bowlers who will be awarded crests are sophomores Carl Doerr, Jerry Brooks, Keith Eilermann and freshmen Mike Shepherd, Mike McCruden, Barry McClintock and Mike Bernsen.

Blanks for SA Tennis Tourney Now Available

Entry blanks for the SA's Spring Tennis Tournament are now available in the Student Association office or from Gene Herman, Larry Ryan and Bill Ruzicka. An entry fee of 50¢ will be charged for the men's and women's singles or $1.00 a couple for the mixed doubles. The tourney is now scheduled for the second week in April.

Tournament officials stated that it is important to fill out all the information requested on the blanks because scheduling of matches will be made from the entry blanks.

Gene Herman, newly appointed Intramural Committee chairman, plans to schedule some matches, if possible, in the early afternoon for those students who wish to play but work evenings and on Saturday.

With the money collected from the entry fee, the Senate decided to buy three trophies, one for each division. In addition, the Intramural Committee will purchase tennis balls for the matches.

Herman explained that new balls will not be used for every match due to the expense of balls. In the quarter- and semi-finals, however, the SA will supply new balls for each meet.
