The US Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates the number of Transportation and Logistics related jobs will increase by double digits and industry research has identified there will not be enough qualified talent to meet demand.

The Center for Transportation Studies program is designed to prepare students who possess the right combination of tactical/operational expertise and professional competencies such as leadership and analytical skills as well as an understanding of the historical, current and future role of transportation in society, industry, security and globalization. Classes are available both online and face-to-face. Students may choose from courses that include Transportation Management, Global Trade Management, Transportation and the Supply Chain, Transportation Management Systems and Risk Management concepts of safety, security, cyber security, emergency preparedness and business continuity. St. Louis is a national hub for Transportation, and CTS partners with firms including Cass Bank, Emerson, Unyson, FedEx Freight, Hub Group, BJC, ABB, Boeing, Nestle and many others.

UMSL Business
The College of Business Administration at the University of Missouri–St. Louis is proud to be accredited for both business and accounting by AACSB, a dual accreditation earned by fewer than 2% of business schools worldwide. Our programs are dynamic, evolving to meet the ever-changing needs of the global market.

Our faculty are recognized for research impact in their fields, but they are not only scholars. They are mentors, passionate about what they do, offering support through informal conversations, career events, seminars, workshops, and more. Our internship program helps students secure diverse work experiences with a variety of employers, from Fortune 500 firms to small local businesses. UMSL Business is invested in the success of every student.

About 150 local executives serve on UMSL Business advisory boards to provide insight on current trends, mentorships, internships, and job placement. This means that our students receive up to date education and graduate with skills relevant to their job search. Of graduates who responded to a 2015 survey conducted by UMSL Career Services, 100% of accounting and 92.5% of all UMSL Business undergraduate alumni had a job or were pursuing a graduate degree within 6 months of graduation.

UMSL at a glance
The University of Missouri–St. Louis is the largest public research university located in Missouri’s most populous and economically important region. Founded in 1963, we enroll nearly 17,000 students, and we’re home to more than 1,400 faculty members.

UMSL offers 45 undergraduate, 30 master’s and 15 doctoral degree programs with more than 190 major emphasis areas.

And we partner with more than 400 companies and organizations for our internship programs. You’ll get out of the classroom, gain practical experience, make connections and jump-start your career.

St. Louis:
Something for everyone
UMSL is a vital part of St. Louis, and the city and surrounding areas make up the most culturally vibrant region in Missouri. That means we offer you more than a top-ranked learning environment.

There’s a night out with friends on Washington Avenue. An exhibit opening at the Saint Louis Art Museum. A Saturday afternoon at the Saint Louis Zoo. A home-run celebration at Busch Stadium.

St. Louis is a place where you can be you.
