Important Elections Feb. 14

A week from today, Friday, February 14, the Student Association will hold two elections which shall concern all St. Louis Campus students. These two elections are the second semester Senate election and the ratification of the proposed new constitution. All students are entitled to vote in both elections and Alan Stein, the acting rules and elections chairman of the Senate, encourages everyone to make use of this opportunity to exercise his power as a member of the SA.

This semester Senate elections will be carried on in a manner similar to past Senate elections. First, petitions for prospective candidates will be available in the SA office, room 127, from today through February 13. Candidates must return their petitions to the SA office by 12:00 p.m. Thursday, February 13. Each petition, in order to be valid, must contain at least ten signatures from students of the same class as the candidate. A student may sign no more than two petitions, and no student may sign a petition of a person from another class. After petitions are received, they will be sent to the office for grade point approval. Any petitioner whose cumulative average is below 2.0 will automatically be declared ineligible for election. The names of eligible candidates will then be placed on the ballot in the order in which the petitions were received in the SA office. On election day freshmen will vote only for freshman candidates and sophomores will vote only for sophomore candidates. The new Senators will take office immediately after the ballots are counted and the results are verified by the Student Court.

Besides the Senate elections all students will be asked to vote on whether or not they are in favor of the proposed new constitution.

In order to be ratified, the proposed constitution must receive favorable votes from at least two thirds of the students voting in the election. The new constitution contains several items that were not in the former one. Among these are provisions for Homecoming elections and rules governing Senate elections. There are also many revisions made on the former constitution, revisions which will not only correct flaws, but will also add detail to some of the vague points of the old constitution.

Enrollment Reaches New High On St. Louis Campus

Enrollment at the St. Louis Campus for the winter semester has increased nearly 15 percent since last semester. The enrollment of 184 new and former students during the two-day registration last month, coupled with the dismissal or dropout of a number of students has boosted attendance from 657 to over 750.

Asked whether this increase had taxed the school's facilities, an administration spokesman said it had definitely caused over-crowded facilities but that the increase was necessitated by the high number of qualified students who applied.

New Instructor

Mr. Richard Dulka, a new Spanish instructor at the St. Louis Campus, received his M.A. from St. Louis University and is presently working on his Doctorate also at St. Louis University.

Mr. Dulka teaches eight hours of Spanish, a Beginning Spanish class and three labs. The addition of Mr. Dulka to the Spanish Department makes it one of the largest departments on the St. Louis Campus with a total of four instructors.

Newman Club

The Newman Club has, this year, developed a completely new approach in the educational program. In each semester, Newman has divided its courses into three major categories or groups of classes, so that in a years time, six of these groups will be held. Each group of classes will concentrate on a particular problem of the day. This problem will be analyzed from three major attitudes, and the student is free to choose for himself whatever "attitude" in which he feels himself interested. The attitudes or approaches are: 1) theological, 2) philosophical, and 3) cultural-scientific. Each session will last four weeks; during this time classes will be held on the particular problem chosen for that four week session; the classes will be taught in three "attitudes." Then, at the end of the four week period, a general assembly will be held and the students will partake in a discussion and panel, so that the three "attitudes" can be broadened to include all. For this semester the choice of problems is: 1) Church-State relations; 2) Subjectivity in Theology, Philosophy and Science; 3) Ecumenism.

crowded condition can be seen in room 108 where, due to lack of seats, many students are forced to stand or sit on the floor while taking notes during lectures. Many classes are filled to capacity and the bookstore, cafeteria, lounge, and hallways are also over-crowded.

Staff Meeting Tuesday

A meeting for students interested in joining the TIGER CUB staff will be held Tuesday, February 11 at 3:00 p.m. in room 127. Covered at the meeting will be selection of staff positions, assignment of stories, and a short discussion of journalistic style.

The positions of art editor, sports editor, business manager, and reporters will be open to students with a 2.00 or better grade point average and first semester freshmen not on probation.

Students and staff members who cannot attend this meeting should notify Kathy Connally or Pat Knarr in room 127 after 12:00 p.m. today.

The Tiger Cubs matched Sanford-Brown's field goal attack of 31, but suffered from personal foul trouble and poor foul shooting. Sanford-Brown staged a second half rally which erased the Cubs' 10 point halftime advantage.

Washington University's Junior Varsity downed the Tiger Cubs, 89-70, December 16 in a non-league contest at the Washington University Field House.

The teams battled on even terms throughout the second half, as the Cubs began to slash the Boys' Club's slim lead. The Black and Gold cagers pulled within two points of the lead with 17 seconds to play, but lost the ball and with it their last opportunity for victory. The Boys' Club then moved down the court to score at the final buzzer.

The Tiger Cubs evened their league record at one victory and one defeat by edging the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, 73-68, January 7 at Normandy Junior High. The win snapped a six game St. Louis Campus losing streak.

The game was a tightly contested struggle throughout, with the largest lead being a seven point advantage by the Cubs early in the first half. The Black and Gold cagers held a 37-31 halftime lead on the strength of Dave Willson's 19 first period markers.

In the second half, the Pharmacy team fought back to tie the score at 45 all, and the lead changed hands several times before Charlie Platipodis fired in a jump shot which broke a 59-59 deadlock and put Coach Bob Meyers' Cubs ahead to stay. Two clutch free throws by Frank Kraft with 15 seconds to play halted the Pharmacy squad's final rally.

Dave Willson paced the winners' attack with 28 points, while Rich Malter and Charlie Platipodis gathered 15 and 13 markers respectively.
