ELECTIVE CREDITS (12)

There are three ways a student can package their 12 credits of electives:

- 1) Individualize
- 2) Area of Emphasis
- 3) Certificate (may require additional credit hours)

OPTION #1: CHOOSE TO INDIVIDUALIZE

Students interested in working with a particular population (children, older adults, LGBT population, etc.) or issue (e.g., addiction, homelessness, juvenile justice, etc.) have the option to individualize their 12 credits of electives. To individualize, students meet with their advisor to develop a plan and then choose 12 elective credits that best meet their academic or career interests from the social work electives listed below or choose electives from other units on campus. (Students should discuss rationale for taking electives outside of the School of Social Work with their advisors to ensure the choice fits with career goals.)

Note: There may be a semester when a course does not fill or has to be canceled for a variety of reasons, so always refer to the Course Schedule in MyView for official offerings.

OPTION #2: CHOOSE AN AREA OF EMPHASIS

Students who know they want to work in a health and behavioral health or school setting often “package” electives to underscore their commitment to these areas or (as in the case with school social work) to meet some of the standard state certification requirements. Students who choose the Health and Behavioral Health Area of Emphasis must complete at least one graduate concentration practicum (300 clock hours) in a health and behavioral health setting. Students who choose the School Social Work Area of Emphasis must complete their two semesters of concentration practicum in a public school setting over a fall/spring academic year.

Note: Each of the Areas of Emphasis has a specific policy course requirement depending on the student’s concentration.

Health and Behavioral Health (12 credit hours)

(This Area of Emphasis requires SW6443 Healthcare Policy in Family Practice Concentration or SW6443 as an elective in the Leadership & Social Change Concentration.)

OPTION #3: CHOOSE A CERTIFICATE

In addition to selecting one of the two concentrations, students may also choose to complete a certificate in a related area such as Gender Studies, Non-Profit Management and Leadership, or Violence and Injury Prevention to supplement their MSW. By partnering with other academic units, MSW students are able to complete certificate requirements within the structure of the MSW curriculum requirements. (No additional courses are necessary.) A complete listing of certificate programs and requirements can be found at http://www.umsl.edu/bulletin/degree_programs.html.

Gender Studies

Gender Studies is a field of interdisciplinary study devoted to gender identity and gendered representation as central categories of analysis. Course work is interdisciplinary, developed in cooperation with departments from across the curriculum. MSW students interested in obtaining a Gender Studies Certificate will be able to count some of their core concentration courses toward the certificate and must take specific electives identified by the Gender Studies program. MSW practicum can be used for the Gender Studies capstone. For more information call (314) 516-5265, email Kathleen Nigro, PhD, at nigrok@umsl.edu, or go to www.umsl.edu/~genderstudies.

Nonprofit Management & Leadership (NPML)

The NPML certificate is well-suited for MSW students considering a career in the nonprofit sector or who are currently employed as nonprofit staff but looking to advance in the field. Coursework prepares students for the increasingly complex nonprofit sector. UMSL's NPML program is the only one in the region that has full membership in the Nonprofit Academic Centers Council, which has developed industry-recognized guidelines for education in the field. MSW students interested in obtaining the NPML certificate will be able to count some of their core concentration courses toward the certificate and must take 9 additional electives. For more information call (314) 516-5145 or go to www.umsl.edu/npml.

Center for Violence and Injury Prevention at Washington University (CVIP)

As a trans-disciplinary program, the CVIP Certificate Program offers you the opportunity to broaden your perspective on violence and injury prevention. In addition to the curriculum requirements, CVIP MSW students have access to bibliographies in all four topical areas (Young Families, Youth, Violence Against Women, and American Indian/Alaska Native Studies) and the social system design lab. Students will also have the opportunity to participate in the Center events, lectures, and trainings. Most of the required CVIP courses are common to degrees and practicum opportunities at both UMSL and Washington University so UMSL students must take these courses at UMSL (when available). For more information call (314) 935-8129 or email bcvip@wustl.edu.

Students who plan to earn a Graduate Certificate in Gerontology, Non-Profit Management and Leadership, Gender Studies or Violence and Injury Prevention, must make an appointment with the Coordinator of the certificate program as soon as possible to enroll and receive applicable advising.
